Spy Television Wesley Britton, 2004-01-30 For half a century television spies have been trained professionals reluctant heroes housewives businessmen criminals and comedians They have by turns been glamorous campy reflective sexy and aloof This is the first book length treatment of one of TV s oldest and most fascinating genres Britton s comprehensive guide provides readers from casual viewers to die hard fans with behind the scenes stories to this notable segment of television entertainment From the early 1960s in which television spies were used essentially as anti Communist propaganda through the subsequent years that both built upon and parodied this model and finally to today s gadget laden world of murky motives and complex global politics spy television has served as much more than mere escapism From the beginning television spies opened doors for new kinds of heroes Women quickly took center stage alongside men and minority leads in spy programs paved the way for other kinds of roles on the small screen For half a century television spies have been trained professionals reluctant heroes housewives businessmen criminals and comedians They have by turns been glamorous campy reflective sexy and aloof This is the first book length treatment of one of TV s oldest and most fascinating genres

The Immortal

Marilyn John De Vito, Frank Tropea, 2006-12-07 From the late 1940s to the early 60s Marilyn Monroe appeared in barely thirty movies beginning with bit parts and moving on into supporting roles for such films as The Asphalt Jungle All About Eve and Clash by Night She soon shot to international fame and gained prominent roles in a number of classics like The Seven Year Itch Gentlemen Prefer Blondes and Some Like It Hot By the time of her early death in 1962 she had already become established as one of the great icons of the silver screen Even early in her career Monroe had been a source of inspiration for playwrights filmmakers and others looking to cash in on her tremendous impact In The Immortal Marilyn The Depiction of an Icon authors John DeVito and Frank Tropea chronicle the many representations of Marilyn Monroe in the performing arts from the 1950s to the present day In a decade by decade review the authors examine how Marilyn is portrayed in four distinct modes as herself as a Roman Clef character as a referent and as a documentary subject By looking closely at these individual works the authors reveal the ways in which her persona her history and most of all her image have been appropriated for both fact and fiction From an episode of I Love Lucy to Arthur Miller s play The Fall from adaptations of works by Norman Mailer and Joyce Carol Oates to an ever growing list of documentaries Monroe has been the subject of countless depictions on stage screen radio and television Monroe is adored imitated and idolized and the enormous amount of material written about her either directly or indirectly proves that she will continue to be a source of interest and speculation The first real analysis of all the many complex meanings that Marilyn Monroe has come to assume this book attempts to encapsulate and understand the enormous influence the actress had on the public and the wide range of creative talents who found her such an intriguing subject

Vow Wendy Plump, 2014-01-02 Disarmingly honest beautifully insightful Crack open

Vow and prepare to be quickly carried away by Plump's vivid prose so close you can hear its voice and suspenseful storytelling skills. Redbook magazine      All Roads Lead to Calvary Jerome Klapka Jerome, 2015-06-08 This volume contains Jerome Klapka Jerome's 1919 novel All Roads Lead to Calvary. The story revolves around a fisherman MP who gives up his career and mistress when his lowly wife consumes poison. An intriguing and masterful piece of literature. All Roads Lead to Calvary is a must read for fans of Jerome's work and it would make for a great addition to any collection. Jerome Klapka Jerome 1859-1927 was an English writer and humorist. He is most famous for his comic travelogue Three Men in a Boat 1889. Many vintage texts such as this are increasingly scarce and expensive and it is with this in mind that we are republishing this book now in an affordable high quality modern edition. It comes complete with a specially commissioned biography of the author.

