captured over one hundred of the passing fashion fancies and merchandising miracles during America's short history in their latest collection of fads Fashion Merchandising Fads. Life devoid of fads is impossible to imagine and the fads that do enter our lives become vehicles for amusement upon retrospection. How long any fad stays in vogue is anybody's guess but Hoffmann and Bailey have again found those fads that somehow took root and flourished if only for a short period of time in America. Concise entries describe each fad from its beginning to its demise and its devout followers. Readers are sure to recognize many of the trends and fads collected in Fashion Merchandising Fads. A browse through the contents will have readers smiling as they remember Alex Stroh's Beer Drinking Dog and Baby On Board Stickers, Barbie Dolls and Celebrity Perfumes, Convertibles, Digital Watches and Drive In Banking, Garfield, G.I. Joe and Handbags for Men, Knickers and Matchbox Cars, The Model T and the Mustang, Paper Dolls and Rubik's Cube, Silly Putty, the Slinky and Synthetics in Clothes, Top Hats, the Trilby and Twiggy, VCRs, Yuppies and Zubaz. Each fad featured in Fashion Merchandising Fads is examined thoroughly and concisely by the authors. They look at the historical setting, how the trend became popular and the people most fascinated and involved with the trend. References follow each entry to make further reading on each fad a relatively easy task for those intrigued by fads. As fads enter and encompass society for a period of time, this collection of fads arranged alphabetically is sure to captivate readers from beginning to end or in a world of fads from the A-2 Flight Jacket to the Zipper.

Polyptych: Adaptation, Television, and Comics Reginald Wiebe, 2021-09-07. Through each of its chapters, Polyptych: Adaptation, Television, and Comics examines the complex dynamics of adapting serialized texts. The transmedial adaptation of collaborative and unstable texts does not lend itself to the same strategies as other more static adaptations such as novels or plays. Building off the foundational work of Linda Hutcheon and Gerald Genette, Polyptych considers the analogy of adaptation as a palimpsest, a manuscript page that has been reused, leaving traces of the previous work behind, as needing to be reevaluated. A polyptych is a multi-panel artwork and provides a new model for analyzing how adaptation works when translating collaborative and unstable texts. Given that most television and comic books are episodic and serialized and considering that both media are also the cumulative work of many artists, this book offers a series of distanced readings to reassess how adaptation works in this field. Comic book adaptations on television are plentiful and are nearly completely ignored in critical discussions of adaptation. This collection focuses on texts that fall outside the most common subjects of study among the corpus and contributes to expanding the field of inquiry. The book features texts that are subjects of previous academic interest as well as studies of texts that have never before been critically considered. It also includes an appendix that provides the first list of comic book adaptations on North American television. Polyptych is a unique and timely contribution to dynamic and growing fields of study. The book will be of interest to scholars and researchers in the fields of Comic Studies, Adaptation Studies, and Critical Media Studies, more broadly, as well as to students undertaking courses on these subjects. It will also appeal to comic book and pop culture fans who wish to expand their knowledge on the subject.
