Economic Reviews Uzbekistan 1994:

Challenges for Russian Economic Reform Alan Smith, 2010-12-01 The transition to a market economy proves to be far more difficult in Russia than in the former centrally planned economies of eastern Europe The Russian economy continues to face serious problems including substantial inflationary pressures falling output and capital flight The most positive aspect of the transition has been the relatively fast pace of privatization Challenges for Russian Economic Reform contains papers published by the post Soviet Business Forum at the Royal Institute of International Affairs that have been revised for this volume The contributors specialists in Russian economic affairs examine the principal economic and institutional factors that have hindered transformation in Russia The sheer size of the country has complicated the problem of exposing domestic producers to foreign competition and has weakened the ability of central authorities to control the regions Economic stabilization has been hampered by the difficulties in establishing sound economic relations with the former Soviet republics David Dyker and Michael Barrow analyze the problems of monopoly and competition policy in Russia Philip Hanson assesses the obstacles to economic stabilization posed by regional economic interests and examines regional diversity in reform implementation Michael Kaser examines the problems of privatization by regions and sectors in Russia and the CIS and the institutional obstacles encountered by foreign investors Alan Smith explores the problems created by the breakup of traditional trade and payment relations with the non Russian republics of the former Soviet Union and bilateral trade links with Eastern Europe He also provides an overall assessment of Russian economic performance since the collapse of communism Economic Review, 19?? Poverty, Income Distribution and Well-Being in Asia During the Transition Lu Aiguo, Manuel F. Montes, 2002-05-22 The Asian road to the market has generally been seen as a model of success and the object of widespread admiration This volume evaluates the actual experience and debunks some of the most widespread myths It does so by identifying the link between alternative transition models public policies and household responses on the one hand and key welfare changes on the other Even in countries experiencing sustained growth there have been unmistakable signs of deep social strain Research Activities of the IMF, January 1991-December 1998 International Monetary Fund, 1999-09-24 A selective index of major research papers prepared by IMF staff in 1991 98 Ukraine--review of Farm Restructuring Experiences Zvi Lerman, Csaba Csáki, 2000-01-01 Restructuring has produced a definite favorable impact on labor relations and workers behavior in the reorganized farms Managers of reorganized farm enterprises give a much more positive assessment of the behavioral patterns of their workers than managers of non reorganized farms Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Ukraine is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique feature of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Farm surveys have been conducted by the World Bank in many countries of the CIS Russia Ukraine Moldova Armenia Georgia Turkmenistan Belarus and Central and Eastern Europe Poland Romania Bulgaria Hungary Albania Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank's recommendation much more credible and relevant The new findings for Ukraine will similarly provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country's government and supply the many international donors active on the local scene with essential information for the design of their strategic programs IMF Macroeconomic Research on Low-Income Countries International Monetary Fund,2004-01-30 Summarizes the forward looking analytical work program on macroeconomic issues related to the Poverty Reduction Strategy Paper approach The program is evolving through a process that began with a technical workshop participants from low income countries donors academia and civil society drafted guidance on selected issues and identified priority research topics Partners policymakers and economic scholars are encouraged to share their perspectives and findings through respective team leaders whose e mail addresses are provided The publication also summarizes IMF analytical work and contains a bibliography of nearly 1 000 papers The Rebirth of Uzbekistan Resul Yalcin,2002 This title examines Uzbekistan's development since the break up of the Soviet Union its social political and economic orientation in the modern world and its role as a bridge between East and West North and South Research Activities of the IMF, January 1991-December 1999 International Monetary Fund,2000-01-01 Research activity in the IMF emphasizes the links between the organization's policy and operational concerns The main objectives of research is IMF staff understanding of policy and operational issues relevant to the institution and to improve the analytical quality of the work prepared for management and the Executive Board and the advice provided to member countries The scope of research in the IMF is defined by the purposes and functions of the institution In order to foster innovation and ensure quality control the IMF makes much of its research available outside the institution and encourages staff to interact with academia and other research organizations through conferences seminars and occasional joint research projects The visiting scholar's program has also enhanced the quality of research done in the IMF This program brings in leading members of the economics profession from around the world to assist in the preparation of papers for the Executive Board and to conduct research on IMF related issues Economic Review International Monetary Fund Staff,1994-01-01 Farm Sector Restructuring in Belarus Csaba Csáki,Zvi Lerman,Sergey Sotnikov,2000 Agriculture remains the main source of employment and livelihood for the large rural population of many transition countries especially among the former Soviet republics Accordingly the World Bank continuously monitors the progress of land reform and farm restructuring in the region because of the potential impact of these processes on rural development and poverty alleviation in rural areas The present study on Belarus is the latest addition to a long and growing series of World Bank publications on land reform and farm restructuring in the former socialist countries of Europe and Central Asia The unique features of all these publications is their reliance on first hand empirical information collected through extensive farm surveys of various rural constituencies Analysis of survey findings enables the World Bank to base its policy dialogue with governments in the region on solid empirical facts making the Bank's recommendations more credible and relevant The survey findings in this volume will provide a platform for useful policy discussions with this country's government and supply international donors that are active there with essential information to design their strategic programs

