Martin Luther King in the African American Preaching Tradition Valentino Lassiter,2010-06-01 Valentino Lassiter has cast spiritual breads upon the waters with this compelling comparison of the historic tradition of African American preaching and the overwhelming spiritual preaching of Martin Luther King Jr. Martin Luther King in the African American Preaching Tradition details preaching by slave preachers to present day preachers. More importantly it shows how King's sermon content was cut from the same loaf as those preachers who preached justice and God's assurance in the 1600s. Lassiter has written a book that will be an important resource for pastors, seminarians and those who are interested in the never ending fascination with dynamic African American preaching.

Peoples Temple and Black Religion in America Rebecca Moore, Anthony B. Pinn, Mary R. Sawyer, 2004-03-11 The Peoples Temple movement ended on November 18, 1978 in their utopianist community of Jonestown, Guyana, when more than 900 members died, most of whom took their own lives. Only a handful lived to tell their story. Little has been written about the Peoples Temple in the context of black religion in America. Twenty five years after the tragedy of Jonestown, scholars from various disciplines assess the impact of the Peoples Temple on the black religious experience.

Preaching with Sacred Fire: An Anthology of African American Sermons, 1750 to the Present Martha Simmons, Frank A. Thomas, 2010-08-16 One hundred sermons that display the victorious although sometimes painful historical and spiritual pilgrimage of black people in America. A groundbreaking anthology, Preaching with Sacred Fire is a unique and powerful work. It captures the stunning diversity of the cultural and historical legacy of African American preaching more than three hundred years in the making. Each sermon as editors Martha Simmons and Frank A. Thomas reveal is a work of art and a lesson in unmatched rhetoric. The journey through this anthology which includes selections from Jarena Lee, Frederick Douglass, Malcolm X, Martin Luther King Jr., Gardner C. Taylor, Vashti McKenzie and many others, offers a rare view of the unheralded role of the African American preacher in American history. The collection provides new insights into the underpinnings of the black fight for emancipation and the rise and growth of the Civil Rights and Black Power movements. Sermons from the first decade of the twenty first century point toward the future of African American preaching. Biographies of the preachers put their work in the cultural and homiletic context of their periods. The preachers of these sermons are men and women from a range of faiths, ancestries and educational backgrounds. They draw on a vast and luminous landscape of poetic language using metaphor, rhythm and imagery to communicate with their congregations. What they all have in common is hope, resilience and sacred fire. Even during the most difficult and oppressive times, Simmons and Thomas write in the preface, the delivery, creativity, charisma, expressivity, fervor, forcefulness, passion, persuasiveness, poise, power, rhetoric, spirit, style and vision of black preaching gave and gives hope to a community under siege. This magnificent work beautifully renders the complexity, spiritual richness and strength of African American life.

The Afro-Blues Tradition Kwame Copeland, 2006-08 The Blues was born from praise songs, poetry, metaphorical tales and folk traditions of the Africans as they became Americans. The Afro Blues sprouted up wherever the African landed in this hemisphere The tradition mixed with existing cultures but retained its uniqueness Part of its uniqueness was its use of percussive tones and its use of mythological references in its idiom and artistic rituals As a historical tradition it was so receptive and creative that its classical roots evolved into the 21st Century At this time of moral and spiritual crises I fall back on my inheritance where meditative prose and poetry are used to reflect the moment from emotive reasoning John Coltrane and Mongo Santamaria both claimed the song Afro Blue Yet This song reflects where the tradition had traveled since Coltrane was an African American and Santamaria was an African Cuban This great stream of maternal traditions has given much to the world and in these times of great transition its glorious well should be dipped in more often If just to

Fire Beverly Guy-Sheftall, 1995 An anthology of African American Feminist thought The Search for Wholeness and Diaspora Literacy in Contemporary African American Literature Silvia Castro-Borrego, 2011-05-25 This volume has as a cohesive argument the exploration of the different manifestations of the search for wholeness and spirituality in the writings of contemporary African American women writers covering different literary genres such as fiction both novels and short stories drama and poetry Together with the issue of spirituality the African American search for wholeness is analyzed as a source of creativity and agency As expressed in the contemporary literature of black women writers starting in the 1980s the search for wholeness reflects a beauty realized through the healing of the spirit and the body and is a process that takes on dimensions of reconciling the past and the present the mythical and the real the spiritual and the physical all in the context of an emerging world view that welcomes synthesis and expects both synthesis and generative contradictions The book will be a valuable collection for scholars of African American literature comparative American Ethnic literature American literature and spirituality as well as women s studies In addition it will be an important text for both undergraduate and graduate students in those fields As Professor Johnnella Butler 2006 points out the African American search for wholeness is tightly linked to the search for freedom and agency Ever since the 19th century African American writers have given expression to an African American self which functions in Western civilization simultaneously as a colonized other and an assertive self Due to the continuous ordeal of the African Diaspora this self is caught in between the binaries proposed by the material and the spiritual world seeking a balance where the person can become whole The search for wholeness feeds from cultural roots that imply the presence of ancestral spiritualism rememory and double consciousness Contemporary black women writers reflect the metaphor of building spiritual bridges seeking the possibilities of building a bridge to the archetypal African past that is carried in their memories as a presence that offers sustenance via spiritual reconnection Their works seek to bridge the gap between the myths and traditions of the past and contemporary African American culture The texts included in this collection are examples of writing as an exercise of what V v Clark calls Diaspora literacy The texts written by contemporary African American women writers explicitly show how to recognize and read the cultural signs left scattered along the road of progress In this way material acquisition is achieved along with cultural dispossession becoming a metaphor for the history of the African in America The powerful message is that one should not exclude the other

Preaching Justice James M. Childs, Jr., 2000-03-01 The principal concern of this book is not complex theoretical discussions of justice so common to the discipline of ethics but how working for justice fits into the church s mission and especially into its preaching An opening chapter sets forth a biblical and theological basis for the conviction that justice is at the heart of the church s mission and witness Then follows a chapter on preaching that distinguishes between merely moralizing about justice and genuinely preaching it The remaining chapters in the book speak of preaching justice in dialogue with current contextual realities such as 1 the racism of our American context 2 the church s pentecostal heritage of communicating in and through all cultures 3 the fact that much of the injustice in our society is a by product of greed in its individual and enculturated manifestations and 4 the need to deal appropriately and faithfully with the multicultural context of today A concluding chapter brings the preacher back into the context of the church and its gospel foundations that is the source of preaching justice and walking together with the people of God in quest of it James M Childs is the Joseph A Sittler Professor of Theology and Ethics and Academic Dean at Trinity Lutheran Seminary Columbus Ohio He is the author of Faith Formation and Decision Ethics in the Community of Promise 1991 and Ethics in Business Faith at Work 1995 For Clergy seminarians homiletics ethicists peace and justice readerships students of mission and modern culture Wings of Gauze Barbara Bair, Susan E.
