Educational Development Mukta Gupta,2000 Financing Higher Education D. Bruce Johnstone,2006-01-01 Public systems of higher education worldwide are caught between increasing public and private demand for their products rising per student costs and flat or even declining governmental revenues Thus the fundamental condition of higher education especially in the low and middle income countries is dominated by the radically diverging trajectories of higher education costs and available governmental revenues underscoring the worldwide search for other than governmental revenue sources for higher education This is the higher educational austerity rationale for cost sharing which term reflects both the simple fact that the underlying costs of higher education are shared by governments or taxpayers parents students and philanthropists as well as a description of a worldwide policy trend of these costs being increasingly shifted from governments to parents and students The underlying theory of cost sharing as well as the description of its worldwide reach were developed from 1986 through 2006 mainly by the works of Johnstone and his Ford Foundation financed International Higher Education Finance and Accessibility Project at the State University of New York at Buffalo The principal papers from this project are reproduced in this volume They examine the worldwide shift in the burden of higher education costs from governments and taxpayers to parents and students and the policies of grants loans and other governmental interventions designed to maintain higher educational accessibility in the face of this shift The International Handbook of Educational Research in the Asia-Pacific Region J.P. Keeves,Ryo Watanabe,2013-11-11 The aim of the Handbook is to present readily accessible but scholarly sources of information about educational research in the Asia Pacific region The scale and scope of the Handbook is such that the articles included in it provide substantive contributions to knowledge and understanding of education in the Asia region In so doing the articles present the problems and issues facing education in the region and the findings of research conducted within the region that contribute to the resolution of these problems and issues Moreover since new problems and issues are constantly arising the articles in the Handbook also indicate the likely directions of future developments The different articles within the Handbook seek to conceptualize the problems in each specific content area under review provide an integration of the research conducted within that area the theoretical basis of the research the practical implications of the research and the contribution of the research towards the resolution of the problems identified Thus the articles do not involve the reporting of newly conducted research but rather require a synthesis of the research undertaken in a particular area with reference to the research methods employed and the theoretical frameworks on which the research is based In general the articles do not advocate a single point of view but rather present alternative points of view and comment on the debate and disagreements associated with the conduct and findings of the research Furthermore it should be noted that the Handbook is not concerned with research methodology and only considers the methods employed in inquiry in so far as the particular methods of research contribute to the effective investigation of problems and issues that have arisen in the conduct and provision of education at different levels within the region Foreign Operations, Export

Austin, 2002-04-30 Identifies five critical issues with which higher education institutions in the developing world must grapple as they respond to changing external contexts offers examples of institutional responses to these issues and considers these within a systems perspective which recognizes that each response impacts how institutions handle other critical issues Half of the students enrolled in higher education worldwide live in developing countries Yet in many developing countries government and education leaders express serious concerns about the ability of their colleges and universities to effectively respond to the pressures posed by changing demographics new communication technologies shifts in national political environments and the increasing interconnectedness of national economies This book identifies five critical issues with which higher education institutions in the developing world must grapple as they respond to these changing contexts seeking a new balance in government university relationships coping with autonomy managing expansion while preserving equity raising quality and controlling costs addressing new pressures for accountability and supporting academic staff in new roles These papers offer examples of institutional responses and consider these within a systems perspective that recognizes that each response has a rippling effect impacting institutions responses to other critical issues Only as government and education leaders understand the interwoven nature of the problems now facing colleges and universities and the interconnections among the intended solutions they seek to implement can they offer effective leadership that strengthens the quality and improves the relevance of higher education in their countries Information Computing and Applications Chunfeng Liu, Jincai Chang, Aimin Yang, 2011-12-05 The two volume set CCIS 243 and CCIS 244 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the Second International Conference on Information Computing and Applications ICICA 2010 held in Qinhuaogdao China in October 2011 The 191 papers presented in both volumes were carefully reviewed and selected from numerous submissions They are organized in topical sections on computational statistics social networking and computing evolutionary computing and applications information education and application internet and web computing scientific and engineering computing system simulation computing bio inspired and DNA computing internet and Web computing multimedia networking and computing parallel and distributed computing

Online Distance Education Olaf Zawacki-Richter, Terry Anderson, 2014-06-01 Online Distance Education Towards a Research Agenda offers a systematic overview of the major issues trends and areas of priority in online distance education research In each chapter an international expert or team of experts provides an overview of one timely issue in online distance education summarizing major research on the topic discussing theoretical insights that guide the research posing questions and directions for future research and discussing the implications for distance education practice as a whole. Intended as a primary reference and guide for distance educators, researchers and policymakers, Online Distance Education addresses aspects of distance education practice that have often been marginalized, including issues of cost and economics, concerns surrounding social justice, cultural bias, the need for faculty professional development and the management and growth of learner communities. At once soundly empirical and thoughtfully reflective, yet also forward looking and open to new approaches to online and distance teaching, this text is a solid resource for researchers in a rapidly expanding discipline.

