Financing Higher Education in Africa World Bank,2010-04-21 The training and development of human capital in Sub Saharan Africa SSA will help countries in the region diversify their economies carry out economic transformation and support sustainable growth Higher education plays a key role in training qualified individuals who will be able to implement new technologies and use innovative methods to establish cost efficient and effective enterprises and institutions However in order for SSA to reap the benefits of this investment in human capital higher education institutions must secure financing to provide quality training and sound professional prospects to their students Currently tertiary education development is unsustainable resources per student are declining and the quality of education is affected These issues are particularly pressing in times of financial global crisis when available resources for tertiary education tend to diminish The impact of the crisis that started in 2008 provides a clear illustration of the need to explore innovative ways to diversify and secure financing for higher education in SSA Financing Higher Education in Africa provides a comprehensive overview of higher education financing in SSA The book begins with an explanation of the fundamental problems faced by higher education institutions and students in SSA namely the combined pressure of a rapid growth in demand and a growing scarcity of public resources and it presents the dramatic consequences of these trends on quality The book then turns to analyzing and comparing the current funding policies in SSA countries and it provides recommendations for improvement Finally the book examines the alternatives to the status quo and the policy tools needed to both diversify resources and allocate them based on performance It will be of great interest to governments universities research institutions and international organizations throughout the region

Student Financing of Higher Education Donald Heller,Claire Callender,2013-06-07 The financing of higher education is undergoing great change in many countries around the world In recent years many countries are moving from a system where the costs of funding higher education are shouldered primarily by taxpayers through government subsidies to one where students pay a larger share of the costs There are a number of factors driving these trends including A push for massification of higher education in the recognition that additional revenue streams are required above and beyond those funds available from governments in order to achieve higher participation rates Macroeconomic factors which lead to constraints on overall government revenues Political factors which manifest in demands for funding of over services thus restricting the funding available for higher tertiary education A concern that the returns to higher education accrue primarily to the individual rather than to society and thus students should bear more of the burden of paying for it This volume will help to contribute to an understanding of how these trends occur in various countries and regions around the world and the impact they have on higher education institutions students and society as a whole With contributions for the UK USA South Africa and China this vital new book gives a truly global picture of the rapidly changing situation

Financing The Education Of Health Workers: Gaining A Competitive Edge Alexander S Preker, Hortenzia Beciu, Eric L Keuffel, 2019-08-27 This volume reviews the economic underpinnings investment and financing and institutional reforms needed to successfully scale up the education of health workers In this regard the book examines five major economic and institutional challenges that policy makers face 1 governance of health education organizations and systems 2 approaches to financing the education of health workers 3 the special nature of capital investment in expanding the capacity of health education institutions 4 public private partnerships in health education and 5 equity in accessing health education with a special focus on issues that arise from private approaches to the education of health workers Much of the existing literature focuses on the quality and contents of training health workers and very little has been written on the institutional dimension of financing their training and education This book examines the complex institutional and financial models and approaches that can impact the demand and supply of health worker education programs around the world Building on the findings of the Independent Commission on the Education of Health Professionals for the 21st Century which published on the foundations and the issues of global postsecondary professional education this volume brings in new and in depth aspects such as governance capital investments and the role of the private sector in the production of health professionals thus allowing the reader to understand how the health worker education field has moved from theory to practice

Handbook for Educational Planners in Africa ,2008

Financing Higher Education Worldwide D. Bruce Johnstone, Pamela N. Marcucci, 2010-06-07 No issue in higher education is as salient or as controversial as finance As demand for higher education around the world grows so do the costs associated with it especially as governments shoulder less of the burden Tuition fees rise and student loan debt grows Who pays for these surging costs Who should pay D Bruce Johnstone and Pamela N Marcucci examine the universal phenomenon of cost sharing in higher education where financial responsibility shifts from governments and taxpayers to students and families They find that growing costs for education far outpace public revenue streams that once supported it Even with financial aid and scholarships defraying some of these costs students are responsible for a greater share of the cost of higher education Featuring comprehensive economic and policy data the authors international comparative approach shows how economically diverse countries all face similar cost sharing challenges So who should pay for higher education While cost sharing is both politically and ideologically debated Johnstone and Marcucci contend that for almost all countries it is imperative for the financial health of colleges and universities bringing better efficiency equity and responsiveness

Financing Higher Education Worldwide combines sophisticated economic explanations with sensitive political and cultural analyses of the financial pressures facing higher education throughout the world

The Elusive African Renaissance George Klay Kieh, Jr., 2018-08-28 Africa faces several major development challenges that have adversely affected the political and material well being of the majority of the people living there This collection of new essays rigorously analyzes those frontier development issues including democracy leadership the economy poverty alleviation through microfinance schemes food security education health and political instability and offers prescriptions that differ from the dominant neoliberal solutions

Cost Sharing in Public Higher Education

Institutions in Ethiopia with Special Emphasis on Addis Ababa and Adama Universities Wanna Leka,Desalegn Chalchisa,2012 The main purpose of this study was to investigate the impact of cost sharing scheme in enhancing revenue generation in public higher education in Ethiopia in order to improve the quality of the teaching and learning environment Furthermore the study has attempted to assess problems challenges experienced by students as well as other government bodies related to cost sharing scheme To this effect both quantitative and qualitative research approaches were used

Secondary Education in Ethiopia Rajendra Joshi,Adriaan Verspoor,2012-11-01 This book discusses reforms that should be undertaken in secondary education to support Ethiopia s transition from a low to middle income economy The most critical reform identified is the introduction of a flexible curriculum that serves the needs of all students including those who may not pursue higher education

Financing Education in Sub-Saharan Africa UIS,UNESCO-IIEP,UNESCO Office Dakar and Regional Bureau for Education in Africa,2011-01-01 In the current economic climate how can African governments provide every child with a decent education This report provides the statistical evidence to evaluate the policy trade offs in responding to the rising demand for primary and secondary education in sub Saharan Africa The report presents the most comprehensive and timely data available on the financing of education in 45 sub Saharan African countries In addition historical data enable the authors to track trends since the World Education Forum in 2000 and examine the financial impact of the steadfast commitment of many African governments to provide universal primary education Over the past ten years real expenditure on education has risen by 6% annually across the region It is often assumed that the resources were used to widen enrollment Yet recent data show that many countries also made significant investments to improve their educational services The report also introduces new indicators on critical issues such as the qualifications and salaries of teachers the running costs of schools and the provision of textbooks The authors examine financing trends in private education as well as official development assistance which accounts for more than 50% of public education budgets in some countries In short this report provides the facts not assumptions to analyse policy options and optimise the use of limited financial resources P 4 of cover
