

Stripping Transparent Materials

The Purpose of Stripping: Mechanical stripping is the process of assembling all pieces of film containing images that will be carried on the same printing plate and securing them on a masking sheet that will hold them in their appropriate printing positions during the platemaking process.

The assembled masking sheet with pieces of film attached is called flat.

The flat is generally tested on some inexpensive photosensitive material to check image positions and to ensure that no undesired light reaches the plate. This process is called proof.
