Figuring Anthropology David Hurst Thomas, 1976 Archaeological Method and Theory Linda Ellis, 2003-12-16 This Encyclopedia brings together the most recent scientific information on a collection of subjects that are too often and inconveniently treated in separate publications It provides a survey of archaeological method and theory as well as the application of physical and biological sciences in archaeological research Every aspect of archaeological work is represented from the discovery process to the ultimate disposition of materials Thus the reader will find entries on subject matter covering disciplinary theory legislation affecting the work of archaeologists pre excavation surveying excavation methodology on site conservation techniques post excavation analysis The rapid evolution of analytical technology is often superficially treated or not covered at all in textbooks or other commonly available sources Here the latest refinements in techniques such as radiometric dating stable isotopic analysis and the PCR technique of DNA analysis are presented clearly and authoritatively The discussion of these techniques is amplified by including results of the work of professionals conducting interdisciplinary research and by covering the methodological enhancements provided by the physical and natural sciences Cultural property legislation regardless of its country of origin has affected how archaeologists conduct their work This encyclopedia covers all major U S legislation developed for the protection of cultural property including the recent Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act and offers a substantial article on worldwide legislation concerning the reburial of human remains and its effects on the present and future practice of archaeology Without some sort of conservation program at the point of excavation valuable materials may be inadvertently contaminated or destroyed Many simple and low cost techniques to promote both sample integrity and long term preservation for major classes of materials are described in this volume Traditional treatments of method and theory usually focus on prehistoric periods and are limited in their geographic range This volume includes discussions based on various historical periods on different continents as reflected in entries such as Historical Archaeology Industrial Archaeology Medieval Archaeology and Classical Archaeology

Measurement, Design, and Analysis Elazar J. Pedhazur, Liora Pedhazur Schmelkin, 2013-04-15 In textbooks and courses in statistics substantive and measurement issues are rarely if at all considered Similarly textbooks and courses in measurement virtually ignore design and analytic questions and research design textbooks and courses pay little attention to analytic and measurement issues This fragmentary approach fosters a lack of appreciation of the interrelations and interdependencies among the various aspects of the research endeavor Pedhazur and Schmelkin's goal is to help readers become proficient in these aspects of research and their interrelationships and to use that information in a more integrated manner The authors offer extensive commentaries on inputs and outputs of computer programs in the context of the topics presented Both the organization of the book and the style of presentation allow for much flexibility in choice sequence and degree of sophistication with which topics are dealt Defining and Measuring Diversity in Archaeology Metin I.

Eren, Briggs Buchanan, 2022-07-18 Calculating the diversity of biological or cultural classes is a fundamental way of describing analyzing and understanding the world around us Understanding archaeological diversity is key to understanding human culture in the past Archaeologists have long experienced a tenuous relationship with statistics however the regular integration of diversity measures and concepts into archaeological practice is becoming increasingly important This volume includes chapters that cover a wide range of archaeological applications of diversity measures Featuring studies of archaeological diversity ranging from the data driven to the theoretical from the Paleolithic to the Historic periods authors illustrate the range of data sets to which diversity measures can be applied as well as offer new methods to examine archaeological diversity Quantifying the Present and Predicting the Past William James Judge, Lynne Sebastian, 1988

