Communities, Mines, and Distributive Politics Matthew Amengual, 2025-05-28 Social movements and interest groups of a variety of types increasingly engage in direct contestation mobilizing to influence the activities of firms and making unmediated claims for redistribution of the gains from economic activity Such direct contestation between societal actors and firms unleashes distributive and regulatory politics that shape local development Why does pressure sometimes result expanded access to essential public goods services and economic opportunities and sometimes does not This book develops a theory of direct contestation that explains the varying distributive consequences of the conflicts that entangle many firms The theory is grounded in case studies of mining conflicts in Bolivia and Peru By tracing the processes that pushed firms to take different types of distributive actions in detail the book reveals the central roles of social structures and firm strategies in shaping the consequences of direct contestation This work advances scholarship on social movements and organizations private politics distributive politics as well as studies of mining conflicts in Latin America Bulletin of the Public Affairs Information Service Public Affairs Information Service,1925 Investment in Hardrock Mineral Exploration and Development United States. Congress. House. Committee on Resources. Subcommittee on Energy and Mineral Resources,1995 One Hundred Years of Socialism Donald Sassoon,2010-07-30 On 14 July 1889 the centenary of the French Revolution socialist parties from all corners of Europe met in Paris On the same day in the same city the Exposition Universelle was launched to mark the achievements of capitalist production The two events symbolized the beginning of the epic struggle between socialism and capitalism in Europe In this comprehensive study of a century of socialism the author traces the fortunes of the political parties of the Left in Western Europe From the rise of the Bolsheviks to the fall of the Berlin wall from the Second International through two world wars to the Cold War and the birth of the welfare state from the working class militancy and student uprisings of the 1960s through the revival of feminism and the arrival of green politics to the reluctant embrace of market economics en route to the millennium Donald Sassoon charts the course of socialism across 14 countries He shows that throughout their history the fortunes of socialism and capitalism have been inextricably linked They have grown up side by side each one challenging and seeking to destroy yet nourishing and shaping the other
