Film Horror And The Body Fantastic:

Film, Horror, and the Body Fantastic Linda Badley, 1995-11-20 This fascinating study relates horror film to recent interpretations of the body and the self drawing from feminist film theory psychoanalytic theory cultural criticism and gender studies Applying the term horror broadly this work includes discussions of black comedy thrillers science fiction and slasher films Central to this book is the view of horror as a modern iconography and discourse of the body Badley's thought provoking analysis of films by directors Tim Burton Tobe Hooper George Romero Ridley Scott Brian De Palma David Lynch David Cronenberg Jonathan Demme and Clive Barker will be of interest to both scholars and students

Writing Horror and the Body Linda Badley, 1996-06-18 In this sequel to Film Horror and the Body Fantastic Badley examines horror fiction as a fantastic genre in which images of the body and the self are articulated and modified Badley places horror fiction in its cultural context drawing important connections to theories of gender and sexuality As our culture places increasing importance on body image horror fiction has provided a language for imagining the self in new ways often as ungendered transformed or re generated Focusing on the works of Stephen King Clive Barker and Anne Rice Badley approaches horror as a discourse that articulates the anxieties of our culture

The Undead and Theology Kim Paffenroth, John W. Morehead, 2012-09-21 The academy and pop culture alike recognize the great symbolic and teaching value of the undead whether vampires zombies or other undead or living dead creatures This has been explored variously from critiques of consumerism and racism through explorations of gender and sexuality to consideration of the breakdown of the nuclear family Most academic examinations of the undead have been undertaken from the perspectives of philosophy and political theory but another important avenue of exploration comes through theology Through the vampire the zombie the Golem and Cenobites contributors address a variety of theological issues by way of critical reflection on the divine and the sacred in popular culture through film television graphic novels and literature

Christianity and Horror Cinema Bryan P. Stone, 2025-06-25 Christianity and Horror Cinema explores ways that Christian beliefs spiritualities practices and symbols provide the religious and existential depths out of which the monsters of Western horror cinema have emerged arguing that they are in several respects the monsters for which Christians are responsible Horror cinema preys on Christianity's narrative moral cultural and aesthetic traditions reverses them upends them inverts them and offends them But it also reflects and relies on them The book focuses on seven subgenres in the cinema of horror ghosts witches the demonic or Satanic vampires nature horror zombies and psychological horror Each chapter traces the history of that subgenre taking up a theological analysis of ways that horror cinema capitalizes on ambiguities contradictions anxieties and tensions in Christianity for example its treatment of the body nature sexuality women or those it deems pagan or religiously other The author examines a variety of films that are important for thinking about the relationship of Christianity to horror cinema The book will be of interest to scholars of religion theology and film studies

Roman Catholicism in Fantastic Film Regina

Hansen,2011-08-31 The intersection of religious practice and theatricality has long been a subject of interest to scholars This collection of twenty two critical essays addresses the relationship between Roman Catholicism and films of the fantastic which includes the genres of fantasy horror science fiction and the supernatural The collection covers a range of North American and European films from Dracula and other vampire movies to Miracle at Fatima The Exorcist Danny Boyle s Millions The Others Maurice Pialat s Sous le Soleil de Satan the movies of Terry Gilliam and George Romero s zombie series Collectively these essays reveal the durability and thematic versatility of what the authors term the Catholic fantastic

Encountering the Impossible Alexander Sergeant,2021-08-01 2022 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title Shortlisted for the 2022 Best First Monograph Award presented by the British Association of Film Television and Screen Studies Hollywood fantasy cinema is responsible for some of the most lucrative franchises produced over the past two decades yet it remains difficult to find popular or critical consensus on what the experience of watching fantasy cinema actually entails What makes something a fantasy film and what unique pleasures does the genre offer In Encountering the Impossible Alexander Sergeant solves the riddle of the fantasy film by theorizing the underlying experience of imagination alluded to in scholarly discussions of the genre Drawing principally on the psychoanalysis of Melanie Klein and D W Winnicott Sergeant considers the way in which fantasy cinema rejects Hollywood s typically naturalistic mode of address to generate an alternative experience that Sergeant refers to as the fantastic a way of approaching cinema that embraces the illusory nature of the medium as part of the pleasure of the experience Analyzing such canonical Hollywood fantasy films as The Wizard of Oz It s a Wonderful Life Mary Poppins Conan the Barbarian and The Lord of the Rings movies Sergeant theorizes how fantasy cinema provides a unique film experience throughout its ubiquitous presence in the history of Hollywood film production

