Figurative Non Figurative Narration:

Fn-fn : Figurative Non-figurative Narration ,2003 Similes, Puns and Counterfactuals in Literary Narrative

Jennifer Riddle Harding,2017-04-21 In this study Jennifer Riddle Harding presents a cognitive analysis of three figures of speech that have readily identifiable forms similes puns and counterfactuals Harding argues that when deployed in literary narrative these forms have narrative functions such as the depiction of conscious experiences allegorical meanings and alternative plots uniquely developed by these more visible figures of speech Metaphors by contrast are often invisible in the formal structure of a text With a solid cognitive grounding Harding s approach emphasizes the relationship between figurative forms and narrative effects Harding demonstrates the literary functions of previously neglected figures of speech and the potential for a unified approach to a topic that crosses cognitive disciplines Her work has implications for the rhetorical approach to figures of speech for cognitive disciplines and for the studies of literature rhetoric and narrative

Experience, Narrative, and Criticism in Ancient Greece Jonas Grethlein,Luuk Huitink,Aldo Carlo Fernando

Tagliabue,2020 Drawing on cognitive approaches to literary studies this volume pursues a new approach to ancient Greek narrative that transcends the taxonomies of structuralist narratologies deploying concepts such as immersion and embodiment in order to establish a more comprehensive understanding of ancient Greek narrative and ancient reading habits

Land Buddhism in Japan Galen Amstutz,2020-06-08 Pure Land was one of the main fields of mythopoesis and discourse among the Asian Buddhist traditions and in Japan of central cultural importance from the Heian period right up to the present However its range inconsistency variability and complexity have tended to be misevaluated The pieces reproduced in this set organized both chronologically and thematically have been chosen as linchpin works accentuating the diversity of what evolved under this heading of Buddhism Special attention is given to the traps into which Western observers may fall the role of the large True Pure Land J doshinsh school and the richness of Tokugawa and twentieth century developments

These selections of previously published articles will serve as an essential starting point for anyone interested in this perhaps underestimated area of Buddhist studies

Real and Imagined Women in British Romanticism Gaura Shankar Narayan, 2010

Real and Imagined Women in British Romanticism uses feminist ideology and deconstructive criticism to reconstruct the cultural context embedded in Romantic canonical texts To achieve this end the book undertakes a close textual study of these texts and places them in the intellectual context of Mary Wollstonecraft's critique of culture As a result of intellectual contextualizing as well as theoretical applications the Romantic imagination as represented by William Wordsworth and John Keats emerges as the place where gender division and gender certitude break down This book intervenes in the traditional critical debates about the Romantic imagination to show that the Romantic imagination as set forth in these texts registers the vigorous cultural politics of gender and aesthetics that defined the 1790s and continued to exert influence for decades

Discussing Language Herman Parret, 2017-12-04

No detailed description available for Discussing Language

In Search of (Non)Sense Elżbieta Chrzanowska-Kluczevska, Grzegorz Szpila, 2009-01-14

it would seem natural to assume that the disciplines of literary studies and linguistics should by rights converge regularly to exchange views as each pursues its own goals Is such a convergence possible on the question of sense and nonsense James W Underhill this volume The contributors to the present volume have focused their attention on two sets of problems that are leitmotifs in all the articles gathered Firstly should literary semantics the linguistic study of texts discourses marked with the feature of literariness and poeticalness strive after an interpretation of all such texts at all costs Are all literary texts interpretable How do we cope with such troublesome linguistic phenomena as anomaly deviance and absurdity Aren't we by any chance fascinated by nonsense Do we try to make it at least partly meaningful Is interpretability our default value The introductory article by the renowned scholar Margaret H Freeman is an important voice indeed a manifesto of sorts of literary semanticists in this respect Secondly while trying to answer all these questions well aware of the fact that literary semantics is a fuzzy branch of linguistic studies we have attempted at exploring its borderline zone to see to what extent we have to draw from various theoretical sources Literary semanticists have often proved that they are capable of arguing contrastively in the atmosphere of openness to such neighbouring fields as discourse analysis literary pragmatics and reader response theories narratology literary semiotics and hermeneutics translation studies and very importantly the philosophy of language The authors contributing to this book an international company of regularly cooperating linguists and literary scholars strike a nice balance between the cognitive and the more traditionally or philosophically oriented frameworks of study being a vivid proof that cognitive and other denominations are perfectly capable of fruitful coexistence The volume ends with a short presentation by Radosław Nowakowski already known to academic and artistic audiences in Europe as a creator and propagator of liberature the art of unusual bookmaking the art of the book liberated from our traditional preconceptions We hope that our volume will be of interest to academics and students of literary theory and linguistics alike especially those involved in literary semantics stylistics and poetics Naturally the book is also addressed to members and sympathizers of IALS International Association of Literary Semantics and the readers of Journal of Literary Semantics scattered across the world

The Cambridge History of Judaism: Volume 7, The Early Modern World, 1500-1815 Jonathan Karp, Adam Sutcliffe, 2017-11-30 This seventh volume of The Cambridge History of Judaism provides an authoritative and detailed overview of early modern Jewish history from 1500 to 1815 The essays written by an international team of scholars situate the Jewish experience in relation to the multiple political intellectual and cultural currents of the period They also explore and problematize the modernization of world Jewry over this period from a global perspective covering Jews in the Islamic world and in the Americas as well as in Europe with many chapters straddling the conventional lines of division between Sephardic Ashkenazic and Mizrahi history The most up to date comprehensive and authoritative work in this field currently available this volume will serve as an essential reference tool and ideal point of entry for advanced students and scholars of early modern Jewish history

