Financial Innovation and Engineering in Islamic Finance Samir Alamad, 2017-04-13 This book provides two important contributions to existing theories in the financial innovation literature First it extends the existing literature of innovation orientation to a completely new field and construct that is based on a religious imperative as a framework within which financial innovation is constrained It explains how an innovation orientation in IFIs can be directed within religious rules which indicates that innovation orientation in IFIs is a learning philosophy Second the book introduces and examines the plasticity of Shariah as a shared boundary object and its dynamic role in managing tension and conflicting values in the financial innovation process Furthermore building on the empirical results the study illustrates the insights that each theoretical lens affords into practices of collaboration and develops a novel analytical framework for understanding religious orientation towards financial innovation This practical contribution of the developed framework could form the basis for a standardised framework for the Islamic finance industry The book concludes by noting the policy and managerial implications of its findings and provides directions for further research

Financial Engineering with Islamic Options Mohammed Obaidullah, 2018 In view of the central role which options play in mainstream financial engineering in design of innovative financial products and management of risk this paper undertakes an Islamic evaluation of options and its role in the Islamic system of financial contracting An Islamic assessment of options as independent contracts in themselves and as embedded features in more complex financial products reveals some interesting possibilities While there is a lack of support among Islamic scholars on the use of options as independent contracts the Islamic system of contracting allows for designing risk management solutions using the framework of khiyar al shart The paper analyzes and discusses the case of a specific Islamic contract istijrar and highlights its possible use in managing certain forms of risk A comparison of istijrar with some conventional financial products shows that some insights from mainstream options related literature may enable the Islamic financial engineer to design the contract in a more efficient manner

Islamic Financial Contracts Hussain Mohi-ud-Din Qadri, Nasir Iqbal, 2021-06-30 Islam encourages business and financial transactions as a way of securing the basic needs for all human beings but these need to be conducted in accordance with the principles contained in the Qur n and Sunnah However these legal concepts are not classified subject wise and the verses on commercial law like all other topics are scattered throughout the Qur n making it difficult for readers to gain a full understanding of the topic This therefore is the first comprehensive book to demystify Islamic contract law and specifically Islamic financial contracts and to

Islamic finance contracts MONZER KAHF,2013-01-01 This book deals with an old subject Islamic Finance contracts Yet it is very new and unique in its approach ideas and arguments The book classifies Islamic finance contracts in three categories the first category consists of seven classical finance contracts whose details are given in the classical writings of Islamic jurisprudence Fiqh although in no other Fiqh publication these contracts are depicted and distinguished as specifically financing contracts The second category consists of what I call traditional hybrid Islamic contracts which came about as a result of the 1970 s startup stage of Islamic banking and the search of Shari ah compliant contracts which fit a process of financial intermediation The third category consists of Islamic finance contracts which came about during the takeoff and open expansion stage of Islamic banking especially in the first decade of the new millennium The uniqueness of the book comes from its approach of blending the legal description conditions and requirements of each Islamic Finance contract with the economic and financial circumstances within which the contract fits and also from the emphasis on the financial consequences of each of the Islamic finance contracts The book is also unique in bringing about comparison with contracts used in the conventional Western style finance transactions It is an attempt of formulating the main elements of a general theory of Islamic finance which is internally coherent and also consistent with other components of Islamic economics Descriptor s ISLAMIC ECONOMICS FINANCING CONTRACTS TRANSACTIONS ISLAMIC JURISPRUDENCE SILENT PARTNERSHIP OWNERSHIP INVESTMENTS PROFITS ISLAMIC BANKS The Islamic Debt Market for Sukuk Securities Mohamed Ariff,Munawar Iqbal,Shamsher Mohamad,2012-01-01 The relatively new sukuk or Islamic debt securities markets have grown to more than US 800 billion over the past decade and continue to grow at a rate of around 20 30 per cent per year Arguably the first of its kind this path breaking book provides a highly unique reference tool relating to key issues surrounding sukuk markets which are found in 12 major financial centres including Kuala Lumpur London and Zurich The internationally renowned contributors present an in depth study of sukuk securities beginning with a

