Grief, Madness, and Crises of Masculinity in Mind-Game Films Rosalind Sibielski, 2024-08-22 This book analyzes a cycle of early twenty first century mind game films and TV series in which male protagonists retreat into fantasies dreams or hallucinations as a means of coping with grief and guilt following the death of a loved one Discussing films like Memento Inception and Shutter Island alongside the TV series Mr Robot among others Rosalind Sibielski highlights how the construction of alternate realities allows the protagonists to work through bereavement and past trauma Sibielski also argues that as part of this process the protagonists not only find themselves questioning their memories and what they believe to be true about their identities but they are also forced to reevaluate who they are as men and the way that they define their manhood Finally Grief Madness and Crises of Masculinity in Mind Game Films examines these stories of intersecting crises of reality and crises of masculinity within the context of millennial culture wars in the US over the way that manhood is can be or should be enacted Television Histories Gary R. Edgerton, Peter C. Rollins, 2021-09-15 From Ken Burns's documentaries to historical dramas such as Roots from A E's Biography series to CNN television has become the primary source for historical information for tens of millions of Americans today Why has television become such a respected authority What falsehoods enter our collective memory as truths How is one to know what is real and what is imagined or ignored by producers directors or writers Gary Edgerton and Peter Rollins have collected a group of essays that answer these and many other questions The contributors examine the full spectrum of historical genres but also institutions such as the History Channel and production histories of such series as The Jack Benny Show which ran for fifteen years The authors explore the tensions between popular history and professional history and the tendency of some academics to declare the past off limits to nonscholars Several of them point to the tendency for television histories to embed current concerns and priorities within the past as in such popular shows as Quantum Leap and Dr Quinn Medicine Woman The result is an insightful portrayal of the power television possesses to influence our culture
