The Films of Makhmalbaf Eric Egan, 2005 This book examines the close and volatile relationship between a highly popular art form the production of culture and the politics of power in society Through a critical analysis the book reveals the social and political context of Iran's national cinema under the Islamic Republic It tracks the emergence of Iranian cinema since the Islamic Revolution as Makhmalbaf one of Iran s most influential filmmakers and a committed artist whose work is provocative and never far from controversy sought to engage the dramatic social and political upheavals that have taken place over the past twenty four years Makhmalbaf's films have always been reflexive meditations on the nature of cinema and art within a society and Makhmalbaf s art as part of that system provides a view of film as an extension of its political The Politics of Iranian Cinema Saeed Zeydabadi-Nejad, 2009-12-04 Iran has undergone considerable social environment upheaval since the revolution and this has been reflected in its cinema Drawing on first hand interviews and detailed ethnographic research this book explores how cinema is engaged in the dynamics of social change in contemporary Iran The author not only discusses the practices of regulation and reception of films from major award winning directors but also important mainstream filmmakers such as Hatamikia and Tabizi Contributing to ethnographic accounts of Iranian governance in the field of culture the book reveals the complex behind the scenes negotiations between filmmakers and the authorities which constitute a major part of the workings of film censorship The author traces the relationship of Iranian cinema to recent social political movements in Iran namely reformism and women s movement and shows how international acclaim has been instrumental in filmmakers engagement with matters of political importance in Iran This book will be a valuable tool for courses on film and media studies and will provide a significant insight into Iranian cultural politics for students of cultural studies and anthropology Middle Eastern and Iranian studies Iranian Cinema in a Global Context Peter Decherney, Blake Atwood, 2014-09-15 Iranian films have been the subject of much critical and scholarly attention over the past several decades and Iranian filmmakers are mainstays of international film festivals Yet most of the attention has been focused on a small segment of Iranian film production auteurist art cinema Iranian Cinema in a Global Context on the other hand takes account of the wide range of Iranian cinema from popular youth films to low budget underground films The volume also reassesses the global circulation of Iranian art cinema looking at its reception at international festivals in university curricula and at the Academy Awards A final theme of the volume explores the intersection between politics and film with essays on post Khatami reform influences representations of ineffective drug policies and the representation of Jewish characters in Iranian film Taken together the essays in this volume present a new definition of the field of Iranian film studies one that engages global media flows transmedia interaction and a heterogeneous Iranian national cinema

Reform Cinema in Iran Blake Atwood,2016-11-08 It is nearly impossible to separate contemporary Iranian cinema from the Islamic revolution that transformed film production in the country in the late 1970s As the aims of the revolution shifted and hardened once Khomeini took power and as an eight year war with Iraq dragged on Iranian filmmakers confronted new restrictions In the 1990s however the Reformist Movement led by Mohammad Khatami and the film industry developed an unlikely partnership that moved audiences away from revolutionary ideas and toward a discourse of reform In Reform Cinema in Iran Blake Atwood examines how new industrial and aesthetic practices created a distinct cultural and political style in Iranian film between 1989 and 2007 Atwood analyzes a range of popular art and documentary films He provides new readings of internationally recognized films such as Abbas Kiarostami s Taste of Cherry 1997 and Mohsen Makhmalbaf s Time for Love 1990 as well as those by Rakhshan Bani Masud Kiami and other key Iranian directors At the same time he also considers how filmmakers and the film industry were affected by larger political and religious trends that took shape during Mohammad Khatami s presidency 1997 2005 Atwood analyzes political speeches religious sermons and newspaper editorials and pays close attention to technological developments particularly the rise of video to determine their role in democratizing filmmaking and realizing the goals of political reform He concludes with a look at the legacy of reform cinema including films produced under Mahmoud Ahmadinejad whose neoconservative discourse rejected the policies of reform that preceded him to the homogenising global influence of mainstream Hollywood cinema Drawing on seminal ideas of art cinema Christopher Gow examines how the success of this cinema and the films of Abbas Kiarostami its foremost proponent