Racialization Karim Murji, John Solomos, 2005 Racialization has become one of the central concepts in the study of race and racism It is widely used in both theoretical and empirical studies of racial situations There has been a proliferation of texts that use this notion in quite diverse ways It is used broadly to refer to ways of thinking about race as well as to institutional processes that give expression to forms of ethno racial categorization An important issue in the work of writers such as Robert Miles for example concerns the ways in which the construction of race is shaped historically and how the usage of that idea forms a basis for exclusionary practices The concept therefore refers both to cultural or political processes or situations where race is invoked as an explanation as well as to specific ideological practices in which race is deployed It is evident however that despite the increasing popularity of the concept of racialization there has been relatively little critical analysis exploring its theoretical and empirical usages It is with this underlying concern in mind that Racialization Studies in Theory and Practice brings together leading international scholars in the field of race and ethnicity in

The Multicultural Imagination Michael Vannoy Adams, 2019-07-16 The Multicultural Imagination is a challenging inquiry into the complex interrelationship between our ideas about race and color and the unconscious Michael Vannoy Adams takes a fresh look at the contributions of psychoanalysis to a question which affects every individual who tries to establish an effective personal identity in the context of their received racial identity Adams argues that race is just as important as sex or any other content of the unconscious drawing on clinical case material from contemporary patients for whom race or color is a vitally significant social and political concern that impacts on them personally He does not assume that racism or colorism will simply vanish if we psychoanalyse them but shows how a non defensive ego and a self image that is receptive to other images can move us towards a more productive discourse of cultural differences Wide ranging in its references and scope this is a book that provokes the reader analyst or not to confront personally those unconscious attitudes which stand in the way of authentic multicultural relationships