St. Augustine's Doctrine on the Inspiration and Canonicity of Scripture ... Charles Joseph Costello, 1930 The Semiotic Sphere Thomas A. Sebeok, Jean

Umiker-Sebeok, 2012-12-06 Although semiotics has in one guise or another flourished uninterruptedly since pre Socratic times in the West and important semiotic themes have emerged and developed independently in both the Brahmanic and Buddhist traditions semiotics as an organized undertaking began to bloom only in the 1960s Workshops materialized with a perhaps surprising spontaneity over much of Europe Eastern and Western and in North America Thereafter others quickly surfaced almost everywhere over the literate globe. Different places strategically allied themselves with different legacies but all had a common thrust to aim at a general theory of signs by way of a description of different sign systems, their comparative analysis and their classification. More or less permanent confederations were forged with the most diverse academic disciplines and amazingly varied frameworks were devised suited to the needs of the times and the sites to carry the work of consolidation forward. Bit by bit mutually supportive international networks were put together. Today it can truly be asserted that semiotics has become a global enterprise. This of course is far from saying that the map is uniform or even that world-wide homogeneity is in the least desirable. While our conjoint ultimate goal remains steadily in focus, the multiplicity of avenues available for its realization is inherent in the adventure of the search itself.

Narratology in the Age of Cross-disciplinary Narrative Research Sandra Heinen, Roy Sommer, 2009. Narrative Research has developed into an international and interdisciplinary field. This volume collects fifteen essays which look at narrative and narrativity from various perspectives including literary studies and hermeneutics, cognitive theory and creativity research, metaphor studies and film theory and intermediality.

Daniel Evokes Isaiah G. Brooke Lester, 2015-11-19. Lester argues here that the book of Daniel contains a complex but poetically unified narrative. This can be identified through certain narrative qualities including the allusion to Isaiah throughout which uniquely contributes to the narrative arc. The narrative begins with the inauguration of foreign rule over Israel and concludes with that rule's end. Each stage of the book's composition casts that foreign rule in terms ever more reminiscent of Isaiah's depiction of Assyria. That enemy is first conscripted by God to punish Israel but then arrogates punitive authority to itself until ultimately punished in its turn and destroyed. Each apocalypse in the book of Daniel carries forward in its own way that allusive characterization. Lester thus argues that an allusive poetics can be investigated as an intentional rhetorical trope in a work for which the concept of author is complex, that a narrative criticism can incorporate a critical understanding of composition history. The Daniel resulting from this inquiry depicts Daniel's 2nd century Jewish reader not as suffering punishment for breaking covenant with God but as enduring in covenant faithfulness the last days of the Assyrian arrogator's violent excesses. This narrative problematizes any simplistic narrative conceptions of biblical Israel as ceaselessly rebellious, lending a unique note to conversations about suffering and theodicy in the Hebrew Bible and about anti-Judaic habits in Christian reading of the Hebrew Bible.

NATØ: Narrative Architecture in Postmodern London Claire Jamieson, 2017-01-20. Chronicling the last radical architectural group of the twentieth century, NAT (Narrative Architecture Today) who emerged from the Architectural Association at the start of the 1980s, this book explores the group's work which echoed a wider artistic and literary culture that drew on the specific political, social and physical condition of 1980s London. It traces NAT's identification with a particular stream of post-punk/postmodern expression, a celebration of the abject, an aesthetic of entropy and a do-it-yourself provisionality. NAT has most often been documented in reference to Nigel Coates, the instigator of NAT, which has led to a one-sided, one-dimensional record of NAT's place in architectural history. This book sets out a more detailed contextual history of NAT told through photographs drawings and ephemera restoring a truer polyvocal narrative of the group s ethos and development

Narrative(s) in Conflict Wolfgang Müller-Funk, Clemens Ruthner, 2017-11-07 Narrative s in Conflict presents the proceedings of an international workshop held at the Trinity Long Room Hub Dublin in 2013 to a wider audience This was a cross disciplinary cooperation between the comparative research network Broken Narratives University of Vienna the research strand Identities in Transformation Trinity College Dublin and the Graduate Center for the Study of Culture at the University of Giessen What has brought this informal network together is its credo that theories of narrative should be regarded as an integral part of cultural analysis Choosing exemplary case studies from early Habsburg days up to the the wars and genocides of the 20th century and the post 9 11 War on terror our volume tries to analyze the relation between representation and conflict i e between narrative constructions social historical processes and cultural agon Here it is crucial to state that narratives do not simply and passively mirror conflicts as the conventional realistic paradigm suggests they rather provide a symbolic sense making matrix and even a performative dimension It even can be said that in many cases narratives make conflicts

Routledge Encyclopedia of Narrative Theory David Herman, Manfred Jahn, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource

Why Study Literature? Jan Alber, Kraglund, Rikke Andersen Kraglund, Stefan Iversen, Louise Brix Jacobsen, Reestorff, Camilla Møhring Reestorff, Nielsen, Henrik Skov Nielsen, 2011-10-11 This book presents new ways of thinking about the historical epistemological and institutional role of literature and aims at providing a theoretically well founded basis for what might otherwise be considered a relatively unfounded historical fact i e that both literature and the teaching of literature hold a privileged position in many educational institutions The contributors take their point of departure in the title of the volume and use narratological historical cognitive rhetorical postcolonial and political frameworks to pursue two separate but not necessarily related questions Why literature and Why study This collection brings together theoretical studies and critical analyses on literature as a medium among and compared to other media and includes essays on the physical and mental geography of literature focusing on the consequences and values of its reading and studying
