Figures In A Bygone Landscape:

Figures in a Bygone Landscape Don Haworth, 1986 Workers' Worlds Andrew Davies, 1992 Manchester and Salford have a special place in the history of the British working class They lay at the heart of the cotton industry the spark of the industrial revolution and as a consequence were among the first places to experience the application of steam power and the factory system to production As a result the Manchester Salford conurbation was the first to see a fully formed industrial working class Whilst industrialization went through its heroic phase the two cities seemed to be blazing a trail not only for the rest of the country but for the world During the first half of the 19th century social observers came from across Europe to see what they supposed to be their future Manchester was in Asa Briggs s influential phrase the shock city of the age The city demonstrated the ability of science to control nature this was why in 1843 Benjamin Disraeli described Manchester as the modern Athens However as Alexis de Tocqueville had noted eight years earlier there was another side to increasing productivity The Lore of the Playground Steve Roud, 2010-10-31 From conkers to marbles from British Bulldog to tag not forgetting one potato two potato and eeny meeny miny mo The Lore of the Playground looks at the games children have enjoyed the rhymes they have chanted and the rituals and traditions they have observed over the past hundred years and more Each generation it emerges has had its own favourites hoops and tops in the 1930s clapping games more recently Some pastimes such as skipping have proved remarkably resilient their complicated rules carefully handed down from one class to the next Many are now the stuff of distant memory And some traditions have proved to be strongly regional loved by children in one part of the country unknown to those elsewhere All are brilliantly and meticulously recorded by Steve Roud who has drawn on interviews with hundreds of people aged from 8 to 80 to create a fascinating picture of all our childhoods Being boys Melanie Tebbutt, 2017-10-03 This original and fresh approach to the emotions of adolescence focuses on the leisure lives of working class boys and young men in the inter war years Being Boys challenges many stereotypes about their behaviour It offers new perspectives on familiar and important themes in interwar social and cultural history ranging from the cinema and mass consumption to boys clubs personal advice pages street cultures dancing sexuality mobility and the body It draws on many autobiographies and personal accounts and is particularly distinctive in offering an unusual insight into working class adolescence through the teenage diaries of the author s father which are interwoven with the book s broader analysis of contemporary leisure developments Being Boys will be of interest to scholars and students across the humanities and social sciences and is also relevant to those teaching and studying in the fields of child development education and youth and community studies Films and British National Identity Jeffrey Richards, 1997-09-15 This book seeks to examine the ways in which the cinema has defined mythified and disseminated British national identity during the course of the twentieth century It takes the form of a series of linked essays which examine chronologically thematically and by specific case studies of films stars and genres the complexities and ambiguities in the process of evolution and definition of the national identity It argues for the creation of a distinctive British national identity both in cinema and the wider culture But it also assesses the creation of alternative identities both ethnic and regional and examines the interaction of cinema and other cultural forms music literature and television Bright Morning Don Haworth,2013-03-31 A sequel to Figures in a Bygone Landscape which traced the author s childhood in the 1920s this volume recaptures the world of the 1930s in Lancashire Don Haworth recalls the Depression school life holidays in Blackpool religion and politics in the pre World War II years Lancashire Cotton Operatives and Work, 1900-1950 Alan Fowler,2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2003 The cotton industry was one of the major motors that powered Britain s industrial development from the mid eighteenth century contributing in no small way to the revolution that was to transform Europe over the next hundred years The combination of technological developments colonial exploits and social transformation that all came together in the Lancashire cotton industry provided a perfect example of how the new world would function its priorities and its ambitions Into this fast moving and fluid situation were thrust the men women and children who formed the vast pool of labour necessary to keep the spindles and looms running It is their experiences above all that illuminates the history of the cotton industry and how it came to change the face of Britain through the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries In this study Alan Fowler takes an in depth look at the Lancashire cotton industry through the prism of its workers their families and organisations He argues that by 1850 the triumph of the factory system was complete and the factory operative a mainstay of a transformed society based on a new economic order With this increasingly important role in the new economy came opportunities which cotton workers were not slow to grasp Crucial to the history of the Lancashire cotton operatives were the collective organisations they established which forced employers and government to treat with them By the beginning of the twentieth century these organisations had managed to raise wages improve working conditions reduce working hours establish the right to holidays and force the introduction of factory legislation This book explores how these victories were won and the impact they had on the industry and wider society The Car and British Society Sean O'Connell,1998 The car was first introduced into British society over one hundred years ago Sean O Connell s study of the social impact of the car offers a radical new way of looking at the history of motoring Frontier Figures Beth E. Levy,2012-04-18 Frontier Figures is a tour de force exploration of how the American West both as physical space and inspiration animated American music Examining the work of such composers as Aaron Copland Roy Harris Virgil Thomson Charles Wakefield Cadman and Arthur Farwell Beth E Levy addresses questions of regionalism race and representation as well as changing relationships to the natural world to highlight the intersections between classical music and the diverse worlds of Indians pioneers and cowboys Levy draws from an array of genres to show how different brands of western Americana were absorbed into American culture by way of sheet music radio lecture recitals the concert hall and film Frontier Figures is a comprehensive illumination of what the West meant and still means to composers living and writing long after the close of the frontier Contemporary Authors New Revision John

Love in a Time of Slaughters Susan McHugh, 2019-04-29 Love in a Time of Slaughters examines a diverse array of contemporary creative narratives in which genocide and extinction blur species lines in order to show how such stories can promote the preservation of biological and cultural diversity in a time of man made threats to species survival From indigenous novels and Japanese anime to art installations and truth commission reports Susan McHugh analyzes source material from a variety of regions and cultures to highlight cases where traditional knowledge works in tandem with modern ways of thinking about human animal relations In contrast to success stories of such relationships the narratives McHugh highlights show the vulnerabilities of affective bonds as well as the kinds of loss shared when interspecific relationships are annihilated In this thoughtful critique McHugh explores the potential of these narratives to become a more powerful urgent strategy of resistance to the forces that work to dehumanize people eradicate animals and threaten biodiversity As we unevenly contribute to the sixth great extinction this timely compelling study sheds light on what constitutes an effective response from a humanities focused interdisciplinary perspective McHugh s work will appeal to scholars working at the crossroads of human animal studies literature and visual culture as well as artists and activists who are interested in the intersections of animal politics with genocide and indigeneity
