Pictorial Affects, Senses of Rupture Michael Wedel, 2019-05-20 German film in the Wilhelmine and Weimar periods is regarded as marked by a strong sense of cultural conservatism and the aspiration to be recognized as an art form This book takes an alternative approach to the history of German cinema from the emergence of the early feature film to the transition to sound by focusing on the poetics of popular genres such as the disaster film melodrama the musical and the war film exploring their cultural reverberations and modes of audience address Based on the assumption that popular cinema contributed immensely to the breakthrough of a modern audiovisual culture of the senses in Germany between 1910 and 1930 Pictorial Affects Senses of Rupture offers close readings of a number of rarely analyzed films including one of the first cinematic adaptations of the Titanic disaster from 1912 and the German version of All Quiet on the Western Front from 1930 Restoring the films horizons of historicity by locating them at crucial points of intersection between social cultural technological and aesthetic discourses this book argues for the prominent role popular German cinema s own forms of discursivity have played within the historical formation of modernity

The Collaboration Ben Urwand, 2013-09-10 To continue doing business in Germany Hollywood studios agreed not to make films attacking Nazis or condemning persecution of Jews Ben Urwand reveals this collaboration and the cast of characters it drew in ranging from Goebbels to Louis B Mayer At the center was Hitler himself obsessed with movies and their power to shape public opinion

The Cinematic Challenge: Filming Colonial America John P. Harty, Jr.

,2016 Why did cinema largely ignore the colonial era and the Revolutionary War The Cinematic Challenge asks this question and studies four films from the 1930s and 1940s to consider other queries such as How did Darryl F Zanuck make a film about the American Revolution Drums Along The Mohawk without indicating that the British were the enemy Why was Northwest Passage never completed How did Cecil B DeMille begin production on a film Unconquered based on a book that did not yet exist In addition we ll learn how accurate the depictions of colonial life were in each film and whether the political and economic climate affected the finished products Volume one of The Cinematic Challenge also includes information about the general state of the film industry during this period technological advancements and rival theories about historical filmmaking making it the most in depth resource available today on colonial movies War and Film James Chapman,2008-06 About depictions of war in cinema The Great War Ian F. W. Beckett,2014-01-14 The course of events of the Great War has been told many times spurred by an endless desire to understand the war to end all wars However this book moves beyond military narrative to offer a much fuller analysis of of the conflict s strategic political economic social and cultural impact Starting with the context and origins of the war including assassination misunderstanding and differing national war aims it then covers the treacherous course of the conflict and its social consequences for both soldiers and civilians for science and technology for national politics and for pan European revolution The war left a long term legacy for victors and vanquished alike It created new frontiers changed the balance of power and influenced the arts national memory and political thought The reach of this account is global showing how a conflict among European powers came to involve their colonial empires and embraced Japan China the Ottoman Empire Latin America and the United States A Critical History of German Film Stephen Brockmann,2010 A history of German film dealing with individual films as works of art has long been needed Existing histories tend to treat cinema as an economic rather than an aesthetic phenomenon earlier surveys that do engage with individual films do not include films of recent decades This book treats representative films from the beginnings of German film to the present Providing historical context through an introduction and interchapters preceding the treatments of each era s films the volume is suitable for semester or year long survey courses and for anyone with an interest in German cinema The films The Student of Prague The Cabinet of Dr Caligari The Last Laugh Metropolis The Blue Angel M Triumph of the Will The Great Love The Murderers Are among Us Sun Seekers Trace of Stones The Legend of Paul and Paula Solo Sunny The Bridge Young T rless Aguirre The Wrath of God Germany in Autumn The Marriage of Maria Braun The Tin Drum Marianne and Juliane Wings of Desire Maybe Maybe Not Rossini Run Lola Run Good Bye Lenin Head On The Lives of Others Stephen Brockmann is Professor of German at Carnegie Mellon University and past President of the German Studies Association Abel Gance and the End of Silent Cinema Paul Cuff,2016-11-10 This book explores the creation and destruction of Abel Gance s most ambitious film project and seeks to explain why his meteoric career was so nearly extinguished at the end of silent cinema By 1929 Gance was France s most famous director Acclaimed for his technical innovation and visual imagination he was also admonished for the excessive length and expense of his productions Gance's first sound film La Fin du Monde 1930 was a critical and financial disaster so great that it nearly destroyed his career But what went wrong Gance claimed it was commercial sabotage whilst critics blamed the director's inexperience with new technology Neither excuse is satisfactory Based on extensive archival research this book re-investigates the cultural background and aesthetic consequences of Gance's transition from silent filmmaking to sound cinema La Fin du Monde is revealed to be only one element of an extraordinary cultural project to transform cinema into a universal religion and propagate its power through the League of Nations From unfinished films to unrealized social revolutions the reader is given a fascinating tour of Gance's lost cinematic utopia America's Film Legacy Daniel Eagan,2010-01-01 Collection of the five hundred films that have been selected to date for preservation by the National Film Preservation Board and are thereby listed in the National Film Registry Sam Spiegel Natasha Fraser-Cavassoni,2003 This biography is the story of how a bankrupt refugee without a studio managed to produce several of the greatest films of all time The African Queen On the Waterfront The Bridge on the River Kwai and Lawrence of Arabia Film credits aside Sam Spiegel led a flamboyant and uncompromising life and the full story has never been told until now of photos Remembering World War I in America Kimberly J. Lamay Licursi,2018 Poised to become a significant player in the new world order the United States truly came of age during and after World War I Yet many Americans think of the Great War simply as a precursor to World War II Americans including veterans hastened to put experiences and memories of the war years behind them reflecting a general apathy about the war that had developed during the 1920s and 1930s and never abated In Remembering World War I in America Kimberly J Lamay Licursi explores the American public's collective memory and common perception of World War I by analyzing the extent to which it was expressed through the production of cultural artifacts related to the war Through the analysis of four vectors of memory war histories memoirs fiction and film Lamay Licursi shows that no consistent image or message about the war ever arose that resonated with a significant segment of the American population Not many war histories materialized war memoirs did not capture the public's attention and war novels and films presented a fictional war that either bore little resemblance to the doughboys experience or offered discordant views about what the war meant In the end Americans emerged from the interwar years with limited pockets of public memory about the war that never found compromise in a dominant myth The Queen of Technicolor Tom Zimmerman,2022-07-26 Best known for her appearances in the six Technicolor Neverland movies Maria Montez is a film icon Growing up as one of ten children in the Dominican Republic her rise as a film star in the United States seemed unlikely In 1939 Montez set off on her own to New York City to fulfill her aspirations of movie stardom Despite having no substantial acting experience Montez managed to sign with major agent Louis Schurr who helped her secure a contract with Universal Studios before she moved out to Hollywood Following her arrival in Los Angeles Montez began cultivating the larger than life persona for which she is known Her beauty personality and series of publicity antics including dramatic restaurant entrances endeared her to the press. She even created her own fan club, The Montez for Stardom Club. Her ambitious self-promotion bolstered the success she found with her first big lead in Arabian Nights released in 1943. From then on, the studio referred to her as The Queen of Technicolor. Author Tom Zimmerman puts Montez's life in historical context, including her role as a cultural icon and a living representation of the United States Good Neighbor Policy with Latin American countries. With her thick Dominican accent, Montez struggled to make herself intelligible to an American audience. However, unlike some of her Latin contemporaries, she did not present a caricature of her culture or use her accent for comedic purposes, giving her credibility with a Latin American audience. Zimmerman skillfully recounts the story of Montez's fiery ambition and her ascent to Hollywood fame, giving her the opportunity to live on in public memory.

