Commenting first on the lack of inclusion of women in British sports history, the book goes on to examine aspects of women's participation between the late nineteenth century and the mid twentieth century, more broadly. It draws together some of the latest research undertaken by international scholars working in the field and includes case studies about golf, bridge, rowing, figure skating and athletics. Between them the chapters demonstrate that women enjoyed mixed fortunes in sport. They positively highlight the scope of participation as well as the complex interactions and responses that participation generated on account of life stage, social class, ethnicity and national identity across time and place. The incorporated methodological and theoretical approaches invite readers to reconsider existing sport historiography and point to new directions for future research. Bridgeport's General Electric Company completed work on the bazooka on June 14, 1942. On the morning of December 4, 1891, the only four-train collision in American history occurred at the railroad station in East Thompson. Each date on the calendar holds a nugget of knowledge in this celebration of Connecticut state history. The History of Sport in Britain, 1880-1914: The varieties of sport Martin Polley, 2004 This five-volume set is a comprehensive collection of primary sources on sports in the late Victorian and Edwardian eras. At the beginning of the period, few sports were regulated, but by the outbreak of the First World War, organized sports had become an integral part of British cultural, social, and economic life. Specialist Martin Polley has collected articles from a wide range of journals including Blackwood's Magazine, Nineteenth Century, Fortnightly Review, and Contemporary Review, all of which reveal changing middle-class attitudes to sports. The five volumes cover the varieties of sports being promoted, sports and education, commercial and financial aspects of sports, and animals and the globalization of sports through empire. A Graphic History of Sport Andrew Janik, 2017-02-28 Every sport has its legends: THE RUMBLE IN THE JUNGLE, THE BATTLE OF THE SEXES, THE PINE TAR INCIDENT, THE STEEL CURTAIN, PHILADELPHIA, JAMAICA. A Graphic History of Sport presents artist Andrew Janik's survey of the weird and wonderful world of athletic competition. The unforgettable plays and over-the-top personalities, the heated rivalries and storied dynasties all come to vivid life in a series of illustrations filled with subtle wit and a modern design aesthetic. Each illustration is paired with a detailed historic overview as well as surprising stats and trivia, capturing a true sports fan's delight in the games we love to love and the players we love to hate. Leisure Myths and Mythmaking Brett Lashua, Simon Baker, Troy Glover, 2022-11-10 This book centralizes powerful leisure stories that may otherwise be understood as myths, sometimes recognized, often less so, that circulate in the field of leisure studies and beyond. In everyday use, a myth perpetuates a popularly held belief that is false or untrue. However, in social and cultural theories, myths are more complex as partial truths that privilege particular versions of a shared social reality. We see myth as having an absent presence in leisure studies and want to know what myths are, what they do, and how they circulate and shape people's leisure lives. Myths can do more than obfuscate; they often animate people's lives, motivate collective action, and inspire change. As the chapters in this edited volume explore in further detail, leisure myths and mythmaking involve complex relations in the gaps between reality and imagination from the shared myths of musical legends to myths of placemaking and communities as well as from origin myths of sport practices to fantasy and festivals to the importance of storytelling as mythmaking in tourism In different ways each of these chapters alerts the readers to the absent presence of myths and mythmaking in leisure research The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Leisure Sciences