Why Developing Countries Fail to Develop Purushottam Narayan Mathur, 2016-07-27. Recent debt crises and consequent dislocations and distress in the underdeveloped world have shown that the development strategies of the last forty years were misconceived. No underdeveloped country during this period could become an industrially advanced country despite the development schemes orchestrated by the World Bank. This results from the fact that mainstream economic theory ignores international and national constraints and their interactions with the dynamics of technological transformation. This book develops a completely articulated theory of economic interconnections to deal with underdeveloped country's situation.

Educational Input, Resource Allocation and Returns to Human Capital Weifang Min, 2025-07-01. This comprehensive study provides a groundbreaking analysis of China's educational landscape and its impact on human capital development, revealing how education shapes economic growth, social mobility and workforce productivity. Through rigorous research and empirical evidence, the book demonstrates education's role as a powerful tool for enhancing career mobility and workplace productivity, reducing job search time for graduates and creating pathways to reduce income inequality. With detailed insights into resource allocation, educational equity and human capital returns, this book offers invaluable perspectives for policymakers, educators and researchers committed to understanding and improving educational outcomes in China.

American Higher Education in the Twenty-First Century Philip G. Altbach, Patricia J. Gumport, Robert O. Berdahl, 2011-04-12. First published in 1998, American Higher Education in the Twenty First Century offers a comprehensive entree to the central issues facing American colleges and universities today. This thoroughly revised edition brings the volume up to date on key topics of enduring interest: Placing higher education within its social and political contexts, leading scholars discuss finance, federal and state governance, faculty, students, curriculum and academic leadership. Contributors also address major changes in higher education, especially the influence and incorporation of the latest technologies and growing concern about the future of the academy in a post Iraq War setting. No other book covers such wide-ranging issues under the broader theme of higher education's relationship to society. Highly acclaimed and incorporating cutting-edge research, American Higher Education in the Twenty First Century remains the standard reference in the field. Contributors: Philip G. Altbach, Benjamin Baez, Michael N. Bastedo, Robert O. Berdahl, Marjorie A. E. Cook, Melanie E. Corrigan, Judith S. Eaton, Peter D. Eckel, Gustavo Fischman, Roger L. Geiger, Lawrence E. Gladieux, Sara Goldrick-Rab, Patricia J. Gumport, Fred F. Harclerod, D.

Bramble, Santosh Panda, 2008-03-31 This book provides a comprehensive overview of the organizational models of distance and online learning from an international perspective and from the point of view of economic planning costing and management decision making The book points to directions for the further research and development in this area and will promote further understanding International Perspectives on Financing Higher Education Josef C. Brada, Wojciech Bienkowski, Masaaki Kuboniwa, 2015-10-05 Higher education is increasingly important to the labor market success of individuals and the prosperity of nations yet as this book shows public funding for higher education is declining It presents innovative approaches to increasing funding for universities through closer ties with business and through privatization of universities The SAGE Encyclopedia of Higher Education Miriam E. David, Marilyn J. Amey, 2020-05-21 Higher Education is in a state of ferment People are seriously discussing whether the medieval ideal of the university as being excellent in all areas makes sense today given the number of universities that we have in the world Student fees are changing the orientation of students to the system The high rate of non repayment of fees in the UK is provoking difficult questions about whether the current system of funding makes sense There are disputes about the ratio of research to teaching and further discussions about the international delivery of courses 108-1 Hearings: Foreign Operations, Export Financing, and Related Programs Appropriations For 2004, Part 4, April 2, 2003, , 2003 Impact of Global University Ranking Systems on Developing Countries Onyancha, Omwoyo Bosire, Tella, Adeyinka, 2023-06-01 The emotive discourses on the subject of university rankings are directly linked to the effect of such rankings on the performance of universities throughout the world It has been observed that the top ranked universities attract major financial commitments from the industry the best students quality researchers and a wide range of other quality endowments such as equipment libraries and laboratories It is not surprising that the ranking of universities has gained popularity and become a significant factor shaping not only the reputation of universities but also the performance of said institutions around the world including the developing countries Impact of Global University Ranking Systems on Developing Countries presents a collection of perspectives from scholars and other stakeholders on the impact of the global ranking systems on developing countries The book is an additional resource for discussion and discourse as far as the global university ranking systems are concerned and opens new frontiers for further research Covering key topics such as assessment ethics and academic freedom this premier reference source is ideal for administrators policymakers researchers
