Saskatchewan Environment and Resource Management, 1998 This book describes the ecoregions of Saskatchewan following a hierarchical framework for terrestrial ecosystems in Canada The introduction reviews ecological land classification and the various interrelated factors that are involved in the development of ecosystems geology water climate vegetation soils wildlife and human impacts The main section describes the province within the context of the four ecozones and 11 ecoregions that were identified in the framework For each ecoregion the book provides a description of the physical setting such as geology climate as well as the biological features that have developed in response to this physical environment The impact of human activities on the ecology of the area concludes each of these descriptions Appendices include lists of animal plant species found in Saskatchewan and a glossary Ecological Classification of Saskatchewan's Mid-boreal Ecoregions Using Resource Maps and Aerial Photographs John David Beckingham, Ian George William Corns, V. A. Futoransky, Northern Forestry Centre (Canada), 1999 This guide has been developed to provide insight in applying ecological information to classify and map forest land in mid boreal Saskatchewan It begins with an overview of the province's ecological classification system and a review of the five types of information sources of ecological information It then describes the four steps used to determine the ecosite phase level of a site from aerial photographs and associated sources Section 5 contains keys to identifying the ecosite phase through the interpretation of resource information Section 6 provides five examples of typical toposequences found in mid boreal regions of Saskatchewan Each example includes an aerial photo stereogram of the selected area an example transect a forest inventory and soil survey maps of the area and interpreted landscape profile and summary tables The final sections include references and a glossary Appendices include lists of ecological units and soil types information on the ecology identification of tree species and soil classification information Ecoregions of Saskatchewan Canada. Aber, 2012-08-24 Wetlands swamp marsh bayou tundra and bog are places that are rarely visited and often misunderstood but they have in fact conspicuous roles in the physical biological and cultural geography of the world They are intrinsically beautiful environments where one may see the natural and essential values in the interaction of water soil vegetation wildlife and humans Wetlands occur at the confluence of unique terrestrial hydrological and climatic conditions that give rise to some of the most biodiverse regions of the world They also play vital roles in the cycling and storage of key nutrients materials and energy through the Earth's system A complete study of wetland environments requires the assessment of their physical and biological attributes properties and functions of these ecosystems and the economic political and social aspects that mediate their use globally A systems approach is taken throughout this book which emphasizes the interactions between these elements of wetland ecosystems Moreover selected case studies from across the world are used to illustrate wetland characteristics and circumstances This book is intended to foster a greater awareness and appreciation of wetlands promote a culture of conservation and wise management and spread the knowledge that wetlands are important indeed crucial elements of the global environment Our attempts to understand manage and enhance wetlands in the twenty first century are part of the larger effort to maintain a sustainable Earth Readership Introductory or intermediate level undergraduates taking courses on wetland environments Additional resources for this book can be found at www.wiley.com/go/aberwetland
