Financial Exclusion:

Financial Exclusion S. Carbó,E. Gardner,Philip Molyneux,2015-12-17 This text is concerned with the increasingly important and problematic area of financial exclusion broadly defined as the inability and or reluctance of particular societal groups to access mainstream financial services This has emerged as a major international policy issue There is growing evidence that deregulation in developed financial sectors improves financial inclusion for some societal groups more products become available to a bigger customer base but may at the same time exacerbate it for others for example by emphasizing greater customer segmentation and more emphasis on risk based pricing and value added In developing countries access to financial services is typically limited and therefore providing wider access to such services can aid financial and economic development This is the first text to analyze financial exclusion issues in different parts of the world and it covers the various public and private sector mechanisms that have been advanced to help eradicate this problem

Financial Exclusion in Ireland Caroline Corr,2006 Combat Poverty Agency Policy Statement: Tackling Financial Exclusion in Ireland (2008) , Financial Exclusion and the Poverty Trap Pamela Lenton,Paul Mosley,2012-02-27 The persistence of poverty hurts us all and attacking poverty is a major policy objective everywhere In Britain the main political parties have an anti poverty mandate and in particular an agreed commitment to eliminate child poverty by 2020 but there is controversy over how this should be done This book addresses one of the main causes of poverty financial exclusion the inability to access finance from the high street banks People on low or irregular incomes typically have to resort to loan sharks doorstep lenders and other informal credit sources a predicament which makes escape from the poverty trap doubly difficult Over the last fifteen years a strategy of breaking down the poverty trap has been implemented known in the UK as community development financial institutions CDFIs typically non profit lending institutions focussed on the financially excluded and seeking to learn from the achievements of microfinance around the world Focussing on the period 2007 09 during which the UK went into a global recession this book investigates how CDFIs work and how well they have helped low income people and businesses to weather that recession Based on a study of eight CDFIs in four UK cities we ask what ideas for overcoming financial exclusion have worked well and which have worked badly What can we learn from the experience of these CDFIs which can help reduce poverty in this country and globally We assess the impact of CDFIs using a range of indicators including income assets education health and ask what changes in policy by both CDFIs and government agencies for example benefits agencies might be able to increase impact Some of the key lessons are CDFIs need to work with appropriate partners to build up savings capacity in their clients the community environment is vital in determining who escapes from the poverty trap and CDFIs can never function properly unless they learn how to control their overdue debts This book will be vital reading for those concerned with social policy microfinance and anti poverty policies in industrialised countries and around the world The Routledge Companion to Financial Services Marketing Tina Harrison,Hooman

Estelami,2014-12-05 Interest in Financial Services Marketing has grown hugely over the last few decades particularly since the financial crisis which scarred the industry and its relationship with customers It reflects the importance of the financial services industry to the economies of every nation and the realisation that the consumption and marketing of financial services differs from that of tangible goods and indeed many other intangible services This book is therefore a timely and much needed comprehensive compendium that reflects the development and maturation of the research domain and pulls together in a single volume the current state of thinking and debate The events associated with the financial crisis have highlighted that there is a need for banks and other financial institutions to understand how to rebuild trust and confidence improve relationships and derive value from the marketing process Edited by an international team of experts this book will provide the latest thinking on how to manage such challenges and will be vital reading for students and lecturers in financial services marketing policy makers and practitioners