can be accounted for by the extent to which they fit into a pre established notion of art cinema Gow also expands understanding of post revolutionary Iranian cinema by examining the links between the New Iranian Cinema and emigre Iranian filmmaking from the uncompromising German films of Sohrab Shahid Saless to Vadim Perlman's exploration of the Iranian experience of exile in the Oscar nominated House of Sand and Fog He reveals how this large and dispersed emigre Iranian cinema challenges our understanding of New Iranian Cinema itself and of national cinema in general The State of Resistance Assal Rad, 2022-08-25 While the Iranian nation state has long captivated the attention of our media and politics this book examines a country that is often misunderstood and explores forgotten aspects of the debate Using innovative multi disciplinary methods it investigates the formation of an Iranian national identity over the last century and significantly the role of Iranian people in defining the contours of that identity By employing popular culture as an archive of study Assal Rad aims to rediscover the ordinary Iranian in studies of contemporary Iran demonstrating how identity was shaped by music literature and film Both accessible in style and meticulously researched Rad s work cultivates a more holistic picture of Iranian politics policy and society showing how the Iran of the past is intimately connected to that of the present Iranian Intellectuals Lloyd Ridgeon, 2013-10-18 Previously published as a special issue of British Journal of Middle East Studies this volume focuses on leading figures within Iran between 1997 2007 and their visions and works that are related to Iranian society A cross section of opinion is investigated including the clerical Ali Khameneh i Muhammad Khatami and Mohsen Kadivar the dissident Mohsen Makhmalbaf and the poetic Qaysar Aminpour and cinematic The past decade has been a traumatic one in Iran and the essays in this volume testify to the vibrancy of the responses from Iranian thinkers It may be a surprise to some observers that in some senses Ali Khameneh i may be considered a liberal whereas Muhammad Khatami s own credentials as an advocate of rapprochement with the West needs to be qualified Responses to Western culture continue to remain centre stage and this is also nowhere more apparent than in the complex relationship between the directors of Iranian films perhaps Iran's most celebrated export these days and their audiences both Iranian and Western Despite some viewing Iran as a pariah state it remains firmly connected to the West and to modern technology typified in the practice of blogging that is enjoyed by so many Iranians which has provided a new space for expression and thinking History of Glass and Ceramics in Iran, 1500-1925 Willem Floor, This comprehensive and richly detailed study by renowned scholar Willem Floor is the culmination of what is known about domestic glass and ceramic production location quality craftsmen in Iran from 1500 until the end of the Qajar period in 1925 Because of increasing imports the Qajar government tried to improve domestic glass and ceramic techniques through transfer of technology once through direct foreign investment The reasons for these failed attempts are discussed as well as the development of the import of glass and ceramic products Over time there was not only a change in the places of origin of glass and ceramic imports but also in their volume and composition which during the Oajar period included a large variety of cheap articles for mass consumption There is an appendix for each chapter giving a market assessment for glass and ceramic production in Iran written in French by Belgian consultants in 1891 The Belgian assessments offer a detailed chemical analysis of glass and ceramics made in Iran as well as an inventory of the types of glassware and ceramics made by domestic craftsmen It concludes with proposals for the establishment of a modern glass and ceramic factory in Iran This superb body of research will not only be of great interest to Iranian scholars inside and outside the country but also to everyone interested in the story of glass and ceramics throughout the world Iran, 1501-1925 Willem Floor, Amélie Courvat Desvergnes, 2022-10-04 The Chinese invented papermaking which by the 8th century had reached the Muslim world in Samarkand and Baghdad and Spain by the 11th century Much later at the end of the 18th century onwards modern industrial papermaking was developed by the Europeans The History of Paper in Iran 1501 to 1925 sets out for the reader the types of paper made in Iran during the Safavid and Qajar periods and the crucial role imported paper played in the country The Iranian government attempted to introduce modern European paper production technology first by sending students abroad to learn about this technology and then by purchasing equipment to set up a paper industry However during the 19th century domestic Iranian paper production came under increasing pressure from paper imports and the government abandoned its efforts to modernize the domestic paper industry.
