This collection seizes the opportunity of this unique moment to unpack the context, difficulties, opportunities and merits to enhance the status of environmental and social rights, health, housing, education and social security in a country's constitution. Learning from Chilean and international experiences from the Global South and North and drawing on the analysis of both academics and practitioners, the book provides rigorous answers to the fundamental questions raised by the construction of a new constitutional bill of rights that embraces climate and social justice. With an international and comparative perspective, chapters look at issues such as political economy, the judicial enforceability of social rights, implications of the privatisation of public services and the importance of active participation of most vulnerable groups in a constitutional drafting process. Ahead of the referendum on a new constitution for Chile in the second half of 2022, this collection is timely and relevant and will have direct impact on how best to legislate effectively for social rights in Chile and beyond. Comparative

Christina M. Cerna, 2016-12-05. Over the past sixty years, the regional human rights systems have surpassed the UN human rights bodies in affording protection to the victims of human rights violations. Most of these systems have courts that are empowered to issue legally binding judgments and reparations for violations of human rights, which states have been unwilling to accord the UN system. The essays selected for this volume examine the structure and functioning of the principal regional human rights systems in the world today: 1 the Inter American Commission and Court of Human Rights, 2 the European Court of Human Rights, 3 the African Commission and Court of Human and Peoples Rights, and 4 the ASEAN Intergovernmental Human Rights Commission. These systems guarantee primarily civil and political rights. Central to all four systems is the necessity of a democratic form of government to guarantee these rights, although not all governments parties to these regional treaties are democracies. These articles trace the history of these systems, in particular the expansion of their membership to include almost all independent countries in the region and their evolution towards recognition of a right to democracy. Equality and Non-discrimination
