Shakespeare, Film Studies, and the Visual Cultures of Modernity A. Guneratne,2016-04-30 This book is the first in depth cultural history of cinema s polyvalent and often contradictory appropriations of Shakespearean drama and performance traditions The author argues that these adaptations have helped shape multiple aspects of film from cinematic style to genre and narrative construction Filming Shakespeare's Plays Anthony Davies,1990-06-29 Shakespeare s plays provide wonderfully challenging material for the film maker While acknowledging that dramatic experiences for theatre and cinema audiences are significantly different this book reveals some of the special qualities of cinema s dramatic language in the film adaptations of Shakespeare s plays by four directors Laurence Olivier Orson Welles Peter Brook and Akira Kurosawa each of whom has a distinctly different approach to a film representation Davies begins his study with a comparison of theatrical and cinematic space showing that the dramatic resources of cinema are essentially spatial The central chapters focus on Laurence Olivier s Henry V Hamlet and Richard III Orson Welles Macbeth Othello and Chimes at Midnight Peter Brook s King Lear and Akira Kurosawa s Throne of Blood Davies discusses the dramatic problems posed by the source plays for these films for the film maker and he examines how these films influenced later theatrical stagings He concludes with an examination of the demands that distinguish the work of the Shakespearean stage actor from that of his counterpart in film

Agincourt Anne Curry,2015 The story of Agincourt one of the most iconic battles in English history how it was fought how it has been remembered and what it has come to mean Shakespeare and the Middle Ages Martha W. Driver,Sid

Ray,2014-01-10 Every generation reinvents Shakespeare for its own needs imagining through its particular choices and emphases the Shakespeare that it values The man himself was deeply involved in his own kind of historical reimagining This collection of essays examines the playwright s medieval sources and inspiration and how they shaped his works With a foreword by Michael Almereyda director of the Hamlet starring Ethan Hawke and dramaturge Dakin Matthews these thirteen essays analyze the ways in which our modern understanding of medieval life has been influenced by our appreciation of Shakespeare s plays Cinematic Shakespeare Michael A. Anderegg,2004 Michael Anderegg investigates how

Shakespeare films constitute an exciting ever changing film genre He looks closely at films by Olivier Welles Branagh as well as postmodern Shakespeares multiple adaptations over the years of Romeo and Juliet Inscribing the Hundred Years' War in French and English Cultures Denise Nowakowski Baker,2000-09-28 This book explores the intersection of the Hundred Years War and the production of vernacular literature in France and England Reviewing a range of prominent works that address the war including those by Deschamps Christine de Pizan Gower Langland and Chaucer as well as anonymous texts and the records of Joan of Arc s trial Inscribing the Hundred Years War In French and English Cultures demonstrates the ways in which late medieval authors responded to the immediate sociopolitical pressures and participated in the debates about the war Approaches to the American Musical Robert Lawson-Peebles,1996 This new analysis of American film and stage musicals puts forward the argument that productions such as Kiss Me Kate were popular because they dealt with important issues such as ethnicity rather than because of their value as escapism Interpreting Shakespeare on Screen Hester Bradley,2000-12-02 This book explores Shakespeare films as interpretations of Shakespeare's plays as well as interpreting the place of Shakespeare on screen within the classroom and within the English curriculum Shakespeare on screen is evaluated both in relation to the play texts and in relation to the realms of popular film culture The book focuses on how Shakespeare is manipulated in film and television through the representation of violence gender sexuality race and nationalism Cartmell discusses a wide range of films including Orson Welles' Othello 1952 Kenneth Branagh's Much Ado About Nothing 1993 Peter Greenaway's Prospero's Books 1991 Baz Luhrmann's William Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet 1996 and John Madden's Shakespeare in Love 1998 Film as Literature, Literature as Film Harris Ross,1987-06-11 This work discusses the relationship between film and literature explaining and evaluating the issues most frequently raised on the subject It also lists nearly 2 500 articles and books published from 1908 to 1985 on the comparison of film to drama fiction and poetry These comparisons arose shortly after the first appearance of moving pictures as writers attempted to establish the differences between movies and drama The study has since grown into a significant scholarly concern The Reel Shakespeare Lisa S. Starks,Courtney Lehmann,2002 This collection models an approach to Shakespeare and cinema that is concerned with the other side of Shakespeare's Hollywood celebrity taking the reader on a practical and theoretical tour through important non mainstream films and the oppositional messages they convey The collection includes essays on early silent adaptations of Hamlet Greenway's Prospero's Books Godard's King Lear Hall's A Midsummer Night's Dream Taymor's Titus Polanski's Macbeth Welles' Chimes at Midnight and Van Sant's My Own Private Idaho Reality Transformed Irving Singer,2000-08-25 A new look at film that succeeds in combining the realist and formalist sides of an ongoing debate In Reality Transformed Irving Singer offers a new approach to the philosophy of film Returning to the classical debate between realists and formalists he shows how the opposing positions may be harmonized and united Singer concentrates on questions about appearance and reality the visual and the literary and the interplay between communication as a goal and alienation as a hazard in films of every sort In three exemplary chapters he provides suggestive readings of Woody Allen's The Purple Rose of Cairo Luchino Visconti's Death in Venice and Jean Renoir's The Rules of the Game Reality Transformed will interest the general reader as well as students in all fields related to film studies Shakespearean Films/Shakespearean Directors Peter S. Donaldson,2013-07-18 Originally published in 1990 this book brought a new rigor and subtlety to the interpretation of film adaptations of Shakespeare Drawing on traditional literary analysis psychoanalysis and current film theory about gender and subjectivity the author combines close readings of seven films with historical and biographical studies of the directors who made them Offering substantial readings of Jean Luc Godard's controversial deconstructed King Lear and of Liz White's independent African American Othello Donaldson also applies his provocative and contemporary point of view to more familiar films He reads Olivier's Henry V in relation to its treatment of sexual difference Olivier's Hamlet in part as an expression of the director's childhood sexual trauma Kurosawa's Throne of Blood as an allegory of the relationship between Western and Japanese cinema and Zeffirelli's immensely popular Romeo and Juliet in the light of its powerful homoerotic subtext With striking perspectives on Shakespeare on the movies as an expressive medium and on the complex processes of cultural change this is timeless useful reading for teachers and students of film and literature

