Garden Heritage Of New Zealand:

Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand Joanna Boileau, 2017-07-27 This book offers a fresh perspective on the Chinese diaspora. It is about the mobilisation of knowledge across time and space exploring the history of Chinese market gardening in Australia and New Zealand. It enlarges our understanding of processes of technological change and human mobility highlighting the mobility of migrants as an essential element in the mobility and adaptation of technologies. Truly multidisciplinary Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand incorporates elements of economic, agricultural, social, cultural and environmental history along with archaeology to document how Chinese market gardeners from subtropical southern China adapted their horticultural techniques and technologies to novel environments and the demands of European consumers. It shows that they made a significant contribution to the economies of Australia and New Zealand developing flexible strategies to cope with the vagaries of climate and changing business and social environments which were often hostile towards Asian immigrants. Chinese Market Gardening in Australia and New Zealand will appeal to students and scholars in the fields of the Chinese diaspora, in particular the history of the Chinese in Australasia, the history of technology, horticultural and garden history and environmental history as well as Asian studies more generally. The New Garden Heritage of New Zealand Mary Burnard, 1990

New Zealand's First World War Heritage Imelda Bargas, Tim Shoebridge, 2015-04-01 Rediscover New Zealand's hidden First World War history through the places where it happened. No battles were fought here yet the First World War intruded into the daily life of every New Zealander who remained at home. This ground-breaking book provides vivid new insights into their experiences through exploring the places where they lived, worked, coped and mourned: army camps, fortifications, soldier settler farms, town halls, wharves, convalescent homes and hospitals, cemeteries and war memorials, dairy factories and woollen mills. From Northland to Stewart Island, our landscape is signposted with thousands of poignant memorials and behind the facades of old buildings, beneath scrub and behind farm fences lies a less visible landscape of war and hundreds of hidden stories waiting to be told: a soldier's name carved on a remote railway station, a once bustling uniform factory in the heart of a city, a long abandoned gun battery. This unique book will be a revelation to all New Zealanders. Extensively illustrated with new and period photographs and fascinating maps, it contains original research and information that will open the eyes of every reader to places and stories in their community hidden in plain sight. The impact of the First World War on New Zealanders was immense; its legacy can be seen all around us today. Gardens at the Frontier James Beattie, 2019-12-18 Gardens at the Frontier addresses broad issues of interest to architectural historians, environmental historians, garden writers, geographers and other scholars. It uses different disciplinary perspectives to explore garden history's thematic, geographical and methodological frontiers through a focus on gardens as sites of cultural contact. The contributors address the extent to which gardens inhibit or further cultural contact, the cultural translation of garden concepts, practices and plants from one place to another, the role of non written sources in cultural transfer and which disciplines study gardens and designed landscapes and how and why their approaches vary Chapters cover a range of designed landscapes and locations periods and approaches medieval Japanese roji tea gardens a seventeenth century garden of southern China post war Australian natural gardens iconic twentieth century American modernist gardens international willow pattern design geology and designed landscapes gnomes and landscape authorship of a public garden Each chapter examines transfers of cultural ideas and their physical denouement This book was originally published as a special issue of Studies in the History of Gardens Designed Landscapes

Design and Heritage Grace Lees-Maffei, Rebecca Houze, 2021-12-29 Design and Heritage provides the first extended study of heritage from the point of view of design history Exploring the material objects and spaces that contribute to our experience of heritage the volume also examines the processes and practices that shape them Bringing together 18 case studies written by authors from the United States the United Kingdom Canada Brazil Norway India South Africa Australia and New Zealand the book questions how design functions to produce heritage Including provocative case studies of objects that reinterpret visual symbols of cultural identity and buildings and monuments that evoke feelings of national pride and historical memory as well as landscapes embedded with trauma contributors consider how we can work to develop adequate shared conceptual models of heritage and apply them to design and its histories Exploring the distinction between tangible and intangible heritages the chapters consider what these categories mean for design history and heritage Finally the book questions whether it might be possible to promote a truly equitable understanding of heritage that illuminates the social cultural and economic roles of design Design and Heritage demonstrates that design historical methods of inquiry contribute significantly to critical heritage studies Academics researchers and students engaged in the study of heritage design history material culture folklore art history architectural history and social and cultural history will find much to interest them within the pages of the book