The Central Asian States Gregory W Gleason,2018-10-08 This book traces the incorporation of Central Asia into the Soviet system the region's path of development under socialism and the vicissitudes of the economic and political collapse of socialism before considering the trajectories of the new states as they chart their independent futures

Central Asia, Security, and Strategic Imperatives Tabassum Firdous,2002 The present study offers an assessment of security concerns in Central Asia after the collapse of Soviet Union in 1991 It deals with the transition period for the five Central Asian States from the communist system to a democratic and pluralistic one Essentially the focus of the writer is on bilateral multilateral and international commitments of these States to ensure peace and security in the region The withdrawal of nuclear warheads from Kazakhstan collective security formula bilateral agreements and the role of the big powers all make an interesting study The author has discussed these concerns in the context of the stance of neighbouring States vis a vis Central Asia Economic interests also figure wherever necessary This work is highly useful to those who would like to concentrate on any aspect of history in Central Asia and adjoining regions in the post Soviet period

Ukrainian Economic Review ,1995

China: A Guide to Economic and Political Developments Ian Jeffries,2007-01-24 There is currently widespread interest in the Chinese economy due to its huge and rapid growth and the consequent impact on world business and the world economy At the same time there are concerns about China's political system China's human rights record and the degree to which reform the development of socialism with Chinese characteristics represent real liberalization Providing an overview of earlier events in order to set the context in which economic and political development have taken place the book traces economic and political growth in China from the early 1990s to the present Covering Hong Kong Macao Tibet and Taiwan the book discusses China's relations including international trade with its neighbours and with the international community more widely Other key topics covered include the growth of the market the reform of state owned enterprises human rights and SARS

Economics of Land Degradation and Improvement - A Global Assessment for Sustainable Development Ephraim Nkonya,Alisher Mirzabaev,Joachim von Braun,2015-11-11 This volume deals with land degradation which is occurring in almost all terrestrial biomes and agro ecologies in both low and high income countries and is stretching to about 30% of the total global land area About three billion people reside in these degraded lands However the impact of land degradation is especially severe on livelihoods of the poor who heavily depend on natural resources The annual global cost of land degradation due to land use and cover change LUCC and lower cropland and rangeland productivity is estimated to be about 300 billion USD Sub Saharan Africa SSA accounts for the largest share 22% of the total global cost of land degradation Only about 38% of the cost of land degradation due to LUCC which accounts for 78% of the US 300 billion loss is borne by land users and the remaining share 62% is borne by consumers of ecosystem services off the farm The results in this volume indicate that reversing land degradation trends makes both economic sense and has multiple social and environmental benefits On average one US dollar investment into restoration of degraded land returns five US dollars The findings of the country case studies call for increased investments into the rehabilitation and restoration of degraded lands including through such institutional and policy measures as strengthening community participation for sustainable land management enhancing government effectiveness and rule of law improving access to markets and rural services and securing land tenure The assessment in this volume has been conducted at a time when there is an elevated interest in private land investments and when global efforts to achieve sustainable development objectives have intensified In this regard the results of this volume can contribute significantly to the ongoing policy debate and efforts to design strategies for achieving sustainable development goals and related efforts to address land degradation and halt biodiversity loss Trade Liberalisation:

Impact On Growth And Trade In Developing Countries Ashok Parikh, 2007-06-04 This is one of few books on the quantitative assessment of trade liberalisation and its impact on micro and macro economics structure in developing countries Addressing the prospects of economic growth at a macro level gives a thorough analysis of various issues such as profitability of enterprises after liberalisation structural change imports and exports by sectors and regions and the trade balances of developing countries The aspects of terms of trade and the trade balances in African Latin American and Asian economies are studied using econometric techniques Farm Debt in the CIS Csaba Csáki, Zvi Lerman, Serge?

Sotnikov, 2001-01-01 This study presents the results of the multi country study for farm debt in five Commonwealth of Independent States CIS countries Belarus Kazakhstan Moldova Russia and the Ukraine It offers a comparative analysis of the level and composition of farm debt in these countries and reviews the major reasons for farm debt accumulation in the 1990s

Islam in Russia Shireen Hunter, Jeffrey L. Thomas, Alexander Melikishvili, 2004-05-03 Traces the shared history of Russia and Islam in expanding compass from the Tatar civilization within the Russian heartland to the conquered territories of the Caucasus and Central Asia to the larger geopolitical and security context of contemporary Russia on the civilizational divide The study stresses political and geopolitical relationships Democracy, Market Economics, and Development Farrukh Iqbal, Jong-Il You, 2001-01-01 Democracy Market Economics and Development evaluates the extent to which democracy is necessary to the achievement of sustainable development in Asia A selection of papers by distinguished contributors including Amartya Sen Joseph Stiglitz and Francis Fukuyama are included in this volume This book argues that democracy and markets are complementary and that democracy is intrinsic to development It contends that liberal and participatory democracy encourages development by providing legitimacy to reform efforts Movement toward liberal and participatory democracy allows for the convergence of the political and economic institutions of Asia and the West There is broad agreement that effective and sustainable development is multi faceted and is not only based on changes in per capita income
