Creating an Environment for Successful Projects, 3rd Edition Randall Englund, Robert J. Graham, 2019-10-01 Now in its third edition this project management classic has been updated with an array of field tested tools to help upper management ensure the success of projects within organizations For over twenty years Creating an Environment for Successful Projects has been a staple for upper managers who want to help projects succeed This new edition includes case studies from companies that have successfully applied the approach along with practical tools such as templates surveys and benchmark reports for savvy leaders who want to ensure project success throughout their organizations The insights in this book will help management speed projects along instead of getting in their way All too often well intentioned managers put roadblocks in the team's way instead of empowering them with the tools they need to succeed This approach to project environments grounded in decades of research and practice will help you make your organization the most project friendly it's ever been Organizational changes rarely work unless upper management is heavily involved Although project managers are most closely responsible for the success of projects upper managers are the ones who ultimately create an environment that supports those projects The way upper managers define structure and act toward projects has an important effect on the success or failure of those projects and consequently the success or failure of the organization This book helps all managers understand the need for project management changes and shows how to develop project management as an organizational practice Resources in Education ,2001 Building Tomorrow's Biomedical Workforce: Evaluation of How Evidence-Based Training Programs Align Skill Development and Career Awareness with a Broad Array of Professions Adriana

Bankston,Rebekah L. Layton,Audra Van Wart,2025-08-27 Building the future STEM workforce requires robust federal investments to support the next generation of innovators as well as systemic changes to enable graduate and postdoctoral researchers to transition with confidence into the biomedical workforce This effort involves the transformation of the biomedical research enterprise and training environment at all levels but especially at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels Innovative initiatives in education and training as well as career and professional development of biomedical trainees are necessary to build upon the robust biomedical workforce of today and create and sustain a diverse innovative and highly trained biomedical workforce of tomorrow An important aspect of supporting the biomedical workforce relates to changes within training and the research enterprise with opportunities for re imagining what STEM education should look like at different levels including providing agency for junior scientists in the field The future of the field should focus on inclusivity supporting trainees from different backgrounds and with diverse perspectives including but not limited to intersectional identities in race ethnicity gender sexual orientation first generation status and international talent in STEM This requires critical policy changes in order to support the transition of biomedical research professionals into the labor market CMA
