

INTERNATIONAL FINANCIAL REPORTING STANDARDS

prof. Ing. Viktória Čejková, PhD., Ing. Eva Hyblová, PhD.
Faculty of Economics and Administration, Masaryk University in Brno

A fundamental change in the preparation of financial statements is taking place for those enterprises in European Union Member States which are issuers of securities listed on EU stock exchanges. When preparing their consolidated and non-consolidated financial statements for 2005, all such enterprises are required to use International Financial Reporting Standards instead of national accounting regulations<sup>1</sup>.

International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRSs) are set by the International Accounting Standards Board (IASB), which was established in 2001 to replace the International Accounting Standards Committee (IASC). IASB members are accounting organisations that are members of the International Federation of Accountants (IFAC).

The main objectives of the IASB are:

- to formulate and publish accounting standards to be observed in the presentation of financial statements.
- to work generally for the improvement and harmonisation of regulations, accounting standards and procedures relating to the presentation of financial statements.

IFRSs are at present being used:

- as a basis for national regulations on accountancy.
- as an international benchmark for countries which are developing their own national regulation.
- as a uniform benchmark for multinational and international enterprises.
- by companies listed on world stock exchanges.

IFRSs include:

- an introduction and preface.
- a framework.
- IFRSs and International Accounting Standards (IASs).
- interpretations by the International Financial Reporting Interpretations Committee, previously called the Standing Interpretations Committee (SIC).

International Accounting Standards was the name used for all the standards until the end of 2002, and International Financial Reporting Standards has been used since 2003.

Both standards are applicable until the time that the IASs have been replaced by the IFRSs.

<sup>1</sup> Commission Regulation (EC) 1725/2003 of 29.9.2003 adopting certain International Accounting Standards in accordance with Regulation 1606/2002 of the European Parliament and of the Council.
