Earthly Paradises Maureen Carroll, 2003 The cultivation of gardens played an integral role in both the public and private spheres of the ancient world. Whether grown as sources of food, symbols of wealth and prestige, or as dwellings for the gods, gardens were nurtured at every level of society. In this beautifully illustrated book, Maureen Carroll examines the most recent evidence for the existence, functions, and designs of gardens from the second millennium B.C. to the middle of the first millennium A.D. in the cultures of the ancient Near East, Egypt, Greece, Italy, and the provinces of the Roman Empire. She looks at gardens in their many forms, including house gardens, orchards, and parks, sacred gardens, and cemetery gardens, and dedicates a chapter to gardens in ancient poetry. She also discusses ancient horticultural practices and the role of gardeners, concluding with a chapter on the survival of ancient gardening traditions in the Islamic and Byzantine worlds and the perception and depiction of paradise in those cultures. Evidence is drawn from archaeological excavations which can reveal the remains of gardens that were never mentioned in written sources, as well as from textual, pictorial, and environmental sources. Illustrated with delightful images from tomb and wall paintings, sculptural reliefs, and manuscripts, as well as with informative reconstructions and plans, this book provides fascinating insights into the earthly paradises of antiquity. A Cultural History of Gardens in Antiquity Kathryn Gleason, 2016-09-22 The history of gardens in antiquity is characterized by a rich mix of cultures interacting throughout Europe, Africa, and Asia. This period, from the sixth century B.C.E. to the sixth century C.E., was foundational to the later periods of garden history. The emergence of advanced horticultural techniques sustained regional and international trade routes and centralized power structures, promoting the development of highly sophisticated garden culture in both private and public contexts. New evidence derived from archaeology and fresh analysis of literary and visual sources revises our perspective, reminding us that these garden cultures were varied and diverse yet connected through ritual, trade, conquest, and cultural practices in ways we are only beginning to define.

The History of Garden Design Monique Mosser, Georges Teyssot, 2000 The most stimulating thought and research on the history of the garden from the fifteenth century to the present day is presented here in a chronological series of essays that make up a mosaic picture of the garden in the Western world. The humanist garden in Renaissance Italy, the concepts of the Sublime and the Picturesque, mazes, grottoes, and other curiosities, American land art, and even Disneyland are among the topics treated. Individual gardens are analyzed as paradigms of their type: the Hortus Palatinus in Heidelberg, the Parc Monceau in Paris, Stowe in England, and many others.
