Film Noir Virgin Film:

Film Noir and the Cinema of Paranoia Wheeler W. Dixon, 2009 Noir A shadow looms The blow a sharp surprise Waking and sleeping the fear is with us and cannot be contained Paranoia Wheeler Winston Dixon's comprehensive work engages readers in an overview of noir and fatalist film from the mid twentieth century to the present ending with a discussion of television the Internet and dominant commercial cinema Beginning with the 1940s classics Film Noir and the Cinema of Paranoia moves to the Red Scare and other ominous expressions of the 1950s that contradicted an American split level dream of safety and security The dark cinema of the 1960s hosted films that reflected the tensions of a society facing a new and to some menacing era of social expression From smaller studio work to the vibrating pulse of today's click and kill video games Dixon boldly addresses the noir artistry that keeps audiences in an ever consumptive stupor Film Noir Eddie Robson, 2005 Hollywood showed its dark side in the 1940s and 50s with a wave of highly stylized movies featuring sinister plots shady characters sexual tension chaos and confusion These films have fascinated critics students moviegoers and moviemakers ever since Classics including THE MALTESE FALCON THE BIG SLEEP and THE POSTMAN ALWAYS RINGS TWICE are analysed with iconic actors such as Robert Mitchum and legendary directors including Alfred Hitchcock Stanley Kubrick and Orson Welles profiled Historical Dictionary of Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2010-03-19 Film noir literally black cinema is the label customarily given to a group of black and white American films mostly crime thrillers made between 1940 and 1959 Today there is considerable dispute about what are the shared features that classify a noir film and therefore which films should be included in this category These problems are partly caused because film noir is a retrospective label that was not used in the 1940s or 1950s by the film industry as a production category and therefore its existence and features cannot be established through reference to trade documents The Historical Dictionary of Film Noir is a comprehensive guide that ranges from 1940 to present day neo noir It consists of a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography a filmography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on every aspect of film noir and neo noir including key films personnel actors cinematographers composers directors producers set designers and writers themes issues influences visual style cycles of films e.g. amnesiac noirs the representation of the city and gender other forms comics graphic novels television and videogames and noir's presence in world cinema It is an essential reference work for all those interested in this important cultural phenomenon Women in Film Noir E. Ann Kaplan, 2019-07-25 The first edition of Women in Film Noir 1978 assembled a group of scholars and critics committed to understanding the cinema in terms of gender sexuality politics psychoanalysis and semiotics This edition is expanded to include further essays which reflect the renewed interest in Film Noir Exploring neo noir postmodernism and other contemporary trends new essays offer readings of among others Bound and Basic Instinct broadening the scope of the book to include questions of race and homosexuality The Rough Guide to Film Noir Alexander Ballinger, Danny Graydon, 2007 This book presents over one hundred crime takes issue with much genre criticism and genre theory which has provided only a partial and misleading account of Hollywood's output. He calls for broader and more flexible conceptions of genre and genres for more attention to be paid to the discourses and practices of Hollywood itself for the nature and range of Hollywood's films to be looked at in more detail and for any assessment of the social and cultural significance of Hollywood's genres to take account of industrial factors. In detailed revisionist accounts of two major genres, film noir and melodrama, Neale argues that genre remains an important and productive means of thinking about both New and old Hollywood, its history, its audiences and its films.

Popular Fiction Tony Bennett, 2023-07-14 First published in 1990, Popular Fiction looks at popular fiction in its literary, filmic and televisual forms. They range across the main genres of popular fiction: science fiction, soap opera, detective fiction, the spy thriller, the western, film noir and comedy. Grouped into sections, the essays explore major themes in the study of popular fiction: the functioning of popular fiction within technologies of cultural regulation; the relations between popular fiction and nationalism; the connections between popular fictions and relations of power and knowledge and the social and ideological factors moulding both the production and reading of popular fictions. Designed especially as a student text, this book will be invaluable to students of English and literary studies, media studies, film and TV studies, communication studies and cultural studies.

European Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2019-01-04 European Film Noir is the first book to bring together specialist discussions of film noir in specific European national cinemas. Written by leading scholars, this groundbreaking study provides an authoritative understanding of an important aspect of European cinema and of film noir itself, for too long considered as a solely American form. The Introduction reviews the problems of defining film noir, its key characteristics and discusses its significance to the development of European film; the relationship of specific national film noirs to each other, to American noir and to historical and social change. Eight chapters then discuss film noir in France, Germany, Britain and Spain, analysing both earlier developments and the evolution of neo-noir through to the present. A further chapter explores film noir in Italian cinema, where its presence is not so well defined. Each piece provides a critical overview of the most significant films in relation to their industrial and social contexts. European Film Noir is an important contribution to the study of European cinema that will have a broad appeal to undergraduates, cinema teachers and researchers.

The Invention of the Western Film Scott Simmon, 2003-06-30 Table of contents The Dread of Difference Barry Keith Grant, 2015-04-01 The Dread of Difference is a classic. Few film studies texts have been so widely read and so influential. It's rarely on the shelf at my university library so continuously does it circulate. Now this new edition expands the already comprehensive coverage of gender in the horror film with new essays on recent developments such as the Hostel series and torture porn. Informative and enlightening, this updated classic is an essential reference for fans and students of horror movies. Stephen Prince, editor of The Horror Film and author of Digital Visual Effects in Cinema: The Seduction of Reality. An impressive array of distinguished scholars gazes deeply into the darkness and then forms a Dionysian chorus reaffirming that sexuality and the monstrous are indeed mated in many horror films Choice An extremely useful introduction to recent thinking about gender issues within this genre Film Theory The “Femme” Fatale in Brazilian Cinema Antônio Márcio da Silva,2014-05-01 In film the femme fatale has long been constructed as a beautiful heterosexual Caucasian woman Da Silva shows the need to incorporate diverse ethnic groups and male homosexuals into the range of femmes fatales and examines how the Brazilian representations cross gender race and class and offer alternatives to the dominant Hollywood model Becoming Film Literate Vincent LoBrutto,2005-03-30 Though movies have remained our foremost cultural pastime for over 100 years many of us still know very little about the tools used to create them In this groundbreaking new book Vincent LoBrutto provides an enjoyable and accessible education in the art of cinema using 50 landmark films spanning the history of the medium LoBrutto illustrates such important concepts as editing production design cinematography sound screen acting narrative structure and various genres nationalities and film eras Each concept is illustrated by the selection of a film that epitomizes its use so that readers will learn about film authorship in Citizen Kane multiplot narrative in Nashville widescreen filmmaking in Rebel without a Cause and screen violence in The Wild Bunch Explaining the various tricks of the moviemaking trade Becoming Film Literate offers a crash course in cinema one designed to give even the novice reader a solid introduction to this complex and multifaceted medium Though movies have remained our foremost cultural pastime for over 100 years many of us still know very little about the tools used to create them In this groundbreaking new book Vincent LoBrutto provides an enjoyable and accessible education in the art of cinema using 50 landmark films spanning the history of the medium LoBrutto illustrates such important concepts as editing production design cinematography sound screen acting narrative structure and various genres nationalities and film eras Each concept is illustrated by the selection of a film that epitomizes its use so that readers will learn about film authorship in Citizen Kane multiplot narrative in Nashville widescreen filmmaking in Rebel without a Cause and screen violence in The Wild Bunch Providing a unique opportunity to become acquainted with important movies and the elements of their greatness Becoming Film Literate offers a crash course in cinema one designed to give even the novice reader a solid introduction to this complex and multifaceted medium Film Noir Guide Michael F.
