Kent-Drury, 2005-03-30 Presenting web sites from around the world covering much of the world's literature this book provides creative and interesting thinking activities to enhance student understanding of literature and culture and to promote critical thinking This book will be very useful to teachers of world history and literature at the senior high school and undergraduate level Part of a well reviewed series of titles Using Internet Primary Sources to Promote Critical Thinking carries on the tradition of excellence in instructional tools Grades 9-12 Off the Books J. Peder Zane, 2015-04-06 Head Off the Books in this collection of newspaper columns where J Peder Zane uses classic and contemporary literature to explore American culture and politics The book review editor for the Raleigh North Carolina News Observer from 1996 to 2009 Zane demonstrates that good books are essential for understanding ourselves and the world around us The one hundred and thirty columns gathered in Off the Books find that sweet spot where literature's eternal values meet the day's current events Together they offer a literary overview of the ideas issues and events shaping our culture from 9-11 and the struggle for gay rights to the decline of high culture and the rise of sensationalism and solipsism As they plumb and draw from the work of leading writers from William Faulkner Knut Hamsun and Eudora Welty to Don DeLillo Lydia Millet and Philip Roth these columns make an argument not just about the pleasure of books but about their very necessity in our lives and culture A History of the McGuffey Readers Henry Hobart Vail, 1910 Rhetorical Strategies and Genre Conventions in Literary Studies Laura Wilder, 2012-05-31 Laura Wilder fills a gap in the scholarship on writing in the disciplines and writing across the curriculum with this thorough study of the intersections between scholarly literary criticism and undergraduate writing in introductory literature courses Rhetorical Strategies and Genre Conventions in Literary Studies is the first examination of rhetorical practice in the research and teaching of literary study and a detailed assessment of the ethics and efficacy of explicit instruction in the rhetorical strategies and genre conventions of the discipline Using rhetorical analysis ethnographic observation and individual interviews Wilder demonstrates how rhetorical conventions play a central although largely tacit role in the teaching of literature and the evaluation of student writing Wilder follows a group of literature majors and details their experiences Some students received experimental explicit instruction in the special topics while others received more traditional implicit instruction Arguing explicit instruction in disciplinary conventions has the potential to help underprepared students Wilder explores how this kind of instruction may be incorporated into literature courses without being overly reductive Taking into consideration student perspectives Wilder makes a bold case for expanding the focus of research in writing in the disciplines and writing across the curriculum in order to grasp the full complexity of disciplinary discourse Institutional Ethnography Michelle LaFrance, 2019-06-15 A form of critical ethnography introduced to the
