Historical Ecology of the British Flora M. Ingrouille, 2012-12-06 The native British flora is today relatively ant species on the continent such as Picea impoverished Today the British Isles has a abies Norway spruce did not get into Britain flora of only about 1500 species of native in time However we must not over flowering plants France and Spain each emphasize the importance of Britain being an geographically only about twice the area island A comparison of floras on either side have 3 4 times as many species each The of the English Channel shows that there are comparison is more marked when consider species present in England and not in ing the endemic species those specialities of northern France as well as vice versa Many each geographical region which grow of the species present in northern France but nowhere else If only normal sexual species absent from England are weeds adapted to are considered then there are only about 13 French agriculture Others may be limited endemic species in the British Isles while 1000 not by the sea but by the climate species are endemic to Spain Nevertheless the example of Ireland However the poverty of the British flora is which was isolated much earlier than the rest not a unique phenomenon The whole of of the British Isles does show the effect of north western Europe an area including isolation because it does have a much poorer northern France and much of Germany and flora and fauna

Lebbeus Woods: Exquisite Experiments, Early Years Aleksandra Wagner, Neil Spiller, 2024-03-18 American architect Lebbeus Woods 1940 2012 remains a quiet hero not only among his colleagues but also for architectural students intrigued by the ideas and fluent beauty of his powerful graphic verve as well as of his writing. His projects from the mid 1980s until the end of his life have been widely published. However, this AD in collaboration with the Estate of Lebbeus Woods explores the earlier period beginning in the late 1960s when Woods was honing his draughtsmanship and theoretical positions while experimenting with a variety of themes and different modes of expression. When he burst onto the international architectural scene with a solo exhibition and accompanying catalogue Lebbeus Woods: Origins at the Architectural Association London in 1985, some wondered how anyone could emerge so fully formed from nowhere. Working against the logic of nowhere, this issue charts his early trajectory through the largely unpublished drawings and texts, linking them with what came after. Aiming to generate new scholarship, its roster of international interdisciplinary critics and commentators offer a new understanding of Woods's work and of his formative years, also shining a light on how we might think about the early work of any architect's career.
