Economic Research On The Determinants Of Immigration Lessons For The European Union:

Economic Research on the Determinants of Immigration George J. Borjas, 1999-01-01 This publication summarizes some of the key research findings from current literature and applies the lessons from it to the potential migration problem faced by countries in the EU Its main objective is to present a review of existing economic theory and empirical evidence to evaluate the likelihood of migration flows from acceding or neighboring countries toward the current EU member states This publication is a Technical Paper sponsored by the Poverty Reduction and Economic Management Network of the World Bank's Europe and Central Asia Division It is part of a comprehensive series regarding the many important factors that influence European Union EU accession in the Central and East European countries CEEC The topics in the series cover both the social and economic aspects of accession across a broad range of sectors The series also provides background information for specific acceding countries These publications will be of interest to EU member and candidate countries their ministries and any one studying the accession issue

Czech Republic, 1999-01-01 At the end of 1995 the Czech Republic was regarded as the clearest success story in the region It had one of the lowest rates of inflation and the lowest rates of unemployment The high GDP growth rate looked sustainable as it was accompanied by a moderate current account deficit balanced fiscal account and seemed to be underpinned by important structural reform The Czech Republic was perceived until 1996 as the most successful transition economy in Central and Eastern Europe CEE The Czech Republic seems to be the clearest success story in the region However the Czech miracle came to a halt in May 1997 Its future economic development and successful integration into the European Union EU depends critically on its capacity to recover a sustainable output growth path To assist the country in achieving its primary goal to join the European Union EU in the shortest period of time this report analyzes economic developments in the Czech Republic since 1997 It focuses on assessing the status of the Czech Republic's economy from the perspective of its pursuit for EU membership The report is composed of two volumes The first volume is the summary report that condenses main findings and conclusions The second volume is the main report It provides the assessment and technical study of selected key sectors of the Czech economy The EU accession process dominates the sector analyses which are outlined in each chapter
