Gardens For Living:

Living in a Garden Timothy Auger, 2013 In June 1963 Singapore's prime minister planted a tree to mark the beginning of a sustained campaign to enhance the city state's appearance. No one could have anticipated the transformation that followed. This is the story of that process. Now 50 years later, highly urbanized Singapore enjoys a green network of nature reserves, large and small parks, tree-lined streets, and community gardens that is the envy of other big cities. Singapore has had to make tough decisions. Land is scarce. There are trade-offs between maintaining the island's rich natural biodiversity and public demands for housing and infrastructure appropriate to the 21st century. Nevertheless, the National Parks Board and its partners in the public, private, and civic sectors continue to strive to keep Singapore green. Lavishly illustrated, the book shows how Singapore aims to be a City in a Garden, reminding us that the community must engage with the greening mission if this great achievement is to continue.

Living with Japanese Gardens Chadine Flood Gong, Lisa Parramore, 2006 Living with Japanese Gardens shows how to capture and integrate an authentic Japanese aesthetic into any landscape plan. Japanese gardens affirm our connection with the natural world through the integration of the garden with the home, enriching the total living space. From the artistry with which the gardener places plants, rocks, and water with the viewer's perspective in mind to the way in which a Japanese garden can make one feel safe and sheltered, their mystery and appeal are now wildly popular. From the hundreds of public Japanese gardens around the world to common garden shops and nurseries that now regularly stock stone lanterns, bamboo plants, water basins, and koi pond accessories, it's easy to see how a Japanese garden will inspire and nurture. Gong and Parramore show how anyone can create a beautiful Japanese garden, whether they have a flat suburban lot, a small balcony, a rolling hillside, or a few small pots. Chapters cover these topics and more: Creating a reflecting pool, Ikebana-inspired gardens, Interior rooms that invite nature inside, Creating a low-maintenance Japanese garden in a courtyard, Using the principle of wabi-sabi in the landscape, A backyard that highlights the changing of the seasons, Front door gardens.
