Arizona's Deadliest Gunfight Heidi J. Osselaer,2018-05-03 On a cold winter morning Jeff Power was lighting a fire in his remote Arizona cabin when he heard a noise grabbed his rifle and walked out the front door Someone in the dark shouted Throw up your hands Shots rang out from inside and outside the cabin and when it was all over Jeff s sons Tom and John emerged to find the sheriff and his two deputies dead and their father mortally wounded Arizona's deadliest shoot out happened not in 1881 but in 1918 as the United States plunged into World War I and not in Tombstone but in a remote canyon in the Galiuro Mountains northeast of Tucson Whereas previous accounts have portrayed the gun battle as a quintessential western feud historian Heidi J Osselaer explodes that myth and demonstrates how the national debate over U S entry into the First World War divided society at its farthest edges creating the political and social climate that lead to this tragedy A vivid thoroughly researched account Arizona's Deadliest Gunfight describes an impoverished family that wanted nothing to do with modern civilization Jeff Power had built his cabin miles from the nearest settlement yet he could not escape the federal government's expanding reach The Power men were far from violent criminals but Jeff had openly criticized the Great War and his sons had failed to register for the draft To separate fact from dozens of false leads and conspiracy theories Osselaer traced the Power family's roots back several generations interviewed descendants of the shoot out's participants and uncovered previously unknown records What happened to Tom and John Power afterward is as stirring and tragic a story as the gunfight itself Weaving together a family based local history with national themes of wartime social discord rural poverty and dissent Arizona's Deadliest Gunfight will be the authoritative account of the 1918 incident and the memorable events that unfolded in its wake

Doing What the Day Brought Mary Logan Rothschild, Pamela Claire Hronek, 2015-10-19 I've seen many changes during the years says Irene Bishop from horse and buggy to automobiles and planes from palm leaf fans to refrigeration They talk about the good old days but I do not want to go back I'd like to go back about twenty years but not beyond that Life was too hard Drawing on interviews with twenty nine individuals Doing What the Day Brought examines the everyday lives of women from the late nineteenth century to the present day and demonstrates the role they have played in shaping the modern Arizona community Focusing on ordinary women the book crosses race ethnic religious economic and marital lines to include Arizona women from diverse backgrounds Rather than simply editing each woman's words Rothschild and Hronek have analyzed these oral histories for common themes and differences and have woven portions into a narrative that gives context to the individual lives The resulting life course format moves naturally from childhood to home life community service and participation in the work force and concludes with reflections on changes witnessed in the lifetimes of these women For the women whose lives are presented here it may have been common to gather dead saguaro cactus ribs to make outdoor fires to boil laundry water or to give birth on a dirt floor Their stories capture not only changes in a state where history has overlooked the role of women but the changing roles of American women over the course of this century

Hell on the Range Daniel Justin Herman, 2010-11-18 In this lively account of Arizona's Rim Country War of the 1880s what others have called The Pleasant Valley War Historian Daniel Justin Herman explores a web of conflict involving Mormons Texas cowboys New Mexican sheepherders Jewish merchants and mixed blood ranchers At the heart of Arizona's range war argues Herman was a conflict between cowboys code of honor and Mormons code of conscience