Ghost Camera Darcy Coates, 2024-07-30 When Jenine finds an abandoned polaroid camera she playfully snaps a photo without a second thought. But there's something wrong with the image: a ghostly figure stands in the background watching her. Fixated on her, moving one step closer with every picture she takes. Desperate, Jenine shares her secret with her best friend Bree. Together they realize the camera captures unsettling impressions of the dead. But now the ghosts seem to be following the two friends. And with each new photo taken, a terrible danger grows ever clearer. DISCOVER CHILLING NEW BONUS STORIES INCLUDING A woman survives a plane crash in a remote arctic tundra accompanied only by a stranger who seems fixated on something moving through the blinding snow. A house stands empty. Hungry. Waiting for the children drawn to it like moths to a flame. A woman finds a shoebox filled with old VHS tapes. They have a note attached: Don't watch. You'll regret it. And more.      South American Cinema Timothy Barnard, Peter Rist, 2013-08-21 First Published in 1996. This text looks at the cinema from the countries of Argentina, Brazil, Canada, Chile, Colombia, Cuba, United States, Uruguay, and Venezuela. Presented by country and date order, it includes the silent black and white Gaucho films of 1915 to the colour films coming out of Venezuela in 1991. Each entry provides a summary of the film, content, its context, production, and significance in the genre. It includes an index and glossary of Brazilian, Portuguese, or African terms and film terms.      Emotional Harmony Kent D. Fisher, 2025-04-24 Emotional Harmony is about learning how to choose one's attitude not simply as a conscious behavioral choice but as a hardwired neurological response to any given set of circumstances. Life is messy and many people, particularly those with addiction and codependency problems, were never given the tools to negotiate that messiness. Since Kent Fisher and Michelle Rappaport opened their therapeutic practice almost twenty years ago, they have seen thousands of people who have spent their whole lives emotionally deregulated, responding to life with either aggression or passivity. Their job is to teach these people how to live within the emotional regulated space of choice and repair. Drawing on their private practice reconstruction experiences and the research of Patrick Carnes, Dan Siegel, Sharon Stanley, and others, Kent and Michelle have developed a process of repair and renegotiation of the past and a harmonious way to respond to the present. With the SomEx model, change happens through 5 simple actions that evolve through the therapeutic relationship. For therapist and client alike Emotional Harmony is the first book to merge the science of somatic therapies with the real world applications of experiential healing By integrating the left brain s meaning making and rationalization of our life experience with the right hemisphere s somatic processing of trauma and its consequences we move from that messy life story into the deep repair that is emotional harmony     The Colorado School Journal ,1912     Remaking English Society Alexandra Shepard,Steve Hindle,John Walter,2015 Written by leading authorities the volume can be considered a standard work on seventeenth century English social history A tribute to the work of Keith Wrightson Remaking English Society re examines the relationship between enduring structures and social change in early modern England Collectively the essays in the volume reconstruct the fissures and connections that developed both within and between social groups during the sixteenth seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Focusing on the experience of rapid economic and demographic growth and on related processes of cultural diversification the contributors address fundamental questions about the character of English society during a period of decisive change Prefaced by a substantial introduction which traces the evolution of early modern social history over the last fifty years these essays each of them written by a leading authority not only offer state of the art assessments of the historiography but also represent the latest research on a variety of topics that have been at the heart of the development of the new social history and its cultural turn gender relations and sexuality governance and litigation class and deference labouring relations neighbourliness and reciprocity and social status and consumption STEVE HINDLE is W M Keck Foundation Director of Research at the Huntington Library San Marino California ALEXANDRA SHEPARD is Reader in History University of Glasgow JOHN WALTER is Professor of History University of Essex Contributors Helen Berry Adam Fox H R French Malcolm Gaskill Paul Griffiths Steve Hindle Craig Muldrew Lindsay O Neill Alexandra Shepard Tim Stretton Naomi Tadmor John Walter Phil Withington Andy Wood     Learning a Trade Reynolds Price,1998 This journal offers a rich reward for those seeking to enter the guild of writers as well as those intrigued by the process of the literary life Price is the award winning author of 30 books and is a regular broadcast commentator for NPR s All Things Considered     Utopian Generations Nicholas Brown,2009-01-10 Utopian Generations develops a powerful interpretive matrix for understanding world literature one that renders modernism and postcolonial African literature comprehensible in a single framework within which neither will ever look the same African literature has commonly been seen as representationally na ve vis vis modernism and canonical modernism as reactionary vis vis postcolonial literature What brings these two bodies of work together argues Nicholas Brown is their disposition toward Utopia or the horizon of a radical reconfiguration of social relations Grounded in a profound rethinking of the Hegelian Marxist tradition this fluently written book takes as its point of departure the partial displacement during the twentieth century of capitalism s internal limit classically conceived as the conflict between labor and capital onto a geographic division of labor and wealth Dispensing with whole genres of commonplace contemporary pieties Brown examines works from both sides of this division to create a dialectical mapping of different modes of Utopian aesthetic practice The theory of world literature developed in the introduction grounds the subtle and powerful readings at the heart of the book focusing on works by James Joyce Cheikh Hamidou Kane Ford Madox Ford Chinua Achebe Wyndham Lewis Ngugi wa Thiong'o and Pepetela A final chapter arguing that this literary dialectic has reached a point of exhaustion suggests that a radically reconceived notion of musical practice may be required to discern the Utopian desire immanent in the products of contemporary culture