The Architecture and Material Culture of 29SJ1360, Chaco Canyon, New Mexico Peter J. McKenna, 1984 Handbook of Archaeological Methods Herbert D. G. Maschner, Christopher Chippindale, 2005 The Handbook of Archaeological Methods comprises 37 articles by leading archaeologists on the key methods used by archaeologists in the field in analysis in theory building and in managing cultural resources The book is destined to become the key reference work for archaeologists and their advanced students on contemporary archaeological methods Diachronic Variability in Obsidian Procurement Patterns in Northeastern California and Southcentral Oregon Richard E. Hughes, Richard Edward Hughes, 1986-01-01 A History of Archaeological Thought Bruce G. Trigger, 1989 Bruce Trigger's new book is the first ever to examine the history of archaeology from medieval times to the present in world wide perspective At once stimulating and even handed it places the development of archaeological thought and theory throughout within a broad social and intellectual framework The successive but interacting trends apparent in archaeological thought are defined and the author seeks to determine the extent to which these trends were a reflection of the personal and collective interests of archaeologists as these relate in the West at least to the fluctuating fortunes of the middle classes While subjective influences have been powerful Professor Trigger argues that the gradual accumulation of archaeological data has exercised a growing constraint on interpretation In turn this has increased the objectivity of archaeological research and enhanced its value for understanding the entire span of human history and the human condition in general The Outlier Survey Robert P. Powers, William B. Gillespie, Stephen H. Lekson, 1983 Archaeological Investigations in the Watauga Reservoir, Carter and Johnson Counties, Tennessee C. Clifford Boyd (Jr.), 1986 The Chumash World at European Contact Lynn H. Gamble, 2011-08-22 The Chumash World at European Contact is a major achievement that will be required reading and a fundamental reference in a variety of disciplines for years to come Thomas C Blackburn editor of December's Child A Book of Chumash Oral Narratives An extremely valuable synthesis of the historical ethnographic and archaeological record of one of the most remarkable populations of Native Californians Glenn J Farris Senior Archaeologist California State Parks Department Consumer Choice in Historical Archaeology S.M. SpencerWood, 1987-06-30 Historical archaeology has made great strides during the last two decades Early archaeological reports were dominated by descriptions of features and artifacts while research on artifacts was concentrated on studies of topology technology and chronology Site reports from the 1960s and 1970s commonly expressed faith in the potential artifacts had for aiding in the identifying socioeconomic status differences and for understanding the relationships between the social classes in terms of their material culture An emphasis was placed on the presence or absence of porcelain or teaware as an indication of social status These were typical features in site reports written just a few years ago During this same period advances were being made in the study of food bone as archaeologists moved away from bone counts to minimal animal counts and then on to the costs of various cuts of meat Within the last five years our ability to address questions of the relationship between material culture and socioeconomic status has greatly expanded The essays in this volume present efforts toward measuring expenditure and consumption patterns represented by commonly recovered artifacts and food bone These patterns of consumption are examined in conjunction with evidence from documentary sources that provide information on occupations wealth levels and ethnic affiliations of those that did the consuming One of the refreshing aspects of these papers is that the authors are not afraid of documents and their use of them is not limited to a role of confirmation

Guila Naquitz Kent V Flannery, 2021-08-11 This volume reports on the excavation of Guil Naquitz cave in Oaxaca a site that provides important evidence for the earliest plant domestication in the New World Stratigraphic studies examinations of artifactual and botanical remains simulations and an imaginative reconstruction make this a model project of processual archaeology

Case Studies in Archaeological Predictive Modelling Philip Verhagen, 2007 Dutch archaeology has experienced profound changes in recent years This has led to an increasing use of archaeological predictive modelling a technique that uses information about the location of known early human settlements to predict where additional settlements may have been located Case Studies in Archaeological Predictive Modelling is the product of a decade of work by Philip Verhagen as a specialist in geographical information systems at RAAP Archeologisch Adviesbureau BV one of the leading organizations in the field the case studies presented here provide an overview of the field and point to potential future areas of research

Calvert Site Peter Andrew Timmins, 1997-01-01 Located in the Thames River valley of southwestern Ontario the Calvert site encompasses a variety of structures including houses palisade walls pits hearths and artifacts This inquiry reveals an orderly evolution in its occupation history and sheds new light on the earliest period of ancient Iroquoian history Published in English

Attorneys General of the United States, 1789-1985, 1985 The Foxie Otter Site Christopher C. Hanks, 1988-01-01 In this volume the author reports on the excavation and interpretation of the Foxie Otter Site a large archaeological site on Fox Lake in Ontario Canada This site which was used by native people for about 7 000 years contains one of the longest archaeological records in the Upper Great Lakes

Graphing Culture Change in North American Archaeology R. Lee Lyman, 2021 North American archaeologists have grappled with finding a graph that effectively and efficiently displays culture change over time This volume explores the history of graphing culture change and brings graph theory construction and decipherment to the forefront of archaeological discussion Anthropological Research Pertti J. Peltto, Gretel H.
