British Travellers and the Encounter with Britain, 1450-1700 John Cramsie,2015 Encounters with a multicultural Britain in the Tudor and Stuart periods written with an eye to debates about immigration and ethnicity in today s Britain This book recovers the encounter with a multicultural Britain by British travellers in the Tudor and Stuart periods When William Camden writing in the sixteenth century set out to write the history of Britannia he deliberately took to the roads to discover it first hand and those diverse cultures guided and informed his journeys Here John Cramsie offers original perspectives on Camden s multicultural Britain through the study of British travellersand their narratives We meet characters such as the Tudor traveller John Leland who intended to tell the peoples of England and Wales about themselves chronicle how they came to settle the towns villages valleys and mountaintops they called home record the marks they left in the landscape and celebrate the noble histories and cultures they created Dozens eventually hundreds of Britons shared the same passion to meet their island neighbours and relate their experiences The individuals studied in this book include actual as well as armchair travellers and those who blurred the boundaries between them Their letters diaries journals and histories range from the epic poignant and matter of fact to the exotic preposterous and hateful the sources include actual and imaginative narratives and those which combined both elements Travellers painted Britain with in Leland s words native colours that were rich vibrant and above all complex Their remarkable journeys are the story of how Britons over two centuries met interacted and attempted or not to understand one another Written with an eye to debates about immigration and ethnicity in today s Britain the book emphasizes the long history of making and remaking the island s cultural mosaic The encounter with Britain s native colours has been a burden of history and opportunity for millennia not simply for our own times JOHN CRAMSIE is Associate Professor Department of History Union College NY

Making Histories Paul Ashton,Tanya Evans,Paula Hamilton,2020-09-21 If historical culture is the specific and particular ways that a society engages with its past this book aims to situate the professional practice of public history now emerging across the world within that framework It links the increasingly varied practices of memory and history making such as genealogy podcasting re enactment family histories memoir writing film making and facebook histories with the work that professional historians do both in and out of the academy Making Histories asks questions about the role of the expert and notions of authority within a landscape that is increasingly concerned with connection to the past and authenticity The book is divided into four parts 1 Resistance Rights Authority 2 Memory Memorialization Commemoration 3 Performance Transmission Reception 4 Family Private Self The four sections outline major themes emerging in public history across the world in the 21st century which are all underpinned by the impact of new media on historical practice and our central argument for the volume which advocates a more capacious definition of what constitutes public history

Suffragette Legacy Camilla Mørk Røstvik,Louise Sutherland,2015-10-19 The suffragettes are dead Long live the suffragettes As part of the Wonder Woman Radical Manchester events celebrating International Women s Day the one day conference Suffragette Legacy brought together academics artists campaigners and activists to present and speak about how their work is affected by the suffragette legacy of feminism in 2014 The organisers welcomed academic papers feminist theory poetry and visual art to discuss this important but often complex topic It was found that the suffragette legacy is often hidden in private stories in little known projects in art and in metaphor In addition the contributions to the conference showed that certain suffragette words worries and worlds in gender politics still play out amongst humans This edited volume will encourage more dialogue discussions and future narratives for our feminist foremothers in both Manchester and beyond

Warmington,2014-02-24 Ask any moderately interested Briton to name a black intellectual and chances are the response will be an American name Malcolm X or Barack Obama Toni Morrison or Cornel West Yet Britain has its own robust black intellectual traditions and its own master teachers among them C L R James Claudia Jones Ambalavaner Sivanandan Stuart Hall and Paul Gilroy However while in the USA black public intellectuals are an embedded if often embattled feature of national life black British thinkers remain routinely marginalized Black British Intellectuals and Education counters this neglect by exploring histories of race education and social justice through the work of black British public intellectuals academics educators and campaigners The book provides a critical history of diverse currents in black British intellectual production from the eighteenth century through post war migration and into the post multicultural present focusing on the sometimes hidden impacts of black thinkers on education and social justice Firstly it argues that black British thinkers have helped fundamentally to shape educational policy practice and philosophy particularly in the post war period Secondly it suggests that education has been one of the key spaces in which the mass consciousness of being black and British has emerged and a key site in which black British intellectual positions have been defined and differentiated Chapters explore the early development of black British intellectual life from the slave narratives to the anti colonial movements of the early twentieth century how African Caribbean and Asian communities began to organize against racial inequalities in schooling in the post Windrush era of the 1950s and 60s how from out of these grassroots struggles black intellectuals and activists of the 1970s 80s and 90s developed radical critiques of education youth and structural racism the influence of multiculturalism black cultural studies and black feminism on education current developments in black British educational work including post racial approaches Critical Race Theory and black social conservatism Black British Intellectuals and Education will be of key relevance to undergraduates postgraduates and academics engaged in research on race ethnicity education social justice and cultural studies 40 Ways to Diversify the History Curriculum Elena Stevens,2022-07-14 In writing this book Elena Stevens aim is to respond to calls for a more diverse decolonised curriculum calls which have become more insistent following the reinvigoration of the Black Lives Matter movement the MeToo movement and other landmark events Highlighting the lived experiences of women the working classes and BAME and LGBTQ communities in particular 40 Ways to Diversify the History Curriculum draws upon a wide range of personal stories to exemplify significant historical moments and shed new light on topics that have traditionally been taught through narrower lenses The book serves as a resource bank for teachers wishing to enliven and diversify history lessons at Key Stages 2 3 GCSE A level and beyond Elena helpfully opens with a discussion of the theoretical historiographical developments that lay behind calls to diversify the curriculum and to accompany each of the 40 historical case studies she provides ideas and activities for translating the case studies into lesson plans and enquiries Furthermore Elena also guides teachers in shaping new enquiries from scratch Suitable for teachers of secondary school and Key Stage 2 history Education, Leadership and Islam Saeeda Shah, 2015-07-03 Educational institutions are undergoing complex and sensitive changes in the context of immigration international mobility globalisation and shifting economic scenarios making highly challenging demands on educational leaders Leadership is increasingly being perceived and theorised as pivotal to students achievement and institutional performance In this book Saeeda Shah considers educational leadership from an Islamic perspective to debate theoretical positions underpinned by Islamic texts and teachings and the resulting conceptualisations and interpretations While educational leadership literature and research have flourished in recent years this is predominantly informed by Western ideologies concepts theories and practices Education Leadership and Islam focuses on contemporary educational settings and practices drawing on research and empirical evidence from multicultural contexts in order to enrich theory and inform policy and practice in relevant frameworks particularly in relation to the growing Muslim population in the West Chapters also discuss gender in Islam educational expectations and Islamic faith schools to comprehensively explore education in relation to Islamism Situating Muslims within contemporary societies this book extends debates regarding educational philosophy and leadership endorsing diversity and plurality through an appreciation of difference Education Leadership and Islam will appeal to education researchers as well as social and political scientists attempting to understand Muslim educational issues in contemporary life both in the east and in the west This book offers critical insight into educational theory and practice and as such will be key reading for policy makers and educational leaders A Tale of Two Unions Mark Corner, 2023-09-01 Brexit is a tale of two unions not one the British and the European unions Their origins are different but both struggle to maintain unity in diversity and both have to face the challenge of populism and claims of democratic deficit Mark Corner suggests that the four nations that make up the UK can only survive as part of a single nation state if the country looks more sympathetically at the very European structures from which it has chosen to detach itself This study addresses both academic and lay audiences interested in the current situation of the UK particularly the strains raised by devolution and Brexit