Islamic Banking and Finance Mondher Bellalah,Omar Masood,2013-07-16 Islamic finance is founded on principles that constitute the guidelines governing any Islamic economic or financial dealings Innovative financial engineering today constitutes one of the most critical needs of Islamic financial institutions It represents the forces that will drive Islamic finance toward continuous growth and efficiency The structuring of new financing and Shariah compliant instruments plays an important role in the enhancement of Islamic financial markets and Islamic risk management practices combining basic Shariah compliant financial instruments within Shariah structures to precise identified needs The financial engineering process in Islamic finance is a process that is very sensitive and complex It requires multidisciplinary considerations involving deep knowledge of finance economy Shariah law and commercial law Divergence of opinions among different Shariah scholars and boards as well as the absence or lack of effectiveness of a central regulatory body is perceived as an obstacle to the growth of investment confidence in Islamic finance Hence innovation along with greater uniformity is essential to make Islamic finance an international financial system and to attract a greater number of customers This book addresses the main issues of concern within Islamic banking namely the development of conceptual framework the viability of interest free banking and the assessment of its performance and future In a world where conventional interest based finance is the dominant framework Islamic banking faces many challenges that must be addressed This book discusses these issues and challenges and will be of great interest to both researchers and practitioners It analyses the past experiences of Islamic banks worldwide and provides an objective assessment of their successes and failures

What Is Wrong with Islamic Economics? Muhammad Akram Khan, 2013-01-01 I read with great interest the current state of Islamic economics and finance as examined by Muhammad Akram Khan who has given a fresh outlook for the readers to find out its limitations and to search for its solutions Khan has read widely in the subject matter and presented his views with reference to literature and thoughtful and logical arguments While many may not agree with his arguments or will have a better explanation I find his arguments at least worthy of examination to strengthen the arguments of those who might oppose him Although Khan is critical of the subject matter he is very sympathetic to the greater objectives of Islamic economics and provides his own prescriptions to achieve those objectives M Kabir Hassan University of New Orleans US This is a very thought provoking book coming at a crucial stage in the development of Islamic economics and finance Although the reader may not agree with some of the conclusions reached it is clearly a scholarly and extensively researched piece of work it should be read by all serious students of the subject area Amongst other things it throws light on the reasons why the practical implementation of Islamic economics and finance particularly in relation to the financial system and financial institutions has not always conformed to the true theoretical foundations laid down by Islamic scholars John Presley Loughborough University UK and recipient of

Islamic Development Bank Prize in Islamic Finance 2001 2002 Islamic economic system is a type of capitalism with a spiritual dimension is a major conclusion of this book I applaud this insight of Muhammad Akram Khan The same can be perhaps said of Islamic finance which in its hurry to build viable and efficient financial institutions has ignored the very same need to start with profits and risk sharing principle and no riba principles to build pricing models to anchor the new sub discipline The good news is that in the course of time to come Akram s advocacy may be realised since such serious works have already begun Mohamed Ariff University Putra Malaysia and Bond University Australia Although there are many books on Islamic economics this critical but sympathetic account by Muhammad Akram Khan is worthy of attention The author has clearly read widely on the subject and appreciates the limitations of much that he has read Islamic economics is a work in progress and by focusing on its shortcomings Khan challenges the assumptions of many working in the field His discussion of methodology is insightful and even the prohibition of riba for many the defining characteristic of Islamic finance is examined from a fresh perspective While many will not agree with the analysis and the conclusions even critics should be able to appreciate the strengths of the arguments made In summary this is a worthwhile and in many respects an innovative survey of the state of Islamic economics and finance It deserves to be widely read Rodney Wilson Durham University UK

What is Wrong with Islamic Economics takes an objective look at the state of the art in Islamic economics and finance It analyses reasons for perceived stagnation and also suggests a way forward As well as probing various myths the book presents several innovative ideas and a methodology for developing the subject on new foundations It also highlights weaknesses in the conventional position on prohibition of interest which has led Islamic banks devise a series of legal tricks The author notes how the original aim of devising a new brand of banking has become less prominent whilst Islamic banks now position themselves more closely to conventional banks The book also offers insights into how certain traditional thinking has seemingly ignored the egalitarian spirit of the law of zakah and created a scenario where zakah is not able to help the billions of poor people around the globe This detailed book will appeal to students professors researchers Islamic banks and finance houses consulting companies accounting firms and regulatory bodies Professional economists libraries in research and training organizations as well as anyone with a general interest in the topic will find much to interest them Islamic Microeconomics Lukman Hanif Arbi,M. Ishaq Bhatti,2023-11-01 This book bridges the gap between Islamic and conventional micro economics by demonstrating how modern tools and theories of microeconomics can be applied to Islamic assumptions regarding economics and finance In contrast to the tendency for Islamic economics and finance proponents to use qualitative and normative approaches based on idealistic assumptions this book demonstrates how one can instead construct analytical models of Islamic economics and finance and simply compare the implications with those predominant in today s world This book also offers extensive literature reviews demonstrating that for a long time the gap between Islamic and conventional economics and finance is not as wide as previously thought allowing those with an interest in both fields to participate more effectively and meaningfully in the ongoing discourse between the two fields The authors conceptualize a general approach and apply it to basic consumer theory More advanced microeconomic ideas are then discussed culminating in demonstrations of how contract theory can facilitate a deeper analysis and appreciation of Islamic financial securities A wide spectrum of academic literature on both Islamic and conventional economics and finance is drawn upon to facilitate a better appreciation for both fields and to inspire future works comparing the two in a more objective manner The Sociology of Shari'a:

