Financing And Risk In Developing Countries:

Project Finance in Developing Countries Priscilla Anita Ahmed, Xinghai Fang, 1999-01-01 This report explores the changing face of project finance in developing markets IFC and more recently other multilateral bilateral and export credit institutions have played a strong supportive role in bringing project finance to its current volumes This role was highlighted in 1998 when these institutions sustained flows of an estimated 25 billion at a time when there was an abrupt decline in some types of private flows IFC in particular was a pioneer of project finance in developing countries and has a unique depth of experience in this field which spans more than 40 years in the practical implementation of some 2000 projects many of them on a limited recourse basis Particularly in today's marketplace IFC's ability to mobilize finance both loan and equity for its own account and syndicated loans under its B loan program the strength of its project appraisal capabilities and its experience in structuring complex transactions in difficult environments have been reassuring to other participants and important to the successful financing of many projects This report draws on IFC's experience in more than 230 greenfield projects costing upward of 30 billion that relied on project finance on a limited recourse basis see Appendix A It opens with a brief description of the major international trends in project finance over the past two decades and then turns to the essential ingredients of successful project financing Publisher abstract Financing and Risk in Developing Countries Stephen H.

Goodman, 1978 Catastrophe Risk Financing in Developing Countries J. David Cummins, Olivier Mahul, 2009 Catastrophe Risk Financing in Developing Countries provides a detailed analysis of the imperfections and inefficiencies that impede the emergence of competitive catastrophe risk markets in developing countries The book demonstrates how donors and international financial institutions can assist governments in middle and low income countries in promoting effective and affordable catastrophe risk financing solutions The authors present guiding principles on how and when governments with assistance from donors and international financial institutions should intervene in catastrophe insurance markets They also identify key activities to be undertaken by donors and institutions that would allow middle and low income countries to develop competitive and cost effective catastrophe risk financing strategies at both the macro government and micro household levels These principles and activities are expected to inform good practices and ensure desirable results in catastrophe insurance projects Catastrophe Risk Financing in Developing Countries offers valuable advice and guidelines to policy makers and insurance practitioners involved in the development of catastrophe insurance programs in developing countries Health Financing in the Developing World Guy Carrin, 2011 A collection of peer reviewed articles and contributions to books this overview of the finance of health insurance concentrates on developing countries The material covers various financing strategies and explains how each can or cannot help improve the transition toward universal coverage The model plans shown here are particularly useful for policy makers and technical advisers who have to decide upon health financing policies or are engaged in a debate about them and the sample forms can be adjusted to the particular economic and political context of the developing countries involved In addition there are reminders that this process varies in some countries universal coverage may take time and require a step by step approach In other developing countries a swift transition to universal coverage may be quite feasible Financing and Risk in Developing Countries Stephen H. Goodman,1978

Green Finance and Investment Scaling Up Adaptation Finance in Developing Countries Challenges and Opportunities for International Providers OECD,2023-11-16 This report analyses current trends of adaptation finance provided and mobilised by developed countries for developing countries It explores potential action areas for international providers to scale up funding for climate change adaptation including by unlocking the potential of the private sector Global Outlook on Financing for Sustainable Development 2023 No Sustainability Without Equity OECD,2022-11-10 Successive crises including COVID 19 Russia s war of aggression in Ukraine and the climate emergency are exacerbating inequalities between and within countries and stifling progress to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and the Paris Agreement While developed countries deployed historic stimulus packages to build back better developing countries lacked fiscal and monetary buffers to respond Countries with the fewest resources face challenging trade offs between short term rescue and long term financing for a sustainable recovery Effects of Financial