Shakespeare and the Moving Image Anthony Davies, Stanley Wells, 1994 Towards the end of the 1980s it looked as if television had displaced cinema as the photographic medium for bringing Shakespeare to the modern audience In recent years there has been a renaissance of Shakespearian cinema including Kenneth Branagh's Henry V and Much Ado About Nothing Franco Zeffirelli's Hamlet Peter Greenaway's Prospero's Books and Christine Edzard's As You Like It In this volume a range of writers study the best known and most entertaining film television and video versions of Shakespeare's plays Particular attention is given to the work of Olivier Zeffirelli and Kurosawa and to the BBC Television series In addition the volume includes a survey of previous scholarship and an invaluable filmography

The End Crowns All Barbara Hodgdon, 2014-07-14 In this bold reconceptualization of Shakespeare's histories as plays that ultimately generate and seek to legitimize new kings Barbara Hodgdon examines how closure contests as well as celebrates power relations dominant in late Elizabethan and early Jacobean society particularly those between sovereign and subjects Taking a broad view of closure as a developing process in which narrative structures generic signs and rhetorical conventions play contributory and often contradictory roles she also considers how theatrical representations interpret or reinterpret closural features to recuperate and redirect their social energies By giving special emphasis to theatrical reproduction as a form of textuality and to the intertextual relations between drama and other forms of history writing Hodgdon situates performance as a type of new historicism and shows how theatrical productions like critical discourse participate in cultural work Through a study of playtexts and selected performance texts she negotiates between the critical and theatrical guises of Shakespeare to assess how past and present day theatrical practice has appropriated his work to serve particular institutional and social practices Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Past and Present James Chapman, 2005-09-23 This ground breaking book takes as its focal point director Ken Loach's view that The only reason to make films that are a reflection on history is to talk about the present In the first book to take on this major genre in all its complexity James

Chapman argues that historical films say as much about the times in which they are made as about the past they purport to portray Through in depth case studies of fourteen key films spanning the 1930s up to the turn of the twenty first century from The Private Life of Henry VIII and Zulu to Chariots of Fire and Elizabeth Chapman examines the place of historical films in British cinema history and film culture Looking closely at the issues that they present from gender class and ethnicity to militarism and imperialism he also discusses controversies over historical accuracy and the ways in which devices such as voice overs title captions and visual references to photographs and paintings assert a sense of historical verisimilitude Exploring throughout the book the dialectical relationship between past and present Chapman reveals how such films promote British achievements but also sometimes question them and how they project images of Britishness to audiences both in the UK and internationally

Books in Motion Mireia Aragay, 2005 Books in Motion addresses the hybrid interstitial field of film adaptation The introductory essay integrates a retrospective survey of the development of adaptation studies with a forceful argument about their centrality to any history of culture any discussion that is of the transformation and transmission of texts and meanings in and across cultures The thirteen especially composed essays that follow organised into four sections headed Paradoxes of Fidelity Authors Auteurs Adaptation Contexts Intertexts Adaptation and Beyond Adaptation variously illustrate that claim by problematising the notion of fidelity highlighting the role played by adaptation in relation to changing concepts of authorship and auteurism exploring the extent to which the intelligibility of film adaptations is dependent on contextual and intertextual factors and making a claim for the need to transcend any narrowly defined concept of adaptation in the study of adaptation Discussion ranges from adaptations of established classics like A Tale of Two Cities Frankenstein Henry V Le temps retrouvé Mansfield Park Pride and Prejudice The Dead or Wuthering Heights to contemporary popular texts films like Bridget Jones's Diary Fools The Governess High Fidelity The Hours The Orchid Thief Adaptation the work of Doris D rrie the first Harry Potter novel film or the adaptations made by Alfred Hitchcock Stanley Kubrick and Walt Disney This book will appeal to both a specialised readership and to those accessing the dynamic field of adaptation studies for the first time

Gedoodles Harry M. Geduld, 2012-01-23 Gedoodles is the first of Harry Gedulds two volumes of mainly comic verse It also contains a revised Obituary written by himself and a short story entitled The Keepsake

Shakespeare's History Plays A. J. Hoenselaars, 2004-09-23 This volume with a foreword by Dennis Kennedy addresses a range of attitudes to Shakespeare's English history plays in Britain and abroad from the early seventeenth century to the present day It concentrates on the play texts as well as productions translations and adaptations of them The essays explore the multiple points of intersection between the English history they recount and the experience of British and other national cultures establishing the plays as genres not only relevant to the political and cultural history of Britain but also to the history of nearly every nation worldwide The plays have had a rich international reception tradition but critics and theatre historians abroad those practising foreign Shakespeare have tended to ignore these plays in favour of the comedies and tragedies By presenting the British and foreign Shakespeare traditions side by side this volume seeks to promote a more finely integrated world Shakespeare
