Filmguide to La Passion de Jeanne D'Arc David Bordwell,1973      The Religious Film Pamela Grace,2009-05-11 From The Gospel According to Matthew to Jesus ChristSuperstar from The Passion of Joan of Arc to TheLast Temptation of Christ and Jesus of Montreal TheReligious Film captures the glory gore and centrality of thisimportant genre A short accessible introduction to religious film exploringthe genre as spectacle as musical and as controversy Examines the historical cultural and critical background forreligious films from the silent era through to the presentday Introduces the complexities and characteristics of this iconicgenre of film including common sounds and images and the values that most traditional films of this kind uphold      Cinema Medievalia Kevin J. Harty,Scott Manning,2024-11-11 This collection of original essays presents new scholarship on nearly three dozen feature length films including silent films animated films films in black and white and films in technicolor along with other shorter examples of cinematic medievalism Written by contributors from around the globe with a wide variety of backgrounds the essays in this volume take a critical approach to one of the most popular forms of medievalism This book presents a full century of cinematic depictions of the Middle Ages with new examinations of works such as The Seventh Seal God s Fool La Passion de Jeanne d Arc Saladin the Victorious Dante s Inferno An Animated Epic and A Knight s Tale among others      Paul Tillich and the Possibility of Revelation through Film Jonathan Brant,2012-01-26 Since the birth of cinema at the end of the nineteenth century religion and film have been entwined The Jesus story and other religious narratives were the subject matter of some of the earliest cinema productions and this relationship has continued into the present A recent proliferation of texts conferences and courses bear witness to burgeoning academic interest in the relation between religion and film In this study Jonathan Brant explores the possibility that even films lacking religious subject matter might have a religious impact upon their viewers the possibility of revelation through film The book begins with a reading of Paul Tillich s theology of revelation through culture and continues with a qualitative research project which grounds this theoretical account in the experiences of a group of filmgoers The empirical research takes place in Latin America where the intellectual puzzle and central research questions that drive the thesis arose and developed Brant combines theoretical and empirical research in order to provide fresh insights into the way in which film functions and impacts its viewers and also offers an unusual perspective on the strengths and weaknesses of Tillich s theology of revelation which is seen to focus on the saving and healing power of revelation rather than its communicative content The grounding of the theory by the empirical data results in an increased appreciation of the sensitivity of Tillich s theology to the uniqueness of each film to viewer encounter and the data also suggests a new construal of the revelatory potential of film that is related to the community rather than the individual and to sustained life practice rather than momentary experience Brant reasons that Tillich s account is sensitive and compelling precisely because of its phenomenological attentiveness to real life experience notably Tillich s own experience of the power of art However Brant

also suggests that it might be helpful to identify a stronger link than Tillich allows between the subject matter of the artwork the content of revelation and the effect of revelation

John Aberth, 2012-10-02 Imagining the Middle Ages is an unprecedented examination of the historical content of films depicting the medieval period from the 11th to the 15th centuries Historians increasingly feel the need to weigh in on popular depictions of the past since so much of the public's knowledge of history comes from popular mediums Aberth dissects how each film interpreted the period offering estimations of the historical accuracy of the works and demonstrating how they project their own contemporary era's obsessions and fears onto the past
