(Re)Storying Human/Earth Relationships in Environmental Education Kathryn Riley, 2023-06-21 This book is situated in the simultaneous thinking theory and doing action of posthumanist performativity and new materialist methodologies to bring forth a multitude of stories that demonstrate co constituted and co implicated worldmaking practices It is written in response to the fact that our Earth is at a critical juncture As atmospheric temperatures rise and cast unprecedented and wide spread social and ecological crises across the planet social and ecological injustices and threats cannot be separated from globalising neoliberal capitalist and colonial discourses that proliferate through anthropocentric and humancentric logics Manifesting in binary classifications that position the human as separate from the Earth and dominant categories of the human in hierarchies of power such logics homogenise and institutionalise the field of environmental education and result in an over emphasis on instrumentalist technicist and mechanistic teaching and learning practices Exploring the affects emerging within and between an assemblage comprising Researcher Teacher Environmental Education Worldings this book seeks to understand how the researcher makes sense of herself with in the broader ecologies of the world collaborative processes with an elementary school teacher in Saskatchewan Canada as actualised through four co created and co implemented multisensory researcher teacher enactments Mindful Walking Mapping Worlds Eco art Installation and Photographic Encounters and how the researcher teacher organises themselves with Land based pedagogies environmental education curriculum policy and wider discourses of Western education This book does not propose a better way of teaching and learning in environmental education Rather showing how

Environmental Education Centres Anne Marie Ross, 2025-05-02 This book juxtaposes a representation of environmental education centres around the globe with centres within the New South Wales Department of Education in Australia As terminology shifted from nature study and conservation education to environmental education then environmental and sustainability education within sustainable development the centres embodied and encompassed this evolution The book traces the centres' journeys through the phenomenon of the 1970s growth in socially conscious governance to 1980s 1990s public managerialism to the tightening tentacles of capitalism The complexity of education as a socio-political endeavour is made explicit Themes including the changing dynamics of caring for the environment and bureaucratic and political manoeuvring in addition to the effects of activism and globalisation are viewed through a centre lens as the centres survive and thrive in ever-increasing neoliberal times The book will appeal to teachers academics and bureaucrats interested in the history and politics of environmental education Engaging People in Sustainability Daniella Tilbury, David

Wortman, 2004 The book is based on the exchange of professional experiences which featured in an IUCN CEC workshop in August 2002 Practitioners from around the world shared their models of good practice and explored the challenges involved in engaging people in sustainability The difficulties facing practitioners vary between country and context but some challenges are universal A lack of clarity in communicating what is meant by sustainable development An ambition to educate everyone to bring about a global citizenship Social organisational or institutional factors constrain change to sustainable development yet there is an emphasis on formal education and community educators do not receive the same support A lack of balance in addressing the integration of environmental social and economic dimensions leading to an interpretation that ESD is mainly about environment and conservation issues New learning rather than teaching approaches are called for to promote more debate in society Yet few are trained or experienced in these new approaches Practitioners need support to explore new ways of promoting learning Foreword ed
