Financial Market Fragmentation And Reforms In Sub Saharan Africa:

Financial Market Fragmentation and Reforms in Sub-Saharan Africa Ernest Aryeetey, 1997-01-01 FIAS Occasional Paper No 9 Many developing countries have made dramatic progress in promoting private sector participation in their infrastructure sectors especially with the help of foreign investors However this has not been the case in Southern and Eastern Africa which have been perceived as relatively unattractive locations for investment This paper describes the state of infrastructure in the region takes stock of actual and potential projects in the various sectors and analyzes the main impediments to private investment in the region s infrastructure services

Evolution of Agricultural Services in Sub-Saharan Africa Venkatachalam Venkatesan, Jacob Kampen, 1998-01-01 This paper traces the evolution of World Bank support to agricultural services particularly agricultural extension and research in Sub Saharan Africa It describes the Bank s experience with the implementation of national programs in agricultural extension and research and how these are evolving to face the problems of the future The paper concludes that participation of the beneficiaries in the design and implementation of programs is critical and will ensure the programs convergence towards rural development

The Impact of Drought on Sub-Saharan African Economies Charlotte Benson, Edward J. Clay, 1998-01-01 Little effort has been made to research the nonagricultural or economywide macroneconomic impact of droughts in Sub Saharan Africa In an effort to fill the gap this paper reports the findings of an exploratory study of the subject It provides insights into the impact of drought in Sub Saharan Africa in the past and suggests policy options for dealing with future droughts

Financial Integration and Development Ernest Aryeetey, Machiko Nissanke, 2005-07-28 This book examines the effects of financial liberalization on development with a particular focus on Sub Saharan Africa and includes studies of Ghana Malawi Nigeria and Tanzania

Soil Fertility Management in Sub-Saharan Africa W. Graeme Donovan, Frank Casey, 1998-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 408 This report is a critical review of the technical economic and institutional constraints on improving soil fertility in Sub Saharan Africa and the actions recommended to address them Action plans prepared for Ghana Kenya Malawi and Mali examine the demand for and supply of mineral fertilizers the exploitation of local mineral resources the prevention of soil erosion and increasing soil water retention and soil fertility management using organic technologies and management practices

Planning the Management, Operation, and Maintenance of Irrigation and Drainage Systems, 1998 This paper provides the basis for the preparation of manuals necessary for managers and staffs to perform needed activities at the proper time The guide provides a comprehensive list of issues that should be addressed in operation and maintenance manuals for irrigation and drainage systems and a listing of published materials and working papers which will assist in the formulation of plans for operation and maintenance The paper serves as a valuable tool to help improve the performance of irrigation and drainage systems and to assist managers in developing and improving effective organizations to serve water consumers better

Designing Rules for Demand-driven Rural Investment Funds Thomas B.

Wiens, Maurizio Guadagni, 1998-01-01 The demand driven rural investment fund DRIF is a new mechanism for decentralizing decisionmaking authority and financial resources to local governments and communities to use for investments of their choice To counteract the local government s weak capacity to choose and implement projects well central governments have often constrained the choices of communities by limiting the types of projects eligible for financing and requiring specific procedures for procurement and disbursement This study explores the extent to which well designed DRIF rules and incentive structures can substitute for central control It looks at the different and often conflicting motivations of donors central governments and communities and explores how rules can be devised to allow actors to achieve their objectives

Subsidies in World Fisheries Matteo Milazzo, 1998-01-01 In the past six years the world s fishery sector has reached a turning point with global fish production reaching a plateau of approximately 100 million tons annually While aquaculture output continued to grow yields from capture fisheries were uneven and showed increasing signs of stagnation because of widespread overfishing and overcapitalization ineffective management deteriorating resource health declining or flat global harvests and inefficient economic and trade policies This paper examines the role of subsidies in fisheries

Financial Liberalization in Developing Countries Abdullahi Dahir Ahmed, Sardar M. N. Islam, 2009-10-03 The recent global nancial crisis has made nancial liberalization a topic of great academic and practical interest This book makes new contributions to the topic by combining fact nding empirical analysis and theory to examine the relationship between nancial liberalization and economic growth Among its contributions the book provides detailed country assessments on the effects of nancial liberalization including its striking impact on the banking sector Although an important goal of nancial deregulation has been to help nancial institutions better perform their role in intermediating resources the book models how deregulation may fail to achieve that goal in countries with underdeveloped nancial markets and institutions For that purpose the book draws on actual experience in Kenya Malawi Botswana and Thailand This book should constitute important reading for students of nancial economics researchers and general academics nancial practitioners policymakers and teachers of economics North Carolina USA Steven L Schwarcz December 2008 Stanley A Star Professor of Law Business Duke University Founding Director Duke Global Capital Markets Center Durham vii Abstract and Preface The latest global nancial and economic crisis of 2008 shows the need to examine the desirability of nancial liberalization and the basis for the view that nancial deregulation by itself cannot be considered as a substitute for better economic management The literature on nancial liberalization has identi ed various mechanisms through which removing controls on interest rates may impact economic growth

Comparative Development Experiences of Sub-Saharan Africa and East Asia Ernest Aryeetey, 2017-11-01 Title first published in 2003 This comprehensive book focuses on the prevailing conditions in Asia and Africa under various macroeconomic and sectoral themes in order to provide in depth explanations for the divergent development experiences of the two regions Seeking to go further than the simple comparison of policies the book carefully examines the institutional context for policy implementation within which growth and development have proceeded in the regions Towards Africa-oriented Risk Analysis Models Korwa Gombe Adar, Richard O. Iroanya, F. O. C. Nwonwu, 2008 Risk analysis studies on Africa conducted by a number of international organisations have addressed a number of complex and interlocking socioeconomic and political issues largely painting a bleak picture of the continent These reports have been used by the Western countries as benchmarks for the flow of donor funds often with disastrous consequences The failure of the Structural Adjustment Programmes SAPs introduced by the Bretton Woods institutions in the 1970s and 1980s serve as a good example Taking cognisance of these interpretations the case studies in this volume have employed appropriate methodological conceptual and theoretical approaches with the objective of reaching balanced assessments on the underlying principles of risk and threat in Africa The authors take a more holistic view clearly defining the concept of risk and its corollaries and going beyond the somewhat limited view of those organisations which apply largely Eurocentric values to their assessments

The Microfinance Revolution Marguerite Robinson, 2001-06-01 Around the world a revolution is occurring in finance for low income people The microfinance revolution is delivering financial services to the economically active poor on a large scale through competing financially self sufficient institutions In a few countries this has already happened in others it is under way The emerging microfinance industry has profound implications for social and economic development For the first time in history capital is well on its way to being democratized The Microfinance Revolution in three volumes is aimed at a diverse readership economists bankers policymakers donors and social scientists microfinance practitioners and specialists in local finance and rural and urban development and members of the general public interested in development This first volume Sustainable Finance for the Poor focuses on the shift from government and donor subsidized credit systems to self sufficient microfinance institutions providing voluntary savings and credit services
