Financing Health Services in Developing Countries John S. Akin, Nancy Birdsall, David M. De Ferranti, 1987-01-01
This report discusses several different approaches that support reforming health care services in developing countries For some time now health care services have been supported by government funds As demands for improving health care services continue to increase additional demands will be placed on governments to respond This however will not be easy Slow economic growth and record budget deficits in the 1980 s have forced reductions in public spending Alternative approaches to finance health care services are needed Such possible changes could involve decentralization of federal government involvement the promotion of nongovernment involvement the imposition of user fees and establishing health insurance Finally the role of the Bank in pursuing new financing strategies is discussed Financing Health Services in Developing Countries World Bank. Population, Health, and Nutrition Division, 1986 World Bank Anne C. M. Salda, 1995

Financing Health Services in Developing Countries, 1989-01 Financing Health Services in Developing Countries John S Akin, 1989-01-01 Financing Health Services in Developing Countries, an Agenda for Reform, 1986 China's Urban Health Care Reform Chack-kie Wong, Vai Io Lo, Kwong-Leung Tang, 2006-01-01 One way to describe the importance of social policy is to say it s about what is and what might be This ethos is the driving force behind Chack Kie Wong Vai Io Lo and Kwong leung Tang s China s Urban Health Care Reform Based on a study of a mid level city in China these three scholars provide analysis and offer theory based recommendations on health care development Using a comparative policy framework supported by a legal expert s knowledge of regulatory specifications China s Urban Health Care Reform argues that a strategy with priority in economic growth as in the case of China does not bring forth cost efficiency and equity in health care for the whole nation Ultimately Wong Lo and Tang strive to offer direction for health care reform that will lead to better health care in China s cities As a result this is a work of great significance to anyone involved in public health social work public policy medicine or law Health Policy in a Globalising World Kelley Lee, Kent Buse, Suzanne Fustukian, 2002-08-08 Increasing recognition of the impact that globalisation may be having on public health has led to widespread concern about the risks arising from emerging and re emerging diseases environmental degradation and demographic change This book argues that health policy making is being affected by globalisation and that these effects are in turn contributing to the kind of global health issues being faced today The book explores how the actors context processes and content of health policy are changing as a result of globalisation raising concerns about growing differences in who can influence health policy what priorities are set what interventions are deemed appropriate and ultimately who enjoys good and bad health Bringing together a distinguished international group of contributors this book covers a comprehensive range of topics and geographic regions and will be invaluable for all those interested in health social and public policy and globalisation Critical Challenges For Health Care Reform In Europe Saltman , Richard B., Figueras, Josep, Sakellarides ,

Constantino,1998-10-01 This volume explores the central issues driving the present process of healthcare reform in Europe 17 chapters written by scholars and policy makers from all parts of Europe draw together the available evidence from epidemiology and public health economics public policy organizational behaviour and management theory as well as real world policy making experience laying out the options that health sector decision makers confront Through its cross disciplinary cross national approach the book highlights the underlying trends that now influence health policy formulation across Europe An authoritative introduction provides a broad synthesis of present trends and strategies in European health policy

Commercialization of Health Care M. Mackintosh,M. Koivusalo,2005-09-19 Based on original research and analysis by a group of health policy experts and economists from across the world this book analyzes the causes and consequences of the expanding global and local commercialization of health care It argues for the necessity and possibility of effective policy responses to develop good quality universally inclusive health systems worldwide The book aims to contribute to a shift in the international common sense in health policy towards a more humane inclusive egalitarian and ethical framework for policy formulation

Constituting Economic and Social Rights Katharine G. Young,2012-08-23 Food water health housing and education are as fundamental to human freedom and dignity as privacy religion or speech Yet only recently have legal systems begun to secure these fundamental individual interests as rights This book looks at the dynamic processes that render economic and social rights in legal form It argues that processes of interpretation enforcement and contestation each reveal how economic and social interests can be protected as human and constitutional rights and how their protection changes public law Drawing on constitutional examples from South Africa Colombia Ghana India the United Kingdom the United States and elsewhere the book examines innovations in the design and role of institutions such as courts legislatures executives and agencies in the organization of social movements and in the links established with market actors This comparative study shows how legal systems protect economic and social rights by shifting the focus from minimum bundles of commodities or entitlements to processes of value based deliberative problem solving Theories of constitutionalism and governance inform the potential of this approach to reconcile economic and social rights with both democratic and market principles while addressing the material inequality poverty and social conflict caused in part by law itself

Revival: Your Life Or Mine (2003) Martine Rothblatt,2017-07-05 This title was first published in 2003 Xenotransplantation the transplantation of animal organs into humans poses a fascinating moral dilemma Should this ability to extend the lives of millions of older people be permitted given that it might trigger a new pandemic similar to AIDS This study examines the moral dilemma from a combination of humanistic legalistic bioethical economical and technological perspectives The first part of the book demonstrates that xenografts are the only realistic near term technological answer to the organ shortage problem The balance of the book is devoted to assessing whether doctrines such as the right to health care trump the moral and ethical conundrums posed by xenotransplantation The book concludes with a geoethical solution that proposes authorization of xenotransplantation subject to the prior implementation of a new international organization for epidemiology and basic health care It also suggests that the costs of operating such an organization could be covered by a global tax on xenografts Uganda Jörg Wiegratz, Giuliano Martiniello, Elisa Greco, 2018-11-15 For the last three decades

Uganda has been one of the fastest growing economies in Africa Globally praised as an African success story and heavily backed by international financial institutions development agencies and bilateral donors the country has become an exemplar of economic and political reform for those who espouse a neoliberal model of development The neoliberal policies and the resulting restructuring of the country have been accompanied by narratives of progress prosperity and modernisation and justified in the name of development But this self celebratory narrative which is critiqued by many in Uganda masks the disruptive social impact of these reforms and silences the complex and persistent crises resulting from neoliberal transformation Bringing together a range of leading scholars on the country this collection represents a timely contribution to the debate around the New Uganda one which confronts the often sanitised and largely depoliticised accounts of the Museveni government and its proponents Harnessing a wealth of empirical materials the contributors offer a critical multi disciplinary analysis of the unprecedented political socio economic cultural and ecological transformations brought about by neoliberal capitalist restructuring since the 1980s The result is the most comprehensive collective study to date of a neoliberal market society in contemporary Africa offering crucial insights for other countries in the Global South
