Final Exposure Portraits From Death Row:

Final Exposure; Portraits from Death Row Lou Jones, 1997 Final Exposure , 2002 The Death Penalty as Cruel Treatment and Torture William Schabas, 1996 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1890 edition Excerpt said Mr Fogg Well your honor replied the pilot I can risk neither my men nor myself nor yourself in so long a voyage on a boat of scarcely twenty tons at this time of the year Besides we would not arrive in time for it is sixteen hundred and fifty miles from Hong Kong to Yokohama Only sixteen hundred said Mr Fogg It is the same thing Fix took a good long breath But added the pilot there might perhaps be a means to arrange it otherwise Fix did not breathe any more How asked Phileas Fogg By going to Nagasaki the southern extremity of Japan eleven hundred miles or only to Shanghai eight hundred miles from Hong Kong In this last journey we would not be at any distance from the Chinese coast which would be a great advantage all the more so that the currents run to the north Pilot replied Phileas Fogg I must take the American mail steamer at Yokohama and not at Shanghai or Nagasaki Why not replied the pilot The San Francisco steamer does not start from Yokohama She stops there and at Nagasaki but her port of departure is Shanghai You are certain of what you are saying Certain And when does the steamer leave Shanghai On the 11th at seven o'clock in the evening We have then four days before us Four days that is ninety six hours and with an average of eight knots an hour if we have good luck if the wind keeps to the southeast if the sea is calm we can make the eight hundred miles which separate us from Shanghai And you can leave an hour time enough to buy my provisions and hoist sail It is a bargain you are the master of the boat Yes John Bunsby master of the Tankadere Do you wish some earnest money If it does not inconvenience Condemned to Die Robert Johnson, 2018-12-07 Condemned to Die is a book about life under sentence of death in American prisons The great majority of condemned prisoners are confined on death rows before they are executed Death rows typically feature solitary confinement a harsh regimen that is closely examined in this book Death rows that feature solitary confinement are most common in states that execute prisoners with regularity which is to say where there is a realistic threat that condemned prisoners will be put to death Less restrictive confinement conditions for condemned prisoners can be found in states where executions are rare Confinement conditions matter especially to prisoners but a central contention of this book is that no regimen of confinement under sentence of death offers its inmates a round of activity that might in any way prepare them for the ordeal they must face in the execution chamber when they are put to death In a basic and profound sense all condemned prisoners are warehoused for death in the shadow of the executioner Human warehousing seen most clearly on solitary confinement death rows violates every tenet of just punishment no legal or philosophical justification for capital punishment demands or even permits warehousing of prisoners under sentence of death The punishment is death There is neither a mandate nor a justification for harsh and dehumanizing confinement before the prisoner is put to death Yet warehousing for death of an empty and sometimes brutal nature is the universal fate of condemned prisoners The enormous suffering and injustice caused by this human warehousing rendered in the words of the prisoners themselves is the subject of this book