Rape-Revenge Films Alexandra Heller-Nicholas,2021-04-12 Often considered the lowest depth to which cinema can plummet the rape revenge film is broadly dismissed as fundamentally exploitative and sensational catering only to a demented regressive demographic This second edition ten years after the first continues the assessment of these films and the discourse they provoke Included is a new chapter about women directed rape revenge films a phenomenon that revitalized since MeToo exploded in late 2017 is a filmmaking tradition with a history that transcends a contemporary context Featuring both famous and unknown movies controversial and widely celebrated filmmakers as well as rape revenge cinema from around the world this revised edition demonstrates that diverse and often contradictory treatments of sexual violence exist simultaneously

Outsider Features Richard K. Ferncase,1996-06-21 In the early 1980s serious American independent films including Stranger Than Paradise Blood Simple and She s Gotta Have It attracted ever widening audiences culminating with Steven Soderbergh s award winning sex lies and videotape This film which won the Cannes Film Festival s top award and took more than 30 million at the box office in the United States alone capped a remarkable decade for off Hollywood filmmakers Outsider Features takes an in depth look at 10 of the most successful independent feature films made during this decade from John Sayles's seminal and groundbreaking The Return of the Secaucus Seven to Michael Moore's wry and irreverent Roger Me the most lucrative non music documentary ever made Outsider Features offers accounts of the genesis of each film complete synopses and critical analyses and biographies of each filmmaker American Icons Dennis R. Manderlay and individual projects such as the comedy The Boss of It All and the incendiary horror psychodrama Antichrist. Closely analyzing the films and their contexts, Linda Badley draws on a range of cultural references and critical approaches including genre, gender and cultural studies, performance theory and trauma culture. Two revealing interviews that Trier granted during crucial stages of Antichrist's development are also included. Stephen King, Harold Bloom, 2006. Though often disparaged by literary critics, Stephen King's work has influenced a generation of horror and science fiction writers. Acting as a study guide, this book features the important critical interpretations of the horror master's work. Lars von Trier's Women, Rex Butler, David Denny, 2016-11-17. The Danish director Lars von Trier is undoubtedly one of the world's most important and controversial filmmakers, and arguably so because of the depiction of women in his films. He has been criticized for subjecting his female characters to unacceptable levels of violence or reducing them to masochistic self-abnegation, as with Bess in Breaking the Waves, She in Antichrist, and Joe in Nymphomaniac. At other times it is the women in his films who are dominant or break out in violence, as in his adaptation of Euripides' Medea, the conclusion of Dogville, and perhaps throughout Nymphomaniac. Lars von Trier's Women confronts these dichotomies head-on. Editors Rex Butler and David Denny do not take a position either for or against von Trier, but rather consider how both attitudes fall short of the real difficulty of his films, which may simply not conform to any kind of feminist or indeed anti-feminist politics as they are currently configured. Using Lacanian psychoanalysis and acknowledging the work of prior scholars on the films, Lars von Trier's Women reveals hidden resources for a renewed feminist politics and social practice. Monsters and the Monstrous, 2007-01-01. Emerging from depths comes a series of papers dealing with one of the most significant creations that reflects on and critiques human existence. Both a warning and a demonstration, the monster as myth and metaphor provides an articulation of human imagination that toys with the permissible and impermissible. Monsters, from zombies to cuddly cartoon characters emerging from sewers, from pages of literature, propaganda, posters, movies, and heavy metal, all are covered in this challenging scholarly collection. This volume, the third in the series, presents a marvellous collection of studies on the metaphor of the monster in literature, cinema, music, culture, philosophy, history, and politics. Both historical reflection and concerns of our time are addressed with clarity and written in an accessible manner, providing appeal for the scholar and lay reader alike. This eclectic collection will be of interest to academics and students working in a range of disciplines such as cultural studies, film studies, political theory, philosophy, and literature studies. Traditions in World Cinema, Linda Badley, R. Barton Palmer, Steven Jay Schneider, 2006. The core volume in the Traditions in World Cinema series, this book brings together a colourful and wide-ranging collection of world cinematic traditions, national, regional, and global, all of which are in need of introduction, investigation, and in some cases, critical reassessment. Topics include German expressionism, Italian neorealism, French New Wave, British new wave, Czech new wave, Danish Dogma, post-Communist cinema, Brazilian post-Cinema Novo, new Argentine cinema, pre-revolutionary African traditions, Israeli persecution films, new Iranian cinema,