Globalization on Developing Countries Mr.Ayhan Kose,Mr.Kenneth Rogoff,Mr.Eswar Prasad,Shang-Jin Wei,2003-09-03 This study provides a candid systematic and critical review of recent evidence on this complex subject Based on a review of the literature and some new empirical evidence it finds that 1 in spite of an apparently strong theoretical presumption it is difficult to detect a strong and robust causal relationship between financial integration and economic growth 2 contrary to theoretical predictions financial integration appears to be associated with increases in consumption volatility both in absolute terms and relative to income volatility in many developing countries and 3 there appear to be threshold effects in both of these relationships which may be related to absorptive capacity Some recent evidence suggests that sound macroeconomic frameworks and in particular good governance are both quantitatively and qualitatively important in affecting developing countries experiences with financial globalization Blended Finance in the Least Developed Countries 2020

Supporting a Resilient COVID-19 Recovery OECD,United Nations Capital Development Fund,2020-12-16 The least developed countries LDCs are the furthest from achieving the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs They are also likely to be hit the hardest by the COVID 19 crisis and badly need the additional private finance that blended finance can unlock Yet evidence shows that too little private finance is mobilised for investment in LDCs How can this be fixed Building Financial Resilience to Climate Impacts A Framework for Governments to Manage the Risks of Losses and Damages OECD,2022-12-08 Governments are facing significant climate related risks from the expected increase in frequency and intensity of cyclones floods fires and other climate related extreme events The report Building Financial Resilience to Climate Impacts A Framework for Governments to Manage the Risks of Losses and Damages provides a strategic framework to help governments particularly those in emerging market and developing economies strengthen their capacity to manage the financial implications of climate related risks Blended Finance in the Least Developed Countries 2019 OECD,United Nations Capital Development Fund,2019-07-16 What are the trends in blended finance for LDCs What can it achieve and how The OECD and UNCDF are working together to shed new light on these issues Building on a 2018 publication this edition presents the latest data available on private finance mobilised in developing countries by official development finance extending the previous analysis to cover 2016 and 2017 as well as longer term trends from 2012 to 2017 Understanding the economic and financial impacts of natural disasters Charlotte Benson,Edward J. Clay,2004 The Law and Business of International Project Finance Scott Hoffman,2024-05-06 OECD Development Policy Tools Equitable Framework and Finance for Extractive-based Countries in Transition (EFFECT) OECD,2022-11-15 How can fossil fuel producers and mineral rich developing countries design realistic just and cost effective low carbon transition pathways Taking into account the heterogeneity of low carbon trajectories Equitable Framework and Finance for Extractive based Countries in Transition EFFECT provides options for policy makers industry and finance institutions in search of the answers Financing Energy Projects in Developing Countries Hossein Razavi,2007 An update to his comprehensive 1996 text on project finance in emerging economies Razavi s authoritative new book provides first hand information and analysis of how multilateral bilateral and commercial financiers decide to support an energy project It presents the major changes in the attitudes and orientations of these financiers as they have entered a competitive environment seeking opportunities to do more business in the energy sector of developing countries For every good energy project there is a financier somewhere However creating an attractive project package requires an explicit understanding of the following availability of soft loans credits grants tied and untied loans objectives tendencies and requirements of various financiers possibilities of combining various financial instruments methods of economic financial and risk analysis and mitigation The reader is guided through the process of understanding the fundamentals of project financing getting to know the financiers and developing an acceptable project package Finally some real world case studies demonstrate the intricacies of mobilizing funds for projects in various segments of the energy sector Policy Issues in Insurance Catastrophic Risks and Insurance OECD,2005-07-06 These conference proceedings present academic analysis country reports and financial insurance company assessments on how to handle losses caused by large scale catastrophes including terrorism and atmospheric perils Financial Risk Management Instruments for Renewable Energy Projects United Nations Environment Programme. Division of Technology, Industry, and Economics,2004 Appropriate risk management tools can help remove some of the barriers to financing Renewable Energy Technology RET projects particularly in developing countries where risk and risk perceptions are highest That is why UNEP is working on a comprehensive overview of currently available and potential financial risk management instruments for Renewable Energy Technology RET projects This study will pave the way
