Making Jean-Claude Dreher, Léon Tremblay, 2009-06-04 This book addresses a fundamental question about the nature of behavior how does the brain process reward and makes decisions when facing multiple options The book presents the most recent and compelling lesion neuroimaging electrophysiological and computational studies in combination with hormonal and genetic studies which have led to a clearer understanding of neural mechanisms behind reward and decision making The neural bases of reward and decision making processes are of great interest to scientists because of the fundamental role of reward in a number of behavioral processes such as motivation learning and cognition and because of their theoretical and clinical implications for understanding dysfunctions of the dopaminergic system in several neurological and psychiatric disorders schizophrenia Parkinson's disease drug addiction pathological gambling Comprehensive coverage of approaches to studying reward and decision making including primate neurophysiology and brain imaging studies in healthy humans and in various disorders genetic and hormonal influences on the reward system and computational models Covers clinical implications of process dysfunction e.g. schizophrenia Parkinson's disease eating disorders drug addiction pathological gambling Uses multiple levels of analysis from molecular mechanisms to neural systems dynamics and computational models This is a very interesting and authoritative handbook by some of the most outstanding investigators in the field of reward and decision making Professor Edmund T. Rolls Oxford Center for Computational Neuroscience UK Reflexion and Control Dmitry A. Novikov, Alexander G. Chkhartishvili, 2014-03-03 This book is dedicated to modern approaches to mathematical modeling of reflexive processes in control The authors consider reflexive games that describe the game-theoretical interaction of agents making decisions based on a hierarchy of beliefs regarding 1. essential parameters informational reflexion 2. decision principles used by opponents Proceedings of the Twenty-fourth Annual Conference of the Cognitive Science Society Wayne D. Gray, Christian D. Schunn, 2019-04-24 This volume features the complete text of the material presented at the Twenty Fourth Annual Conference of the Cognitive Science Society As in previous years the symposium included an interesting mixture of papers on many topics from researchers with diverse backgrounds and different goals presenting a multifaceted view of cognitive science The volume includes all papers posters and summaries of symposia presented at this leading conference that brings cognitive scientists together The 2002 meeting dealt with issues of representing and modeling cognitive processes as they appeal to scholars in all subdisciplines that comprise cognitive science psychology computer science neuroscience linguistics and philosophy Geography of the 'New' Education Market Chris Taylor, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2000 A series of major reforms during the 1980s and 1990s have led to the transformation of the Education System in England and Wales The new system is now based on market principles in schooling resources Parents now have the opportunity to state a preference over the school they would like their children to attend This fascinating book sets out the new geographies of education focusing on the spatial organization of the new market system Using Geographical Information Systems GIS it examines patterns of competition and choice based on pupil home postcodes and relates these to the decision making process of parents It also makes comparisons between different LEAs and schools in urban and rural areas analyzing the constraints created by space and geography In considering the effectiveness and impact of this new form of provision the book plays an important role in understanding and appreciating the impact of the education market upon social mobility and community structure Flirting with Universalism Dennis Jensen, 2014-05-19 It's likely the most difficult problem in the Christian faith It was a major reason that Bertrand Russell John Stuart Mill and countless others rejected Christianity It was an axe that began to chip away at Charles Darwin's early faith How could he accept that his closest relatives and loved ones would be spending an eternity in agonizing torment Yet the Christian doctrine of an everlasting hell has turned out to be a completely unnecessary problem A close examination of the Bible rejects any form of universalism that trivializes personal obligations to God or denies the possibility of permanent condemnation Yet Christians can fully affirm the goodness justice and love of God They have no reason to believe in a never ending hell of excruciating suffering This study reviews the biblical and philosophical evidence behind the various Christian views of the afterlife for those who reject their God universalism eternalism or traditionalism and annihilationism It concludes by taking a position between universalism and annihilationism God will forever honor the final choices of those who reject God and yet in the end all things will be reconciled to God
