The Red-Haired Man Marie Tapia,2013-05 In nineteenth century France Colette lives a life of apparent perfection one that others would envy To the casual observer she has everything any woman could ever desire she shares a mansion with servants with her handsome successful husband and their three beautiful children Hers is a perfect life in perfect order yet she longs for more One day a chance encounter with a redheaded man awakens something in Collette and now nothing will ever be the same There is no room in her life for what is about to happen She feels trapped and yearns for more On one hand she is caught in a web of marital obligations to a man who seems more passionate about numbers and business deals than he is about his wife On the other her passions her deep love for her children and art seem to soften the bitter blow of emotional disappointment A new breath of life and hope appears when the red haired man known only as Vincent encourages her to embrace her other artistic talents Torn between society's expectations and her deep seated desire for Vincent and all he represents Colette must make a choice She has found her passion no matter how unconventional it may appear This is a love she can't deny but is she willing to pay the price for that love Everything that was once perfect is perfect no longer

Gauguin's Challenge Norma Broude,2018-03-08 Several decades have now passed since postcolonial and feminist critiques presented the art historical world with a demythologized Paul Gauguin 1848 1903 a much diminished image of the artist hero who had once been universally admired as the father of modernist primitivism In this volume both long established and more recent Gauguin scholars offer a provocative picture of the evolution of Gauguin scholarship in the recent postmodern era as they confront and consider how the dismantling of the longstanding Gauguin myth positions us now in the 21st century to deal with and assess the life work and legacy of this still perennially popular artist To reassess the challenges that Gauguin faced in his own day as well as those that he continues to present to current and future scholarship they explore the multiple contexts that influenced Gauguin's thought and behavior as well as his art and incorporate a variety of interdisciplinary approaches from anthropology philosophy and the history of science to gender studies and the study of Pacific cultural history Dealing with a wide range of Gauguin's production they challenge conventional art historical thinking highlight transnational perspectives and offer clues to the direction of future scholarship as audiences worldwide seek to make multicultural peace with Gauguin and his art Broude has raised the bar of Gauguin scholarship ever higher in this groundbreaking volume which will be necessary reading for students and scholars of art history late 19th century French and Pacific culture gender studies and beyond