Case Studies from around the World Adam Possamai, James T Richardson, Bryan S. Turner, 2014-12-04 This edited volume offers a collection of papers that present a comparative analysis of the development of Shari'a in countries with Muslim minorities such as America Australia Germany and Italy as well as countries with Muslim majorities such as Malaysia Bangladesh Turkey and Tunisia The Sociology of Shari'a provides a global analysis of these important legal transformations and analyzes the topic from a sociological perspective It explores examples of non Western countries that have a Muslim minority in their populations including South Africa China Singapore and the Philippines In addition the third part of the book includes case studies that explore some ground breaking theories on the sociology of Shari'a such as the application of Black Chambliss and Eisenstein's sociological perspectives Derivatives in Islamic Finance Sherif Ayoub, 2014-07-16

Shedding light on the way the Islamic finance industry conceptualises the role of financial instruments in a market risk management framework that adheres to the objectives of Islamic jurisprudence Sherif Ayoub explains the issues surrounding the avoidance of Islamic Banking and Finance in the European Union M. Fahim Khan, Mario Porzio, 2010-01-01 As an introduction to the complex issue of harmonization of legal and regulatory structure of the European financial system and Islamic finance this is a useful and welcome volume The ideas insights and practical issues addressed in the informed papers that compose the book should be valuable for academics and students of finance and to those who provide legal and financial services The book will be helpful also to European regulators who have yet to appreciate the importance of Islamic finance and its potential contribution to financial globalization as well as to European economic growth Abbas Mirakhor Former Executive Director International Monetary Fund US This timely book examines the authorization of Shari'ah compliant intermediaries as either credit institutions or as investment companies in the European Union The contributing authors explore the key topics of this area through differing yet parallel perspectives for example comparing economic and legal standpoints looking at both European and national levels and considering both academic and technical approaches The book discusses the common origin of Islamic and Western traditions in commercial and banking transactions reviewing a period in which the Italian merchants and their organizations drove the rebirth of post medieval society in trade and law The editors investigate whether the Islamic banking and financial model complies with the European framework spelling out the different experiences in single Member States Germany France Italy and the United Kingdom Notwithstanding the obstacles to being authorized as domestic credit institutions they conclude that the access of Islamic intermediaries is suitable and may have positive effects on European integration as well as increasing the competition among the stand still operators and evoking the ethical dimension of banking and finance The book also highlights how Islamic banking would make the industry more inclusive This multidisciplinary book will appeal greatly to economics and legal scholars with an interest in European and international banking and financial law as well as postgraduate students in international law and banking law Practitioners and regulators will also find this book an invaluable resource

The Stability of Islamic Finance Hossein Askari,Zamir Iqbal,Noureddine Krichenne,Abbas

Mirakhor,2011-11-09 The Stability of Islamic Finance main focus is on the question of the sources of financial instability which seems inherent in the conventional system As a core component of this focus the book will consider episodes of turbulence and instability in a historical context recalling the occurrence of such events from mid 19th century to the present It will present various theoretical explanations along with solutions and alternative financial systems that avoid instability provided by various scholars dating back to mid 19th century to present The book then will present and discuss the architecture of an Islamic financial system and show that at its core this system shares many characteristics of a stable financial system proposed by Western scholars throughout history to avoid the inherent instability of the present dominant system Particular emphasis will be placed on the present financial crisis and its causes as well the financial crisis of the 1997 in Southeast Asia Russia and Latin America relating these episodes to the fundamental features of the dominant system The debt crisis of the low income countries will also be part of this discussion It will then argue that these crises could be mitigated under an Islamic system or any other system with similar architecture
