Fiji Michael C. Howard, 2011-11-01 In 1987 first in May and again in September Fiji which had often been regarded as a model for racial co existence surprised the rest of the world by staging not one but two coups Most interpreters of the Fijian political scene saw the events as a result of tension between native Fijians and members of other ethnic groups Michael Howard argues in this book that this interpretation is simplistic Instead he points out the May coup was a strike against democratic government by elements associated with Fiji's traditional oligarchy seeking to hide behind a mask of populist communalism Howard traces the evolution of Fijian politics from the precolonial chiefdoms through the colonial era and into the postcolonial period emphasizing the developments during the latter half of the 1980s As a close and involved observer he draws a convincing picture of the leading actors in contemporary Fijian politics and the motives guiding their actions He describes how the ruling elite the Fijian chiefly families and their allies has maintained its power by manipulating communal or racially based sentiments and how the opposition has attempted to change the situation by creating political alignments based on social class In the central part of the book Howard chronicles the rise of the Fiji Labour Party and its 1987 election victory over the ruling Alliance Party He then discusses the short lived regime of the Bavadra government and the events leading up to the May 1987 coup Finally he looks at events following the coup as the oligarchy has sought to reimpose control in the face of popular opposition and internal division discussing their implications for the social condition of Fiji its international politics and its internal ethnic relations The book concludes with the death of Timoci Bavadra in late 1989 A perceptive case study of racial politics in the modern world and a significant new approach to the understanding of the dynamics of a non western political system Fiji Race and Politics in an Island State provides a timely and comprehensive analysis of recent events in this important island state communities It encompasses islands at very different stages in the development process identifying valuable common lessons and providing insights into the developmental issues particular to islands With case studies drawn from the Caribbean the Mediterranean and the Pacific the book examines the position of islands as ecologically and economically vulnerable places

The General's Goose Robbie Robertson, 2017-08-25 His admirers said he was a charismatic leader with a dazzling smile a commoner following an ancient tradition of warrior service on behalf of an indigenous people who feared marginalisation at the hands of ungrateful immigrants One tourist pleaded with him to stage a coup in her backyard in private parties around the capital Suva infatuated women whispered coup me baby in his presence It was so easy to overlook the enormity of what he had done in planning and implementing Fiji's first military coup to be seduced by celebrity captivated by the excitement of the moment and plead its inevitability as the final eruption of long simmering indigenous discontent A generation would pass before the consequences of the actions of Fiji's strongman of 1987 Sitiveni Rabuka would be fully appreciated but by then the die had been well and truly cast The major general did not live happily ever after No nirvana followed the assertion of indigenous rights If anything misadventure became his country's most enduring contemporary trait This is Fiji's very human story

Contested Terrain Steven Ratuva, 2019-09-10 Contested Terrain provides a cutting edge comprehensive and innovative approach to critically analysing the multidimensional and contested nature of security narratives justified by different ideological political cultural and economic rationales This is important in a complex and ever changing situation involving a dynamic interplay between local regional and global factors Security narratives are constructed in multiple ways and are used to frame our responses to the challenges and threats to our sense of safety wellbeing identity and survival but how the narratives are constructed is a matter of intellectual and political contestation Using three case studies from the Pacific Fiji Tonga and Solomon Islands Contested Terrain shows the different security challenges facing each country which result from their unique historical political and socio cultural circumstances Contrary to the view that the Pacific is a generic entity with common security issues this book argues for more localised and nuanced approaches to security framing and analysis

My God, My Land Jacqueline Ryle, 2016-12-05 Examining the multifaceted nature of Christianity in Fiji My God My Land reveals the deeply complex and often paradoxical dynamics and tensions between processes of change and continuity as they unfold in representations and practices of Christianity and tradition in people's everyday lives The book draws on extensive multi sited fieldwork in different denominations to explore how shared values and cultural belonging are employed to strengthen relations As such My God My Land will be of interest to anthropologists of Oceania as well as scholars and students researching into social and cultural change ritual religion Christianity enculturation and contextual theology

In Oceania Nicholas Thomas, 1997 Australian scholar Nicholas Thomas documents and analyzes rhetorical artifacts of explorers missionaries fiction and travel writers and the people of the Pacific themselves to demonstrate how Oceanic identities have been represented over time The picture Thomas paints of Oceania shows that interactions between indigenous cultures and European influences created entirely new Oceanic identities 62 illustrations
