Making Better Places Richard Hayward, 2013-10-22 Making Better Places Urban Design Now discusses how to make better places how monotonous or rich urban development can be how appropriate to traffic requirements urban improvements are or how sustainable an urban design approach can be to existing and future urban dispersal The book reviews the gap existing between the various environmental disciplines leading to the emergence of urban design as well as the gap between the rhetoric and practical achievements of urban design The practice of urban design entails the premise that environments are to be created and transformed to provide the most opportunities for the largest number of people By using an urban tissue plan the urban developmental planner can produce and evaluate site development appraisal and design proposals The book also provides an abstract perspective that considers built forms as a set of signs to provide a mechanism which shows the modification of urban space The text also addresses the issue of urban change in established centers the urban fringe and beyond as well as cites four examples of exploration by intervention The book can prove beneficial to urban planners sociologists and policy makers involved in urban and social development

Crowder, 1993 Transition to Common Work Joe Mancini, Stephanie Mancini, 2015-04-07 The Working Centre in the downtown core of Kitchener Ontario is a widely recognized and successful model for community development Begun from scratch in 1982 it is now a vast network of practical supports for the unemployed the underemployed the temporarily employed and the homeless populations that collectively constitute up to 30 percent of the labour market both locally and across North America Transition to Common Work is the essential text about The Working Centre its beginnings thirty years ago the lessons learned and the myriad ways in which its strategies and innovations can be adapted by those who share its goals The Working Centre focuses on creating access to tools projects rather than administrative layers of bureaucracy This book highlights the core philosophy behind the centre's decentralized but integrated structure which has contributed to the creation of affordable services Underlying this approach are common sense innovations such as thinking about virtues rather than values developing community tools with a social enterprise approach and implementing a radically equal salary policy For social workers activists bureaucrats and engaged citizens in third sector organizations NGOs charities not for profits co-operatives this practical and inspiring book provides a method for moving beyond the doldrums of poverty relief into the exciting world of community building Constructing Gardens, Cultivating the City Amanda Shoaf Vincent, 2023-05-16

Constructing Gardens Cultivating the City is the first cultural history of major new parks developed in Paris in the late twentieth century as part of the city's program of adaptive reuse of industrial spaces Thanks to laws that gave the city more political autonomy Paris's local government launched a campaign of park creation in the late 1970s that continued to the turn of the millennium The parks in this book represent this campaign and illustrate different facets of their cultural and historical context Archival research interviews and analyses of the parks reveal how postmodern debates about urban planning the historic city public space and nature's presence in an urban setting influenced their designs In sum the city adopted the garden as a model for public parks investing in complex richly symbolic and representational spaces These parks were intended to represent contemporary twists on traditional designs and serve local residents as much as they would contribute to Paris's role as a world city The parks development process often included points of conflict pointing to differing views on what Parisian space should represent and fundamental contradictions between the characteristics of public space and the garden as it is traditionally defined These parks demonstrate the ongoing cultivation of the city over time in which transformed sites not only fulfil new functions but also engage with history and their surroundings to create new meaning They stand for landscape as a form of signifying cultural production that directly engages with other art forms and ways of knowing Just as the Luxembourg Gardens the Tuileries and the Buttes Chaumont parks exemplify their eras cultural dynamics such parks as the Jardin Atlantique Parc Andr Citro n and the Jardin des Halles express contemporary French culture within the archetypal space of their era the city Finally they point the way to current trends in landscape architecture
