Figuring Redemption Resighting My Self In The Art Of Michael Snow:

Figuring Redemption Tila L. Kellman, 2006-01-01 Can visual art help redeem one's sense of self damaged by technological society Michael Snow's work is often described as self-referential meaning that it talks about the relationships between its materials and images largely ignoring relationships beyond the frame However since the work also encompasses the way in which the interior relationship of the work intersects with sight and how they together create the frame the work also must include the people looking at it This book explores how the visual art practice of Michael Snow asks the question Who of the viewers as they interpret what lies before them Much criticism of Snow objectively analyzes the material interrelationships in his work ignoring viewer participation and implicitly giving the artist control of the view However what if the who is addressed from the perspective of the viewer who is looking across a gap created by concrete representation time place experience and perhaps gender How then can it remain objective Following on writers such as Martin Heidegger Walter Benjamin Paul Ricoeur Jacques Derrida and Mikkel Borch Jacobsen Figuring Redemption questions the proposal that the contemporary sense of self is fallen as a result of modern technology but can be redeemed in some part by certain kinds of visual art Original in its positioning of interpretive and critical writing on the side of an embodied viewer this book rejuvenates Snow criticism by going beyond discussions of materials and operation or of loss and distancing due to mediation By alternating personal performance writing with objective analysis the text participates in the destabilizing process of questioning self-recognition that Snow's practice initiates

Figuring redemption Tila Landon Kellman, 2002 Michael Snow Martha Langford, 2014 Michael Snow James King, 2019-10-12 An all-encompassing view of the life and work of one of Canada's greatest living artists Michael Snow is rightly recognized as one of the greatest Canadian artists In a productive lengthy career he has in a wide variety of genres and media asked and often answered some of the most vexing and important questions in the history of art During his lifetime the notion of what constitutes a work of art has undergone many changes and his work has consistently been at the forefront of that discussion Michael Snow Lives and Works examines all aspects of the artist's work and provides a guide to understanding its subtleties and complexities The book also charts the life of Snow his early years as a student and artist in Toronto his stay in New York City his turbulent marriage to Joyce Wieland his reputation as a lady's man and his adventures in movie making and improvised music In many ways Snow is the visual artist as intellectual his images are vibrant and compelling but so are the ideas behind them Ultimately his work is about perception What do we really see when we look at a work of art What is the act of looking all about What exactly is a work of art Michael Snow Lives and Works is a personal and intimate portrait of an artist who has helped shaped the face of Canadian art in our time

Vertov, Snow, Farocki David Tomas, 2015-02-26 Vertov Snow Farocki Machine Vision and the Posthuman begins with a comprehensive and original anthropological analysis of Vertov's film The Man With a Movie Camera Tomas then explores the film's various aspects and contributions to media history and practice through detailed discussions of selected case studies The first concerns the way Snow's La Région Centrale and De La extension extend and/or develop important theoretical and technical aspects of Vertov's original film in particular those aspects that have made the film so important in the history of cinema The linkage between Vertov's film and the works discussed in the case studies also serve to illustrate the historical and theoretical significance of a comparative approach of this kind and illustrate the pertinence of adopting a relational approach to the history of media and its contemporary practice an approach that is no longer focused exclusively on the technical question of the new in contemporary media practices but in contrast situates a work and measures its originality in historical intermedia and ultimately political terms

Ethics of Contemporary Art Theo

Reeves-Everson, 2020-11-26 What happens when the shock of artistic transgression wears off when scandal dissipates when outrage becomes a tired routine In this original new book Theo Reeves-Everson argues that transgressive art no longer succeeds on its own terms in societies where language prohibition and morality have become increasingly malleable This compels us to rethink the relationship between contemporary art and ethics and focus our attention on the potential of artworks to propose new values rather than simply challenge pre-existing moral codes Assembling a novel theoretical framework from the writings of Félix Guattari Jacques Lacan and others Ethics of Contemporary Art narrates a journey away from transgression towards a new critical paradigm for the relationship between ethics and aesthetics that places questions of subjectivity centre stage Along the way artworks by Kader Attia Artur Zmijewski Dora García and others serve as springboards launching discussions of the varied pathways along which a renewed ethics of contemporary art might develop

Variable Conditions Adam Lauder, 2023-11-15 Variable Conditions recovers and explores early Canadian encounters between computational media and contemporary art in the late twentieth century charting a network of developments linking meteorology computation and the arts that arose long before the age of cloud computing Essays uncover the material conditions that shaped the emergence of computational arts in Canada from projects executed by mainframe to digital paintings and analog synthesizer performances A surprising number of institutional circumstances granted access to early computer hardware government nuclear and hydroelectric infrastructure agencies as diverse as the National Film Board and the National Research Council and a myriad of university settings across the country and creative conditions varied from benign administrative neglect to the artistic exploration of randomness or a distinct emphasis on thematizing transformation as a motor for graphic visualization and auditory exploration Interviews featuring leading artists give first-hand insight into artistic practices and the historical moment in which they occurred The book provides valuable new perspectives on computer art pioneers such as Leslie Mezei Robert Adrian X Suzanne Duquet Roger Vilder and Vera Frenkel as well as new contexts for understanding Michael Snow and IAIN BAXTER Not limiting their explorations to art generated using computers contributors outline the integration of computational techniques and concepts into artistic methods across disciplines and trace computation's emergence as a matter of interest and concern for a range of contemporary cultural producers

Combining historical analyses with theoretical approaches to computation and its entanglement with contemporary cultural discourses and social movements Variable Conditions excavates the origins of computational arts and in the process sketches a new landscape of interdisciplinary creation and surprising connections between scientific and artistic institutions
