Economy In Transition A System Of Models:

Economies in Transition Gerhard Gehrig, Władysław Welfe, 1993 Economies in Transition Gerhard Gehrig, Wladyslaw Welfe, 1993 It has been quite a challenge for econometricians to model economies in transition There is no textbook at hand to master that task Economic theory cannot be applied without adaptations to the characteristic change of a whole economic system Regression analysis taking into account past economic development only is of limited use for the econometrician Having econometric models at hand would be very helpful for an active economic policy to guide the transition process Various scenarios representing strategies could be simulated in their consequences to the economy The best alternative in respect to the government's objectives could be chosen This very situation has born the idea of co operation between Łódź and Frankfurt in 1990 There are problems of this kind in Poland and in Germany The German situation is somewhat better than that of Poland as a relatively small centrally planned economy is being united with a substantial social market economy taking over a lot of the burden of the former mismanagement Thus it might be possible to share the experience in modelling the united Germany and preparing forecasts with the Polish model builders In addition it would be profitable for both model establishing teams to link their models in order to improve the forecasting potential Moreover the Polish partner has a broad national and international experience in econometric model building which makes co operation smooth and fruitful His experience in modelling countries with a centrally planned economy would also help to master the transition problems

Economic Development and the Division of Labor Xiaokai Yang, Jeffrey D. Sachs, 2008-04-15 This innovative new text from Jeffrey Sachs and Xiokai Yang introduces students to development economics from the perspectives of inframarginal analysis and marginal analysis The book demonstrates how the new found emphasis on inframarginal analysis has influenced a shift back to an interest in Classical Economics from Neoclassical Economics. Inframarginal Analysis vs Marginal Analysis is presented as a consistent theoretical framework throughout. Shows how the relationship of Inframarginal Analysis to Marginal Analysis has influenced the shift back to an interest in Classical Economics from Neoclassical Economics with regard to economic development. Allows economists to reduce their overall reliance on marginal analysis which may be less relevant to development economics than it is to the economics of development countries. Brings considerable analytic machinery to bear on important problems. A focus on institutions and transaction costs that is very relevant to development economics. Offers a thorough analysis of trade CHs 3, 7 and macroeconomics CHs 16, 19 both of which are not dealt with in depth by comparable textbooks.

Сборник статей I межвузовской студенческой научно-практической конференции «Unbalanced Global Economy And Rising Risks» Сборник статей, 2016-06-30 Unbalanced Global Economy and Rising Risks Complex Systems Modeling and Simulation in Economics and Finance Shu-Heng Chen, Ying-Fang Kao, Ragupathy Venkatachalam, Ye-Rong Du, 2018-11-20 This title brings together frontier research on complex economic systems heterogeneous interacting agents bounded rationality and nonlinear dynamics in economics. The book contains the proceedings of the CEF2015 21st Computing in Economics and Finance held 20-22 June 2015 in Taipei Taiwan and addresses some of the important driving forces for various emergent properties in economies when viewed as complex systems. The breakthroughs reported in this book are a result of an interdisciplinary approach and simulation remains the unifying theme for these papers as they deal with a wide range of topics in economics. The text is a valuable addition to the efforts in promoting the complex systems view in economic science. The computational experiments reported in the book are both transparent and replicable. Complex System Modeling and Simulation in Economics and Finance is useful for graduate courses of complex systems with particular focus on economics and finance. At the same time it serves as a good overview for researchers who are interested in the topic.

100% Renewable Energy Transition Claudia Kemfert, Christian Breyer, Pao-Yu Oei, 2020-01-23 Energy markets are already undergoing considerable transitions to accommodate new renewable energy forms new decentral energy players and new system requirements e.g. flexibility and resilience. Traditional energy markets for fossil fuels are therefore under pressure while not yet mature renewable energy markets are emerging. As a consequence investments in large scale and capital intensive traditional energy production projects are surrounded by high uncertainty and are difficult to hedge by private entities. Traditional energy production companies are transforming into energy service suppliers and companies aggregating numerous potential market players are emerging while regulation and system management are playing an increasing role. To address these increasing uncertainties and complexities economic analysis forecasting modeling and investment assessment require fresh approaches and views Novel research is thus required to simulate multiple actor interplays and idiosyncratic behavior The required approaches cannot deal only with energy supply but need to include active demand and cover systemic aspects Energy market transitions challenge policy making Market coordination failure the removal of barriers hindering restructuring and the combination of market signals with command and control policy measures are some of the new aims of policies The aim of this Special Issue is to collect research papers that address the above issues using novel methods from any adequate perspective including economic analysis modeling of systems behavioral forecasting and policy assessment The issue will include but is not be limited to Local control schemes and algorithms for distributed generation systems Centralized and decentralized sustainable energy management strategies Communication architectures protocols and properties of practical applications Topologies of distributed generation systems improving flexibility efficiency and power quality Practical issues in the control design and implementation of distributed generation systems Energy transition studies for optimized pathway options aiming for high levels of sustainability