Historical Dictionary of German Cinema Robert C. Reimer, Carol J. Reimer, 2019-07-15. The history of German film is diverse and multifaceted. This volume can only suggest the richness of a film tradition that includes five distinct German governments: Wilhelmine Germany, the Weimar Republic, the Third Reich, the Federal Republic of Germany (West Germany), and the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), as well as a reunited Germany, two national industries (Germany and Austria), and a myriad of styles and production methods. Paradoxically, the political disruptions that have produced these distinct film eras, as well as the natural inclination of artists to rebel and create new styles, allow for the construction of a narrative of German film. Disjuncture generates distinct points of separation, and yet also highlights continuities between the ruptures. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of German Cinema contains a chronology, an introduction, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 200 cross-referenced entries on directors, actors, films, cinematographers, composers, producers, and major historical events that greatly affected the direction and development of German cinema. This book is an excellent resource for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about German cinema.

The Oxford Illustrated History of the First World War Hew Strachan, 2016. A team of some of the world's most distinguished First World War historians chart the causes, course, and profound political and human consequences of a conflict that changed the world.

Hitler - Films from Germany K. Machtans, M. Ruehl, 2012-11-30. The first book-length study to critically examine the recent wave of Hitler biopics in German cinema and television. A group of international experts discuss films like Downfall in the context of earlier portrayals of Hitler and draw out their implications for the changing place of the Third Reich in the national historical imagination.
