Good Likeness A A Personal Story Of Adoption:

Perspectives on Argumentation Robert Trapp, Janice E. Schuetz, 2006 Wayne Brockriede's contribution to studies of argumentation continues to influence contemporary research Perspectives on Argumentation identifies the pertinent theories and contemporary applications on which students can build their own skills of reasoning and can understand the argument practices of others Book jacket

Desire and Craving Pertti Alasuutari, 1992-10-14 This book is an ethnographic analysis of alcoholism focusing on the importance of cultural explanations of heavy drinking in modern society As a starting point Alasuutari uses a cognitive concept of frames in order to study the social and cultural boundedness of alcohol related problems The ethnographic narratives concentrate on specific cases but stress the theoretical level of analysis and reveal the ways in which the alcoholism frame is linked with Western culture and society Alasuutari also provides an analysis of the role of the temperance movement and ideology in Finland and the rise of the distinction between normal and pathological drinking

Resemblance Nominalism Gonzalo Rodriguez-Pereyra, 2002-07-04 Gardeners poets lovers and philosophers are all interested in the redness of roses but only philosophers wonder how it is that two different roses can share the same property Are red things red because they resemble each other Or do they resemble each other because they are red Since the 1970s philosophers have tended to favour the latter view and held that a satisfactory account of properties must involve the postulation of either universals or tropes But Gonzalo Rodriguez Pereyra revives the dormant alternative theory of resemblance nominalism showing first that it can withstand the attacks of such eminent opponents as Goodman and Armstrong and then that there are reasons to prefer it to its rival theories The clarity and rigour of his arguments will challenge metaphysicians to rethink their views on properties the Bible: Pleroma-Zuzim James Hastings, 1902 Active Learning: Theoretical Perspectives, Empirical Studies and Design Profiles Robert Cassidy, Elizabeth S. Charles, James D. Slotta, Nathaniel Lasry, 2019-07-11 This book represents the emerging efforts of a growing international network of researchers and practitioners to promote the development and uptake of evidence based pedagogies in higher education at something a level approaching large scale impact By offering a communication venue that attracts and enhances much needed partnerships among practitioners and researchers in pedagogical innovation we aim to change the conversation and focus on how we work and learn together i e extending the implementation and knowledge of co design methods In this first edition of our Research Topic on Active Learning we highlight two of the three types of publications we wish to promote First are studies aimed at understanding the pedagogical designs developed by practitioners in their own practices by bringing to bear the theoretical lenses developed and tested in the education research community These types of studies constitute the practice pull that we see as a necessary counterbalance to knowledge push in a more productive pedagogical innovation ecosystem based on research practitioner partnerships Second are studies empirically examining the implementations of evidence based designs in naturalistic settings and under naturalistic conditions Interestingly the teams conducting these studies are already exemplars of partnerships between researchers and practitioners who are uniquely positioned as in between straddling the two worlds As a result these publications represent both the rigours of research and the pragmatism of reflective practice In forthcoming editions we will add to this collection a third type of publication design profiles These will present practitioner developed pedagogical designs at varying levels of abstraction to be held to scrutiny amongst practitioners instructional designers and researchers alike We hope by bringing these types of studies together in an open access format that we may contribute to the development of new forms of practitioner researcher interactions that promote co design in pedagogical innovation
