Fighting Youth Crime:

Fighting Youth Crime Alfred Choi, Tit Wing Lo, 2002 This is a comparative study of delinquency and government measures to combat it based on the Singapore and Hong Kong experiences. It features several case studies and offers strategies to deal with the issue. By minimizing the theories and statistical analysis, the book is designed to appeal to the wider market of policy makers, government departments, youth organizations, probation and correctional officers, social workers, and teachers.

Fighting Youth Crime Alfred Choi, Tit Wing Lo, 2004 This book is a comparative study of delinquency and the government measures devised to counter it in Singapore and Hong Kong, the two little dragons in Asia. It looks at the causes of youth crime and examines the strategies for effective handling of the problem. This cross-cultural analysis of the two little dragons' social backgrounds, delinquency rates, and government programs addressing the issue is a result of the authors' strong enthusiasm for the subject and their intense work in compiling and analyzing the data for their respective societies. The book also will appeal to a broad spectrum of readers with its insightful case studies of youths who descend into delinquency and crime, balanced by analyses of theories and statistical data. This second edition contains an update of facts, statistical figures, and terminology, as well as a new foreword and preface.

Responding to Youth Crime in Hong Kong Michael Adorjan, Wing Hong Chui, 2014-03-21 A society's response to youth crime reveals much about its broader cultural values, social circumstances, and political affairs. This book examines reactions and policy responses to youth delinquency and crime in Hong Kong during its colonial and post-colonial periods and, in doing so, underscores the history of Hong Kong itself and its present-day circumstances. Exploring how officials have responded to youth crime in Hong Kong over time, this book tracks the emergence of a penal elitist mode of governance, highlighting concerns not only about young people's behavior but the need for officials to establish state authority and promote citizen identification. In turn, it reveals an alternative to the usual story about youth crime found in many western regions and provides an opportunity to begin to develop a comparative criminology. The book examines the emergence of the disciplinary welfare tariff during the 1970s, debates and policy changes related to the minimum age of criminal responsibility and youth sex crimes, and inaction regarding the introduction of restorative justice initiatives in the post-colonial era. It also addresses the power of Post-80s youth to protest and challenge government policies which directly combat contemporary fears regarding the mainlandization of Hong Kong. Drawing on archival sources, official reports, and interviews with key stakeholders in the juvenile justice system, Responding to Youth Crime in Hong Kong will appeal to students and scholars interested in Chinese society, criminology, social work, sociology, and youth studies.

Changing Narratives of Youth Crime Bernd Dollinger, 2019-07-02 In recent years, western societies have experienced a fundamental transformation in the way crime is understood and dealt with. Against the backdrop of a current great interest in narratives in criminology, this book draws on a narrative perspective to explore this transformation. Drawing on data from Germany, the book focuses on changing narratives of youth crime in recent decades and the exact narratives that have been used abandoned invented or criticized in order to instil particular understandings of crime and measures to act against it The author draws upon a wide range of sources including debates on youth crime in six parliaments from 1970 to 2012 articles on youth crime in four police and six social work journals from 1970 to 2009 and case studies with 15 young defendants who were interviewed before and after their trial and whose trial was observed In doing so the author reconstructs narratives over several decades and overall reveals a fascinating and multifaceted scope of narratives of youth crime This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of youth crime and justice as well as criminology sociology politics and social work more broadly

The New Politics of Youth Crime J. Pitts, 2000-07-31 The New Politics of Youth Crime argues that the centrality of law and order to the New Labour project has generated a youth justice strategy which threatens to deepen the problems it purports to solve Analysing the profound changes in UK youth crime in the 1980s this book posits the French Social Prevention Initiative of the 1980s as an alternative model for a genuinely joined up social democratic response to the increasingly complex problem of youth crime in Europe

The Changing Borders of Juvenile Justice Jeffrey Fagan, Franklin E. Zimring, 2000-09 Since the 1960s recurring cycles of political activism over youth crime have motivated efforts to remove adolescents from the juvenile court Periodic surges of crime youth violence in the 1970s the spread of gangs in the 1980s and more recently epidemic gun violence and drug related crime have spurred laws and policies aimed at narrowing the reach of the juvenile court Despite declining juvenile crime rates every state in the country has increased the number of youths tried and punished as adults Research in this area has not kept pace with these legislative developments There has never been a detailed sociolegal analytic book devoted to this topic In this important collection researchers discuss policy substantive procedural and empirical dimensions of waivers and where the boundaries of the courts lie Part 1 provides an overview of the origins and development of law and contemporary policy on the jurisdiction of adolescents Part 2 examines the effects of jurisdictional shifts Part 3 offers valuable insight into the developmental and psychological aspects of current and future reforms Contributors Donna Bishop Richard Bonnie M A Bortner Elizabeth Cauffman Linda Frost Clausel Robert O Dawson Jeffrey Fagan Barry Feld Charles Frazier Thomas Grisso Darnell Hawkins James C Howell Akiva Liberman Richard Redding Simon Singer Laurence Steinberg David Tanenhaus Marjorie Zatz and Franklin E Zimring
