WASHINGTON — The cloud of uncertainty that has hung over the U.S. economy for the past five months began to dissipate last week when multinational forces attacked Iraq.

For better or worse, U.S. leaders and business executives can now make long-term plans. The main aim of these plans is to avoid a recession, which would mean a sharp drop in demand for goods and services.

The focus, along with the real threat of an oil price hike, has been on an already weak U.S. economy and tipped it into a recession.

Spending

Agence France Presse
PARIS — The government of England, Robert Leigh, has called on the French to restrain their spending to avoid the risk of a recession in the world economy.

Germany, it is feared, is going to see a sharp increase in inflation, which would be a major problem for the world economy.