The Sound of Loneliness Jud Sage, 2015-09-11 Stan Pearson a successful wealthy stock broker recently divorced from an unfaithful wife suddenly leaves his position with a top national firm to engage in a period of introspection His three adult children a son and two daughters one of whom is expecting his first grandchild stay close as their father searches for answers to life's problems and challenges His former college roommate the dean of students at an elite Virginia University offers him a position teaching business to students in their MBA program He accepts the challenge A lovely young graduate student and fellow faculty member who taught high school for several years and is working on her doctorate offers Stan advice and the two become friends and eventually lovers When the company he left offers him a top position he struggles to decide whether to accept it wondering whether the young woman he loves will join him at the head of a large company in the center of New York's financial district Their love is tested to the limits

Biggles in France Captain W. E. Johns, 2024-07-22 Biggles makes a name for himself as a crack fighter pilot The insanity of World War One shows no sign of letting up and for the pilots of 266 Squadron the missions over No Man's Land continue But not one to let a bad situation get him down Biggles and his pals find ways to keep themselves entertained From rustling a turkey for Christmas dinner to staging competitions to see who can drop propaganda leaflets furthest over the Lines the pilots revel in the thrills of flying But tragedy is never far away in wartime When a British pilot is killed in cold blood Biggles joins his comrades to seek revenge A classic set of Biggles adventures Chocks away

Pan-Africanism from Within Ras Makonnen, 2017-08-12 A Guyanese by birth and a Kenyan by citizenship Ras Makonnen would still regard these two aspects of his life as accidents of history his roots and destiny are in the continent of Africa For the last half of the twentieth century he has striven along with the other major architects of pan Africanism to reconcile the forces that still divide the continent This volume is a further contribution to that struggle Makonnen's analysis of the pan African movement starts in the former British Guiana Guyana in the early twenties warms up to the North American scene where as a young man he got increasingly more aware of the African and diasporic African person's position in world history He then describes his days in London and Manchester from the mid thirties to the fifties Accra Ghana until the fall of Kwame Nkrumah in 1966 and thereafter Nairobi Kenya where he worked and made his transition Although the narrative is peppered with the most delightful character sketches of early African and other Black leaders the author's main concern is to interpret the quality of life amongst Black people at home and abroad He does so by employing a wide historical perspective and by infusing into his study of particular pan African actors his knowledge of the intellectual and political climate at large He produces in the process a vivid participator s commentary on whole areas that have been quite neglected in conventional studies of pan Africanism Black intergroup relations in North America and the African diaspora in the Caribbean race relations in Britain Black intellectuals and the white Left Black expatriates and African socialism these are just a few of the themes examined against a background of individual famous personalities as well as others not documented before With an autobiographical thread that runs throughout Makonnens s narrative is a uniquely diversified pan African portrait

George Gershwin Walter Rimler, 2011-02-16 George Gershwin lived with purpose and gusto but with melancholy as well for he was unable to make a place for himself no family of his own and no real home in music He and his siblings received little love from their mother and no direction from their father Older brother and lyricist Ira managed to create a home when he married Leonore Strunsky a hard edged woman who lived for wealth and status The closest George came to domesticity was through his longtime relationship with Kay Swift She was his lover musical confidante and fellow composer But she remained married to another man while he went endlessly from woman to woman Only in the final hours of his life when they were separated by a continent did he realize how much he needed her Fatally ill unprotected by and perhaps estranged from Ira he was exiled by Leonore from the house she and the brothers shared and he died horribly and alone at the age of thirty eight Nor was Gershwin able to find a satisfying musical harbor For years his songwriting genius could be expressed only in the ephemeral world of show business as his brilliance as a composer of large scale works went unrecognized by highbrow music critics When he resolved this quandary with his opera Porgy and Bess the critics were unable to understand or validate it Decades would pass before this his most ambitious composition was universally regarded as one of music s lasting treasures and before his stature as a great composer became secure In George Gershwin An Intimate Portrait Walter Rimler makes use of fresh sources including newly discovered letters by Kay Swift as well as correspondence between and interviews with intimates of Ira and Leonore Gershwin It is written with spirited prose and contains more than two dozen photographs     Motor Age ,1905     MotorBoating ,1952-11
