Dangerous Allies Malcolm Fraser,Cain Roberts,2016-04-12 Australia has always been reliant on great and powerful friends for its sense of national security and for direction on its foreign policy first on the British Empire and now on the United States Australia has actively pursued a policy of strategic dependence believing that making a grand bargain with a powerful ally was the best policy to ensure its security and prosperity Dangerous Allies examines Australia s history of strategic dependence and questions the continuation of this position It argues that international circumstances in the world and in the Western Pacific especially now make such a policy highly questionable Since the fall of the Soviet Union the United States has also changed dramatically making it less relevant to Australia and a less appropriate ally on which Australia should rely Malcolm Fraser argues that Australia should adopt a much greater degree of independence in foreign policy and that we should no longer merely follow other nations into wars of no direct interest to Australia or Australia s security He argues for an end to strategic dependence and for the timely establishment of a truly independent Australia

Technical Book Review Index ,1917 Stepping Stones to Nowhere Galen Roger Perras,2003 The Aleutian Islands a mostly forgotten portion of the United States on the southwest coast of Alaska have often assumed a key role in American military strategy This work examines the Japanese occupation of the western Aleutians which climaxed in the horrendous battle for Attu The Australia-Japan Political Alignment Alan Rix,2013-03-07 In this new volume Alan Rix examines the renewal of post war contacts between Australia and Japan and the resolution of wartime issues in the 1950s He shows how some major bilateral negotiations highlight the tensions involved in forging a strong relationship while extensive analysis of the machinery of diplomacy the administrative political and legal framework indicates the depth of bilateral ties Also covered are the close consultation and diplomatic dealings over the decades and the personal connections between leaders