Billari, 2006-03-13 The present book describes the methodology to set up agent based models and to study emerging patterns in complex adaptive systems resulting from multi agent interaction It offers the application of agent based models in demography social and economic sciences and environmental sciences Examples include population dynamics evolution of social norms communication structures patterns in eco systems and socio biology natural resource management spread of diseases and development processes It presents and combines different approaches how to implement agent based computational models and tools in an integrative manner that can be extended to other cases      Generation Zombie Stephanie Boluk, Wylie Lenz, 2011-07-25 Growing from their early roots in Caribbean voodoo to their popularity today zombies are epidemic Their presence is pervasive whether they are found in video games street signs hard drives or even international politics These eighteen original essays by an interdisciplinary group of scholars examine how the zombie has evolved over time its continually evolving manifestations in popular culture and the unpredictable effects the zombie has had on late modernity Topics covered include representations of zombies in films the zombie as environmental critique its role in mass psychology and how issues of race class and gender are expressed through zombie narratives Collectively the work enhances our understanding of the popularity and purposes of horror in the modern era Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here      Eroticism and Death in Theatre and Performance Karoline Gritzner, 2010 The essays brought together in this collection offer new perspectives on the eros death relation in a wide selection of dramatic texts theatrical practices and cultural performances      Redeeming Flesh Matthew John Paul Tan, 2016-07-06 Why are zombies consuming the popular imagination This book part social analysis part theological critique and part devotional considers how the zombie can be a way to critically situate our culture awash with consumer products Matthew Tan considers how zombies are the endpoint of social theory s exploration of consumer culture and its postsecular turn towards an earthly immortality enacted on the flesh of consumers The book also shows how zombies aid our appreciation of Christ s saving work Through the lens of theology and the prayer of the Stations of the Cross Tan incorporates social theory s insights on the zombie concerning postmodern culture s yearning for things beyond the flesh and also reveals some of social theory s blind spots Turning to the Eucharist flesh of Christ Tan challenges the zombie s secularized narrative of salvation of the flesh one where flesh is saved by being consumed and made to die By contrast Jesus saves by enacting an alternative logic of flesh one that redeems the zombie s obsession with flesh by eucharistically giving it away In doing so Jesus saves by assuming the condition of the zombie redirecting our logic of consumption and fulfilling our yearning for immortality      All Thoughts Are Equal John Ó Maoilearca, 2015-09-15 All Thoughts Are Equal is both an introduction to the work of French philosopher Fran ois Laruelle and an exercise in nonhuman thinking For Laruelle standard forms of philosophy continue to dominate our models of what counts as exemplary thought and knowledge By contrast what Laruelle calls his non standard approach attempts to bring democracy into thought because all forms of thinking including the nonhuman are equal John Maoilearca examines how philosophy might appear when viewed with non philosophical and nonhuman eyes He does so by refusing to explain Laruelle through orthodox philosophy opting instead to follow the structure of a film Lars von Trier s documentary The Five Obstructions as an example of the non standard method Von Trier s film is a meditation on the creative limits set by film both technologically and aesthetically and how these limits can push our experience of film and of ourselves beyond what is normally deemed the perfect human All Thoughts Are Equal adopts film s constraints in its own experiment by showing how Laruelle s radically new style of philosophy is best presented through our most nonhuman form of thought that found in cinema
