Gathering the Tribes

FOREWORD BY STANLEY KUNITZ

The boar hog shovels his voice into muddlop where corn rolls, stripped

Come fall he will be cut: his hams, pork links rocking in smoke.

Grandma sharpens her knife on Arkansas.
Sam bends, spits chew in the bucket,
the breeze quits.

Spiders tie nets to fruit jars,
it is boring with them in Blue Hills
when gum trees blossom.

Their thoughts are like dust in a salt box.
Boring pig blood perks below ground.

Four dried hands like horse tails swishing flies.

CONTEMPORARY AMERICAN POETRY Gregory Donovan,Michele Poulos,2020-03-04 Prismatics Larry Levis he was the star risen out of a constellation of poets coming from Fresno In Prismatics many of our most notable poets offer insightful personal and detailed responses to and assessments of Larry's life and work. Especially touching and salient are the interviews with Philip Levine, Peter Everwine, C. G. Hanzlicek, and David St. John. Fresno poets and friends who knew him best and who knew Larry from the start. They testify to his talent, humanity, and unmatched originality and voice. For lovers of Larry's poetry of contemporary poetry, this is an invaluable collection. Christopher Buckley, author of A Condition of the Spirit. As I read through the interviews in Prismatics, I found myself pausing in the middle of chapters rather than between them, so as to savor the feeling of always being immersed in a rich and rewarding conversation. I love the cumulative warmth of this book of so many poets speaking affectionately and thoughtfully about one of the great American poets of the 20th century as friend, colleague, lover, co-conspirator, and cynosure. But more than a commemoration of Larry Lewis, Prismatics offers meditations on passion, creativity, self-destruction, ambition, and the nature of literary legacy. It's a book as capacious and complex as the poetry of Lewis itself. Nicky Beer, author of The Octopus Game and The Diminishing House. Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Twentieth Century Eric L. Haralson, 2014-01-21. The Encyclopedia of American Poetry: The Twentieth Century contains over 400 entries that treat a broad range of individual poets and poems, along with many articles devoted to topics, schools, or periods of American verse in the century. Entries fall into three main categories: poet entries, which provide biographical and cultural contexts for the author's career; entries on individual works, which offer closer explication of the most resonant poems in the 20th-century canon; and topical entries, which offer analyses of a given period of literary production, school, thematically constructed category, or other verse tradition that historically has been in dialogue with the poetry of the United States. The Extraordinary Tide Susan Aizenberg, Erin Belieu, Jeremy Countryman, 2001. Featuring four hundred poems by more than one hundred female authors, this celebration of American women poets includes major work from the last third of the 20th century. A Study Guide for Carolyn Forché's "The Colonel" Gale, Cengage Learning, 2016. The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30. This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomize the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty-five years. This is an opportunity for stock-taking, a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered, reclaimed, and republished. There are entries on writers, on individual texts, and on general terms, genres, and movements, all printed in a single alphabetical sequence. The earliest written documents in medieval English, the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe, are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day. The book reflects the spread of literacy, the history of colonisation, and the development of post-colonial cultures, using and changing the English language. The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered. The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality, wealth, and diversity of women's writing. The New York Public Library Literature Companion Staff of The New York Public Library, 2001-11-06.
